Ike Calls Huddle On Berlin

"Sneak" Attack By Russia Seen As Impossible

Couldn't Hide Preparations, McElroy Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said Thursday it would be virtually impossible for the Soviet Union to make a Pearl Harbor-type surprise attack on the United States with bombers or missiles.

McElroy told a news conference the Joint Chiefs of Staff share his belief in this.

His remarks came against a background of mounting concern over the Berlin crisis. They seemed almost certain to produce a reaction from congressional critics of the administration's defense program.

The possibility of a sudden attack has been at the heart of U.S. preparations for retaliatory blows by the Strategic Air Command. Navy bombers launched from carriers, and guided and ballistic missiles already in place or being emplaced in Europe.

Buildup Would Be Tipoff

McElroy based his view on the expectation that preparations the Soviet Union would have to make for a giant strike would be so massive they couldn't be hidden.

When a newsman asked the defense secretary if he meant a "surprise attack is almost impossible," McElroy replied: "This is what the chiefs and I believe," referring to the strategy-making Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A reporter wondered out loud whether McElroy meant there is some kind of access to internal communications in the Soviet Union.

The secretary did not answer that question directly. Instead, he talked about the early warning system against ballistic missiles now being constructed in the Far North and overseas.

Spy Satellites Mentioned

He also said that by the time missile weapons are ready for combat use the United States probably will have "some kind of astronautical surveillance." That appeared to mean reconnaissance satellites to spy from space on military activities on earth.

McElroy was asked why the SAC does not now operate an air alert in which bombers carrying nuclear weapons would be aloft at all times, with targets assigned each plane.

Because the Joint Chiefs "do not find a military need" now, McElroy replied. This could mean he estimates the Soviet Union still has to rely primarily on manned bombers until large numbers of reliable ballistic missiles are ready for combat.

Red Boss Eases Away From His Berlin Deadline

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev eased away from his May 27 deadline on Berlin in a free-wheeling talk Thursday and offered lightly to sign a Western-drafted German peace treaty.

He punctuated that with another warning to the West: "Whoever bumps us with his elbow will break it."

The Soviet leader took the floor in high good humor after drinking a series of toasts to peace and trade at an impromptu luncheon given by Leipzig's mayor.

He said his deadline for an end to the four-power occupation of Berlin might be postponed, if the West will negotiate sensibly, until June 27 or maybe July 27.

"We are in no hurry," he added, and, for what it was worth, tossed in an old Russian saying: "Never count your chickens until fall."

Khrushchev insisted the deadline is not an ultimatum.

At the same time he reiterated that the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany, an eager potential heir to Soviet occupation controls, if the West refuses to sign an all-German treaty. His government has proposed that foreign ministers meet next month to consider the Berlin issue and a German peace treaty.

In light-hearted banter with three British parliamentarians in town for Leipzig's spring trade fair, Khrushchev remarked with a smile: "I didn't come here to talk (politics). I represent business circles of the Soviet Union."

"Write out a peace treaty and we'll sign it," Khrushchev jokingly told the Britons, Conservative Burnaby Drayson and Laborites Ian Mikardo and Arthur Lewis."

That did not mean, of course, that he would sign anything he disagreed with. Despite his amiability, he indicated no real concessions.

Discoverer Satellite In Polar Orbit

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Discoverer I is a mystery satellite no more.

The Air Force said Thursday it definitely has achieved the first polar orbit, as planned.

The reason its fate has been a question mark since it was blasted aloft last Saturday is that, instead of pointing dart-like at the horizon as it circles the earth, it has been tumbling.

This made its radio signals, directional like a flashlight beam, extremely difficult to track.

Apparently to blame is a scanning device intended to keep the 1,300-pound, 19-foot-long cylinder horizon-bound. When it failed, the satellite apparently twisted and turned as it sped through space.

It circles the earth every 95.5 minutes, with a maximum altitude of 519 miles and a minimum of 176. It should stay up at least 30 days.

Discoverer I is the first in a series designed to solve the problems of getting man into space and back safely.

59ers' Caravan Alaska-Bound

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—A modern day wagon train carrying 38 Michiganders to what they hope will be new opportunity in the Alaskan wilderness ground to a halt Thursday, only 130 miles from their takeoff point in Detroit.

One of the 12 vehicles in the group suffered a blowout during a sleet and snow storm near Angola, close to the Ohio-Indiana boundary.

Marino Sik, 32, who quit his job to homestead, said most of the group will go on to Chicago Friday.

The caravan includes 13 men, 10 women and 14 children. There are 10 married couples, three single men and one single woman, Miss Yvonne Stevens, 22.

Reform School Blaze Kills 21 Boys; Probe Set

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Twenty - one Negro boys died behind locked doors Thursday in a fire that consumed the dormitory of a reform school 12 miles south of Little Rock.

Forty - seven others escaped. They got out through windows from which they kicked "escape proof" screens or from which a 16-year-old trusty tore the screens from the outside.

L. R. Gaines, 48, Negro superintendent of the Arkansas Negro Boys Industrial School, said there was no attendant on duty in the dormitory itself because he is sick and in a Little Rock Hospital.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus rushed to the burning school near the little town of Wrightsville. He was both angered and sickened.

"There is supposed to be a man in each building to warn the boys of any such disaster as this," he said.

He ordered an immediate investigation to find out why the doors were locked if there was no night attendant on duty.

The struggling boys couldn't budge the screen on one window and a dozen died in a pile. The fire almost destroyed the bodies.

The fire broke out in the room of P. R. Banks, the caretaker of the U-shaped building.

It spread into the barracks-like dormitory while the boys, 14-17 years old, were asleep, before dawn.

"I woke up when I smelled woodsmoke," Archie Ray Poole, 16, said. "I woke up the guy next to me and asked him if the wood heater had been lit.

"He said 'no' and then I saw fire sweeping along the ceiling. I started yelling and ran over to a window to get out. Then I saw Charley, the night sergeant; he was tearing down the window coverings (screens) so I got out through that window.

"As I climbed out of the window, I saw several other kids fighting each other to get out the windows. There was a whole lot of screaming and shouting.

"After we got outside, a bunch of us started yelling to the others the way to get out, but there was so much smoke and everything by that time that I guess they didn't hear us."

Space Cone's Radio Bridges Growing Gulf

Pioneer's Signals Strong And Clear; 337,000 Miles Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV's radio sent strong and clear signals to earth Thursday, bridging a widening space gulf of more than 330,000 miles.

A British astronomer said information streaming back from the far-ranging U.S. sun satellite has brought much closer the day when man will make his first flight into space.

Tracked by powerful radio telescopes in California's Mojave Desert and in England, the Pioneer's 13-pound coneload of instruments moved toward a solar orbit that may never end.

The Goldstone tracking station in California lost contact with the tiny space craft at 4:20 p.m. EST as it dropped below the horizon.

According to calculations by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Pioneer was 337,000 miles from earth at 5 p.m., traveling at a steadily diminishing speed of 4,107 miles an hour relative to the earth.

New Tracking Record

When contact is re-established by Goldstone at 7:30 a.m. Friday, U.S. space scientists expect they will have bettered a tracking distance claimed by the Soviet Union with its Mechta, which was launched on Jan. 2.

As of 7:30 a.m. Friday, NASA technicians—who have racked up 64 hours of tracking Pioneer—calculate the space cone will have reached 403,000 miles toward the sun.

The Soviets say they tracked their Mechta for 370,000 miles over a 62-hour period. They say their space probe has gone into an orbit around the sun.

Government scientists estimated that Pioneer's radio batteries will last until about noon Friday—84 hours after the gold-covered cone blasted skyward from Cape Canaveral, Fla. They think radio telescopes will be able to track the probe for a bit longer than that.

Heat, Radiation Data

When the batteries die, Pioneer will keep going but earthbound space specialists will be unable to get any more of the data they've been collecting by radio since early Tuesday.

Radioed reports showed Thursday the temperature inside the cone was 41 to 42 degrees centigrade—around 105 degrees Fahrenheit. A man could live in such temperatures, uncomfortably.

What really excited the scientists was information indicating Pioneer had met no lethal radiation belts beyond two discovered by earlier and closer-in space shots.

Turkey, Pakistan, Iran Ink Defense Pacts With U.S.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, scorning Soviet threats and denunciations, Thursday signed separate defense pacts with the United States.

The pacts provide that the United States "will take such appropriate action, including the use of armed forces, as may be mutually agreed upon" in event of aggression against the three powers.

Thus the United States is welded more firmly to the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact, embracing Britain, Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Iraq, the last named inactive since last July's military coup unseated a pro-West regime.

The United States has sent economic aid to the pact powers and belongs to important committees but never has formally joined the pact.

Federal Reserve Bank Discount Rate Upped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal reserve system Thursday approved an increase in the discount rate to 3 per cent by four federal reserve banks, effective Friday. This is an increase of one-half of 1 per cent.

The four banks are those in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Dallas.

There are eight other banks in the federal reserve system. Rate increases normally spread throughout the system.

The discount rate is on the interest charged to member banks when they borrow from the reserve system.

Officers found her and the baby, who was unharmed, at her home near Ontario Wednesday night. She told police "I just had to have a son." (AP Photofax)

Counterfeiting Ring Smashed By U.S. Agents

CHICAGO (AP)—A counterfeiting ring believed to have produced more than one million dollars in fake $100 federal reserve bank notes has been smashed, and more than $750,000 in spurious money recovered, the Secret Service said Thursday.

The Chicago counterfeiters sent worthless bills into 22 states, said Paul J. Paterni, head of the Chicago Secret Service. Twenty-three persons were arrested during a 3½-month undercover fight by agents to stamp out the big operation.

Paterni said he does not know how much of the spurious money still is unaccounted for, but men who worked on the case said the ring produced more than one million dollars.

The plates used to make the bills have not been found.

Most of the bogus money is believed to have been taken out of circulation.

Undercover agents, dickering grimly with gang contacts, obtained $726,200 of the counterfeit money by pretending to buy it from the gang at $9 for each fake bill. This part was kept out of circulation.

Paterni said $25,000 in fake bills put into circulation by the gang was recovered through banks.

The secret fight to thwart the gang was described by Paterni and U.S. Atty. Robert Tieken at a news conference.

A tip in mid-November put the Secret Service on the alert about the huge operation. The fake bills first appeared in Chicago department stores about Nov. 26.

Then an undercover agent got the first big break. Paterni said—contact with Floyd D. Vincenti, 29, of Calumet City, Ill., who was seized in New York after he supplied $100,000 in bills to agents.

A number of small fry in the operation were arrested as the investigation progressed — passers who had small batches of the bills in their possession.

But the climax came Wednesday night with arrest of two men Paterni said were the ringleaders. Seized in their Chicago homes were Alphonso Amabile, 40, an ex-convict with a record of counterfeiting money and CPA rationing stamps, and William Rabiolo, 39.

12 Persons Killed In Airliner Crash

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—A four-engine TACA International Airline plane carrying 16 persons crashed shortly after takeoff from Las Mercedes Airport Thursday, killing 12.

Brock said the flight, No. 770, was en route to Mexico.

Hazleton Hotel Fire Kills Four

HAZLETON, Pa. (UPI) — Four persons were killed Thursday when a fire funneled up a six-story elevator shaft and gutted the 75-year-old Gary Hotel.

Mrs. Mary McAlarney, about 50, was missing in the blaze and believed dead. Another guest, Mrs. Mary Kabi, 50, was reported missing but later turned up safe at the home of relatives.

Some 45 other guests, clad in night clothing, groped through smoke-filled corridors and stairways and dropped from windows or slid down wires to safety. Twenty of them were injured in their escape, one of them critically. Fireman Paul Flynn was overcome by smoke while rescuing occupants of the brick, 100-room structure.

The dead were: Mrs. Howard Deitch, 53; Mary Mooney, 85; Mrs. Emma Stillgebauer, 65, and John Dougherty, who died later in Hazleton State Hospital.

Soviet Protests U.S. Detention Of Fish Trawler

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday denounced the U.S. detention of a Soviet fishing trawler off New Foundland as a provocative act.

A protest said the trawler Novorossisk was fishing on the high seas Feb. 26 when she was suspected of cutting transatlantic cables and was boarded by a party from the U.S. destroyer Roy O. Hale.

(In Washington, State Department press chief Lincoln White denied there was anything provocative in the U.S. action. He said the Soviet note was received "and we are considering it.")

The note handed to the U. S. Embassy said that "according to information available to the Soviet competent organs" the Novorossisk "had not done any damage to the submarine telegraph or telephone transatlantic cables."

"Reports in the U.S. press on the subject are a complete fabrication," the note continued. "Thus the U.S. naval vessel Roy O. Hale had no grounds to detain and inspect the above-mentioned trawler.

The note said the Soviet government expects the U.S. government "to take all essential steps to prevent any repetition of such completely unwarranted actions against Soviet fishing vessels engaged in the catching of fish on the high seas."

Lt. Donald Sheely, who headed the U.S. boarding party, said later the Novorossisk probably had something to do with the cable breaks but he did not know whether it was accidental or intentional.

Actress Sarah Churchill Carried To Court, Fined

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—Actress Sarah Churchill was carried bodily into court Thursday by four policemen and fined $5.60 for being drunk and disorderly.

The 44-year-old daughter of Sir Winston Churchill was brought to court after a dispute with a taxi driver over her alleged refusal to pay the fare and a violent tussle with police outside the station house.

It was Miss Churchill's second bout with the constabulary in little more than a year. At Malibu, Calif., on Jan. 16, 1958, after a name-calling tussle with local police Miss Churchill was fined $50 for being drunk in a public place.

She wore a leopard skin coat, royal blue slacks and white socks. Her shoes had been removed.

Asked how she pleaded, the actress, who currently is appearing on the stage as "Peter Pan," shouted:

"I will not accept any charge until you tell your constabulary to take their hands off me and give me back my shoes."

The burly constables released their grip on the actress and the matron handed her a pair of shoes. "Thank you very much" said Miss Churchill to the matron. "I'll give you the order of the British Empire."

Miss Churchill was asked if her name was Sarah Beauchamp. The widow of Antony Beauchamp, London photographer who died of an overdose of sleeping pills in 1957, replied: "to your regret and my pride — Sarah Churchill."

She pleaded not guilty.

Legislators, Eisenhower Confer Today

Security Council Meeting Precedes Strategy Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday took extraordinary steps to cope with the Berlin crisis.

First he reviewed the situation at a 1¾-hour special session of the National Security Council. Then he asked Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress to meet with him at the White House Friday morning.

The White House news secretary, James C. Hagerty, was asked if anything had developed in the last 24 hours to warrant calling Friday's meeting an emergency session.

"No, I wouldn't say that," he replied.

Hagerty said the meeting was called simply for a discussion of the Berlin situation and German problems generally. That was the same topic discussed at Thursday's extraordinary session of the National Security Council.

Reds Hint Deadline Delay

Shortly before the meeting assembled, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said in Leipzig, East Germany, that the May 27 deadline on Berlin may be postponed a month or two if fruitful East-West negotiations are under way by then.

Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, who attended the Security Council meeting, told newsmen later that "we are doing a great deal of planning." Without going into any details, he said the Joint Chiefs of Staff are working on various contingencies.

In reply to questions, McElroy discounted the possibility of any limited war developing out of the Berlin situation.

"It would be very difficult to keep it a limited war," he said, meaning that if open conflict should break out it would be likely to mushroom.

McElroy and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter were asked to return to the White House Friday for the President's 10:30 a.m. EST session with Congressional leaders. Those invited include:

Joint Session Address?

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

There was some speculation on Capitol Hill that Eisenhower might sound out the Congressional leaders on the advisability of addressing a joint session of Congress on the Berlin issue. However, there was no confirmation of this from the White House or any other source.

Hagerty also announced that a joint statement will be issued by the United States and Britain at 7:30 a.m. Friday on British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's impending visit to Washington.

3-Car Collision Claims 5 Lives

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)— A three-car collision—described by State Police as the area's worst in many years—took the lives of five persons Thursday.

The five, including a father and his two sons, were killed on Route 15 about eight miles south of here near the Pennsylvania - Maryland border.

State Policeman Orie V. Peterson identified the victims as:

Mrs. Mildred V. Kielholtz, 48, Emmitsburg, Md., a waitress returning home from work in a Gettysburg restaurant; Paul K. Kirk, 37, and Lloyd Sowers, 63, and sons, Gary L. Sowers, 22, and Jay L. Sowers, 12, all of Dillsburg R.D. 3, Pa.

Kirk and the Sowers were returning home from a horse auction at Thurmont, Md. when the crash occurred shortly after midnight.

State police gave this description of the crash:

Lloyd D. Sheeley, a bartender, of Fairfield, Route 1, Pa., attempted to start his car at a service station, intending to back away from the gasoline pump.

He pressed the starter and his car apparently drifted onto the highway.

The Sowers car struck the rear of the Sheeley car and bounced across the highway, colliding headon with the automobile driven by Mrs. Kielholtz.

Snow Blocks Midwest Roads, Closes Schools

By The Associated Press

Blowing, drifting snow blocked roads and closed schools in some parts of the Midwest storm zone Thursday.

The fall ranged up to a foot in depth. The wet, white blanket extended from Oklahoma 700 miles northeastward into Wisconsin.

Winds that at times topped 50 m.p.h. churned up blinding clouds of snow. Motorists were urged to steer clear of the areas of drifts and low visibility.

The storm was termed the worst of the season in Iowa—with spring only 16 days away.

Some highways in the eastern part of Iowa were blocked. About 100 trucks were stalled on Highway 92, east of Council Bluffs.

Fairfield, Iowa, was virtually paralyzed. A foot of snow fell there, followed by rain. All Iowa City's schools were closed for the second time in 40 years. Drifts were almost four feet deep in the business district.

Two Iowa traffic deaths were blamed on the storm.

Many schools suspended classes in Nebraska, including the University of Nebraska in Lincoln and Creighton in Omaha, and a number of high school basketball tournaments were postponed. Some stores in downtown Omaha closed an hour early to get their employes started home.

The snow cover ranged up to a foot in Nebraska—a heavy serving of moisture that pleased farmers.

Winds that scaled up to 58 m.p.h. piled up huge drifts and blocked highways in northern Oklahoma.

According to calculations by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Pioneer was 337,000 miles from earth at 5 p.m., traveling at a steadily diminishing speed of 4,107 miles an hour relative to the earth.

New Tracking Record

When contact is re-established by Goldstone at 7:30 a.m. Friday, U.S. space scientists expect they will have bettered a tracking distance claimed by the Soviet Union with its Mechta, which was launched on Jan. 2.

As of 7:30 a.m. Friday, NASA technicians—who have racked up 64 hours of tracking Pioneer—calculate the space cone will have reached 403,000 miles toward the sun.

The Soviets say they tracked their Mechta for 370,000 miles over a 62-hour period. They say their space probe has gone into an orbit around the sun.

Government scientists estimated that Pioneer's radio batteries will last until about noon Friday—84 hours after the gold-covered cone blasted skyward from Cape Canaveral, Fla. They think radio telescopes will be able to track the probe for a bit longer than that.

Heat, Radiation Data

When the batteries die, Pioneer will keep going but earthbound space specialists will be unable to get any more of the data they've been collecting by radio since early Tuesday.

Radioed reports showed Thursday the temperature inside the cone was 41 to 42 degrees centigrade—around 105 degrees Fahrenheit. A man could live in such temperatures, uncomfortably.

What really excited the scientists was information indicating Pioneer had met no lethal radiation belts beyond two discovered by earlier and closer-in space shots.

Turkey, Pakistan, Iran Ink Defense Pacts With U.S.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, scorning Soviet threats and denunciations, Thursday signed separate defense pacts with the United States.

The pacts provide that the United States "will take such appropriate action, including the use of armed forces, as may be mutually agreed upon" in event of aggression against the three powers.

Thus the United States is welded more firmly to the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact, embracing Britain, Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Iraq, the last named inactive since last July's military coup unseated a pro-West regime.

The United States has sent economic aid to the pact powers and belongs to important committees but never has formally joined the pact.

Federal Reserve Bank Discount Rate Upped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal reserve system Thursday approved an increase in the discount rate to 3 per cent by four federal reserve banks, effective Friday. This is an increase of one-half of 1 per cent.

The four banks are those in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Dallas.

There are eight other banks in the federal reserve system. Rate increases normally spread throughout the system.

The discount rate is on the interest charged to member banks when they borrow from the reserve system.

Adenauer Returns

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer returned Thursday from talks with French President Charles de Gaulle and pronounced the meeting "very successful."

Woman Admits Stealing Child

Mrs. Betty Jean Yocom, 38, weeps in the arms of her husband, Stephen Yocom, as she paused en route to a jail cell after her arraignment on a child stealing charge yesterday at Ontario, Calif. Police say she has admitted taking 9-week-old Eric Flores from his home last Friday after volunteering her services as a baby sitter. Officers found her and the baby, who was unharmed, at her home near Ontario Wednesday night. She told police "I just had to have a son." (AP Photofax)

Counterfeiting Ring Smashed By U.S. Agents

CHICAGO (AP)—A counterfeiting ring believed to have produced more than one million dollars in fake $100 federal reserve bank notes has been smashed, and more than $750,000 in spurious money recovered, the Secret Service said Thursday.

The Chicago counterfeiters sent worthless bills into 22 states, said Paul J. Paterni, head of the Chicago Secret Service. Twenty-three persons were arrested during a 3½-month undercover fight by agents to stamp out the big operation.

Paterni said he does not know how much of the spurious money still is unaccounted for, but men who worked on the case said the ring produced more than one million dollars.

The plates used to make the bills have not been found.

Most of the bogus money is believed to have been taken out of circulation.

Undercover agents, dickering grimly with gang contacts, obtained $726,200 of the counterfeit money by pretending to buy it from the gang at $9 for each fake bill. This part was kept out of circulation.

Paterni said $25,000 in fake bills put into circulation by the gang was recovered through banks.

The secret fight to thwart the gang was described by Paterni and U.S. Atty. Robert Tieken at a news conference.

A tip in mid-November put the Secret Service on the alert about the huge operation. The fake bills first appeared in Chicago department stores about Nov. 26.

Then an undercover agent got the first big break, Paterni said—contact with Floyd D. Vincenti, 29, of Calumet City, Ill., who was seized in New York after he supplied $100,000 in bills to agents.

A number of small fry in the operation were arrested as the investigation progressed — passers who had small batches of the bills in their possession.

But the climax came Wednesday night with arrest of two men Paterni said were the ringleaders. Seized in their Chicago homes were Alphonso Amabile, 40, an ex-convict with a record of counterfeiting money and CPA rationing stamps, and William Rabiolo, 39.

12 Persons Killed In Airliner Crash

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—A four-engine TACA International Airline plane carrying 16 persons crashed shortly after takeoff from Las Mercedes Airport Thursday, killing 12.

J.D. Brock, TACA vice president, said the dead included the captain and co-pilot. The four survivors included two stewardesses.

Brock said the flight, No. 770, was en route to Mexico.

"Canned" Watch Travels Halfway Around World

WOODBRIDGE, England (AP)—Mrs. G. B. Last was pouring a can of Australian pears into a dish when out popped a wristwatch.

(Editor's note—word got to Australia quickly and:)

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—"Please send it back," said cannery worker Blanche McAuliffe.

Mrs. McAuliffe, 34, said she put the watch into an empty can to keep the timepiece dry, and then someone apparently filled the can with pears and sent it off.

Hazleton Hotel Fire Kills Four

HAZLETON, Pa. (UPI) — Four persons were killed Thursday when a fire funneled up a six-story elevator shaft and gutted the 75-year-old Gary Hotel.

Mrs. Mary McAlarney, about 50, was missing in the blaze and believed dead. Another guest, Mrs. Mary Kabi, 50, was reported missing but later turned up safe at the home of relatives.

Some 45 other guests, clad in night clothing, groped through smoke-filled corridors and stairways and dropped from windows or slid down wires to safety. Twenty of them were injured in their escape, one of them critically. Fireman Paul Flynn was overcome by smoke while rescuing occupants of the brick, 100-room structure.

The dead were: Mrs. Howard Deitch, 53; Mary Mooney, 85; Mrs. Emma Stillgebauer, 65, and John Dougherty, who died later in Hazleton State Hospital.

Soviet Protests U.S. Detention Of Fish Trawler

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday denounced the U.S. detention of a Soviet fishing trawler off New Foundland as a provocative act.

A protest said the trawler Novorossisk was fishing on the high seas Feb. 26 when she was suspected of cutting transatlantic cables and was boarded by a party from the U.S. destroyer Roy O. Hale.

(In Washington, State Department press chief Lincoln White denied there was anything provocative in the U.S. action. He said the Soviet note was received "and we are considering it.")

The note handed to the U. S. Embassy said that "according to information available to the Soviet competent organs" the Novorossisk "had not done any damage to the submarine telegraph or telephone transatlantic cables."

"Reports in the U.S. press on the subject are a complete fabrication," the note continued. "Thus the U.S. naval vessel Roy O. Hale had no grounds to detain and inspect the above-mentioned trawler.

The note said the Soviet government expects the U.S. government "to take all essential steps to prevent any repetition of such completely unwarranted actions against Soviet fishing vessels engaged in the catching of fish on the high seas."

Lt. Donald Sheely, who headed the U.S. boarding party, said later the Novorossisk probably had something to do with the cable breaks but he did not know whether it was accidental or intentional.

Actress Sarah Churchill Carried To Court, Fined

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—Actress Sarah Churchill was carried bodily into court Thursday by four policemen and fined $5.60 for being drunk and disorderly.

The 44-year-old daughter of Sir Winston Churchill was brought to court after a dispute with a taxi driver over her alleged refusal to pay the fare and a violent tussle with police outside the station house.

It was Miss Churchill's second bout with the constabulary in little more than a year. At Malibu, Calif., on Jan. 16, 1958, after a name-calling tussle with local police Miss Churchill was fined $50 for being drunk in a public place.

She wore a leopard skin coat, royal blue slacks and white socks. Her shoes had been removed.

Asked how she pleaded, the actress, who currently is appearing on the stage as "Peter Pan," shouted:

"I will not accept any charge until you tell your constabulary to take their hands off me and give me back my shoes."

The burly constables released their grip on the actress and the matron handed her a pair of shoes. "Thank you very much" said Miss Churchill to the matron. "I'll give you the order of the British Empire."

Miss Churchill was asked if her name was Sarah Beauchamp. The widow of Antony Beauchamp, London photographer who died of an overdose of sleeping pills in 1957, replied: "to your regret and my pride — Sarah Churchill."

She pleaded not guilty.

Snow Blocks Midwest Roads, Closes Schools

By The Associated Press

Blowing, drifting snow blocked roads and closed schools in some parts of the Midwest storm zone Thursday.

The fall ranged up to a foot in depth. The wet, white blanket extended from Oklahoma 700 miles northeastward into Wisconsin.

Winds that at times topped 50 m.p.h. churned up blinding clouds of snow. Motorists were urged to steer clear of the areas of drifts and low visibility.

The storm was termed the worst of the season in Iowa—with spring only 16 days away.

Some highways in the eastern part of Iowa were blocked. About 100 trucks were stalled on Highway 92, east of Council Bluffs.

Fairfield, Iowa, was virtually paralyzed. A foot of snow fell there, followed by rain. All Iowa City's schools were closed for the second time in 40 years. Drifts were almost four feet deep in the business district.

Two Iowa traffic deaths were blamed on the storm.

Many schools suspended classes in Nebraska, including the University of Nebraska in Lincoln and Creighton in Omaha, and a number of high school basketball tournaments were postponed. Some stores in downtown Omaha closed an hour early to get their employes started home.

The snow cover ranged up to a foot in Nebraska—a heavy serving of moisture that pleased farmers.

Winds that scaled up to 58 m.p.h. piled up huge drifts and blocked highways in northern Oklahoma.

Legislators, Eisenhower Confer Today

Security Council Meeting Precedes Strategy Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday took extraordinary steps to cope with the Berlin crisis.

First he reviewed the situation at a 1¾-hour special session of the National Security Council. Then he asked Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress to meet with him at the White House Friday morning.

The White House news secretary, James C. Hagerty, was asked if anything had developed in the last 24 hours to warrant calling Friday's meeting an emergency session.

"No, I wouldn't say that," he replied.

Hagerty said the meeting was called simply for a discussion of the Berlin situation and German problems generally. That was the same topic discussed at Thursday's extraordinary session of the National Security Council.

Reds Hint Deadline Delay

Shortly before the meeting assembled, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said in Leipzig, East Germany, that the May 27 deadline on Berlin may be postponed a month or two if fruitful East-West negotiations are under way by then.

Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, who attended the Security Council meeting, told newsmen later that "we are doing a great deal of planning." Without going into any details, he said the Joint Chiefs of Staff are working on various contingencies

In reply to questions, McElroy discounted the possibility of any limited war developing out of the Berlin situation.

"It would be very difficult to keep it a limited war," he said, meaning that if open conflict should break out it would be likely to mushroom.

McElroy and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter were asked to return to the White House Friday for the President's 10:30 a.m. EST session with Congressional leaders. Those invited include:

Joint Session Address?

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

There was some speculation on Capitol Hill that Eisenhower might sound out the Congressional leaders on the advisability of addressing a joint session of Congress on the Berlin issue. However, there was no confirmation of this from the White House or any other source.

Hagerty also announced that a joint statement will be issued by the United States and Britain at 7:30 a.m. Friday on British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's impending visit to Washington.

3-Car Collision Claims 5 Lives

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)— A three-car collision—described by State Police as the area's worst in many years—took the lives of five persons Thursday.

The five, including a father and his two sons, were killed on Route 15 about eight miles south of here near the Pennsylvania - Maryland border.

State Policeman Orie V. Peterson identified the victims as:

Mrs. Mildred V. Kielholtz, 48, Emmitsburg, Md., a waitress returning home from work in a Gettysburg restaurant; Paul K. Kirk, 37, and Lloyd Sowers, 63, and sons, Gary L. Sowers, 22, and Jay L. Sowers, 12, all of Dillsburg R.D. 3, Pa.

Kirk and the Sowers were returning home from a horse auction at Thurmont, Md. when the crash occurred shortly after midnight.

State police gave this description of the crash:

Lloyd D. Sheeley, a bartender, of Fairfield, Route 1, Pa., attempted to start his car at a service station, intending to back away from the gasoline pump.

He pressed the starter and his car apparently drifted onto the highway.

Bank Robber Hunt Turns To N.Y. Area

WELLSVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) — The manhunt for bank robber Frank Sprenz, one of the FBI's "most wanted" desperadoes spread Thursday to this western New York community after Pennsylvania roadblocks apparently failed to stop the fleeing gunman.

Wellsville police said they spotted a 1952 Buick with Pennsylvania license plates (No. 764-590), stolen from John Carr at Bessemer, Pa., Wednesday and believed to be driven by Sprenz. State police and sheriff's deputies immediately set up roadblocks.

Roadblocks also were erected across northwest Pennsylvania in case Sprenz turned westward. State police place under surveillance all main arteries leading from western New York into northeastern Ohio.

Troopers at Erie, Pa., were checking out a report that a man resembling Sprenz was seen driving west of Erie late Thursday. "We don't think it's him but we're checking anyway," an officer said.

There were two reports from the Pittsburgh district that Sprenz had been seen. A motorist reported to police a hitchhiker, who fit the desperado's description, asked him for a ride at a downtown intersection.

A woman reported to a police officer in Wilkinsburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh, that a man, who she believed might be Sprenz, was aboard a bus heading into Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh FBI office said it was checking both reports thoroughly but had no information confirming Sprenz was in the area.

The trail of Sprenz, 29, prime suspect in a $29,955 holdup at the First National Bank of Hamilton, Ohio, Monday, led through Ohio and western Pennsylvania. He also was reported spotted near Pikesville, Md., outside Baltimore, Wednesday.

The cocky, five-foot nine-inch gunman stole an airplane to make his getaway after the bank robbery. He apparently continued his flight, using stolen cars. Unconfirmed reports of his whereabouts came from widely separated areas.

Police and FBI agents pinpointed his location Wednesday when Frederick T. Schenk, proprietor of a hotel in Altoona, Pa., found money wrappers in one of his hotel rooms after a man answering Sprenz's dexcription had checked out.

Schenk said the man left at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday after having the fuel pump of his car repaired.

Sprenz was put on the FBI's "most wanted" list last year after breaking out of the Akron jail with four other inmates.

American Slain In Algeria Rebel Area Ambush

ALGIERS (AP)—An American Air Force reserve officer and his young German interpreter were slain from ambush Wednesday night in an Algerian rebel area while making movies.

The American was Homer Flint Kellems, 65, of Siloam Springs, Ark., a brother of the fiery Connecticut woman industrialist-tax rebel Vivien Kellems.

A third member of the party, also an American, was badly wounded.

French sources said they had entered the rebel-infested area from Morocco and were ambushed at dusk. They added that the killers probably were unaware of their victims' nationality.

French military headquarters identified the three as:

Kellems, U.S. Air Force reserve colonel.

Airele Raimund Allen, 19, Bonn, Germany, interpreter.

William Hobb, 27, also of Siloam Springs, Ark. He was reported to have suffered serious abdomen and chest wounds and was given a good chance for survival in a hospital at Tlemcen.

The French Embassy in Rabat, Morocco, said Kellems had reported there he was on an African assignment for National Geographic Magazine and planned to shoot movie film for American TV shows.

Robert F. Newman, vice president of Eye Gate House, Inc., Jamaica, Queens, N.Y., said Kellems and Hobbs wree traveling in Africa for his firm, making educational film strips for use in schools.

Maurice Groen, president of Films of the Nations, Inc., New York, said the two Americans also were making educational films for his concern.

Two Demo Liberals Call For Spending, Tax Hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Two liberal Democratic senators replied to President Eisenhower's challenge Thursday by calling for tax increases to pay for proposed massive increases in Eisenhower's new budget.

One of them, Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), urged Congress to plug "loopholes" in existing taxes to produce an additional 7-billion-dollars a year in revenues. He also suggested a $4,170,000,000 spending hike.

The other, Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.), proposed increases in gasoline and certain corporation taxes, changes in existing tax advantages and higher postal rates Neuberger, who estimated his program would bring in about 3-billion dollars in extra revenue, did not say specifically where the money should be spent. But he indicated it should go for federal aid to housing, schools, airports, water resources and jobless pay.

Eisenhower, defending his $77,-100,000,000 spending proposals against Democratic criticism, told a recent news conference the responsible way to provide additional federal services was to enact taxes to pay for them.

Clark's spending suggestions would boost federal outlays to slightly more than 81-billion dollars in the 12 months starting July 1.

He said an additional 2-billion-dollars should be spent for defense.

Dulles Shows Slight Amount Radioactivity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been slightly radioactive since his treatment with ray-emitting gold this week. But experts said it was completely safe to be around him.

Authorities said President Eisenhower or any other visitor could have looked in on the cancer-stricken statesman at any time since doctors injected the radioactive gold into his stomach cavity Tuesday.

But they said such visits "would not have been good medical practice."

It is standard to impose some isolation on patients treated with radiogold and require persons who work around them to wear lead aprons as protection from the rays emitted by the substance.

As another precaution any visitors are required to keep a specified distance from the bed—usually marked off by a line drawn in colored chalk.

If visitors disobeyed the rule, they would not receive enough radiation to sicken them or even to produce detectable effects. But good radiation safety practice forbids any dosage which can be prevented.

For that reason, persons who don't have to administer to the patient are told to stay beyond the line where radiation is negligible. Those who do have to work close to the patient wear the protective aprons and badges which show when they have absorbed radiation approaching the safety limit.

The State Department said Dulles' reaction to the injection continued satisfactory. Massive radion treatment will be resumed in the next day or so, it added.

"Rock 'n' Roll" Device Warns Of Stop Signs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rock 'n' roll has taken on a new dimension.

In this case it is automotive rather than musical. The State Roads Commission reports that experiments with a new device which quite literally rocks and rolls a driver as he nears a stop sign have proved beneficial.

The device is known as a "rubber stop." It consists of an asphalt substance in which particles of rough stone or slag are imbedded. The stops are set at intervals of some 300 feet in advance of the stop sign.

When a vehicle nears the stop sign, the driver receives a slight jolt. This is followed by a gentle rocking motion accompanied by an audible rumbling sound. The sequence alerts the driver to the upcoming stop sign.

The stops, placed at seven intersections on a four-lane highway last summer, decreased the number of drivers failing to heed the stop signs by 61 per cent.

The commission says it plans to continue studying the effectiveness of the device at other intersections where accidents are frequent.

Mother Hacks Two Children, Ends Life

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — A Washington mother, recently released from a sanitarium, beat and critically injured her two children with a hatchet and then stabbed herself to death in her home here Thursday.

Mrs. Angeline Oliverio, 34, was found dead of a stab wound in the chest in the living room of the house by her brother-in-law, Joseph Oliverio, who went to the home when the children failed to appear at school and the telephone did not answer.

Mrs. Oliverio's son, William 6, also was found in the living room and a daughter, Linda, 10, was in the basement. Both suffered severe head wounds.

Machine Does Nothing But 500 Buy 'em For $20

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — For just $20 Richard Grosser will sell you a machine that does nothing.

Who has $20 for nothing? Grosser says that in two years he's had 500 buyers for the machine which he makes in the basement of his suburban Merion, Pa., home.

Among those owning the machines—formally known as nuttin' boxes—are such persons as John Foster Dulles and some folks using the names Du Pont and Rockefeller.

Grosser, an economics student at the University of Pennsylvania, started building the battery-operated gadget for his family, just as a gag.

It is made of gray, hammerstone aluminum, 4x5x6 inches. It has two rows of four yellow neon bulbs that flash on and off in no set pattern. That's all it does.

Conrad Reported Over Madrid Airport

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Pilot Max Conrad, Lock Haven, Pa., out to set a non-stop record for small planes on a flight from Chicago to Rome, was reported over Madrid's Braajas Airport at 7:14 p.m. e.s.t Thursday night ahead of schedule.

The airport control tower said Conrad made contact by radio as he continued toward Rome.

A representative in New York said Conrad expected to arrive at Rome at 12:25 a.m. Friday, an hour and 35 minutes ahead of his previously estimated arrival time.

Truck Driver Frees 3 Boys From Trunk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three boys aged 4 to 6, were rescued from a steamer trunk in a rubble pile Thursday by a truck driver who heard their faint cries for help.

James E. Clayton, 26, of Vienna, Va. was delivering oil to a building close by when he heard the muffled sounds coming from the battered old trunk on a construction site.

Forcing the lock, Clayton freed the children, who apparently had been playing in the lot. They ran off before he could learn their names.

Chicago School Fire Claims 94th Victim

CHICAGO (UPI) — The 94th victim of the Our Lady of the Angels parochial school fire Dec. 1 died in St. Anne's Hospital.

Hospital officials said the victim was Valerie Toma, 13. Valerie had been in the hospital since the fire. Her death brought the tragedy's toll to 91 children and three nuns.

Authorities at St. Anne's Hospital said four youngsters who had been in the school fire still were being treated. None of the four was considered in as serious a condition as Valerie had been though one "is being very closely watched."

Valerie had suffered burns over 65 per cent of her body.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rock 'n' roll has taken on a new dimension.

In this case it is automotive rather than musical. The State Roads Commission reports that experiments with a new device which quite literally rocks and rolls a driver as he nears a stop sign have proved beneficial.

The device is known as a "rubber stop." It consists of an asphalt substance in which particles of rough stone or slag are imbedded. The stops are set at intervals of some 300 feet in advance of the stop sign.

When a vehicle nears the stop sign, the driver receives a slight jolt. This is followed by a gentle rocking motion accompanied by an audible rumbling sound. The sequence alerts the driver to the upcoming stop sign.

The stops, placed at seven intersections on a four-lane highway last summer, decreased the number of drivers failing to heed the stop signs by 61 per cent.

The commission says it plans to continue studying the effectiveness of the device at other intersections where accidents are frequent.

Mother Hacks Two Children, Ends Life

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — A Washington mother, recently released from a sanitarium, beat and critically injured her two children with a hatchet and then stabbed herself to death in her home here Thursday.

Mrs. Angeline Oliverio, 34, was found dead of a stab wound in the chest in the living room of the house by her brother-in-law, Joseph Oliverio, who went to the home when the children failed to appear at school and the telephone did not answer.

Mrs. Oliverio's son, William 6, also was found in the living room and a daughter, Linda, 10, was in the basement. Both suffered severe head wounds.

Machine Does Nothing But 500 Buy 'em For $20

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — For just $20 Richard Grosser will sell you a machine that does nothing.

Who has $20 for nothing? Grosser says that in two years he's had 500 buyers for the machine which he makes in the basement of his suburban Merion, Pa., home.

Among those owning the machines—formally known as nuttin' boxes—are such persons as John Foster Dulles and some folks using the names Du Pont and Rockefeller.

Grosser, an economics student at the University of Pennsylvania, started building the battery-operated gadget for his family, just as a gag.

It is made of gray, hammerstone aluminum, 4x5x6 inches. It has two rows of four yellow neon bulbs that flash on and off in no set pattern. That's all it does.

Conrad Reported Over Madrid Airport

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Pilot Max Conrad, Lock Haven, Pa., out to set a non-stop record for small planes on a flight from Chicago to Rome, was reported over Madrid's Braajas Airport at 7:14 p.m. e.s.t Thursday night ahead of schedule.

The airport control tower said Conrad made contact by radio as he continued toward Rome.

A representative in New York said Conrad expected to arrive at Rome at 12:25 a.m. Friday, an hour and 35 minutes ahead of his previously estimated arrival time.

Truck Driver Frees 3 Boys From Trunk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three boys aged 4 to 6, were rescued from a steamer trunk in a rubble pile Thursday by a truck driver who heard their faint cries for help.

James E. Clayton, 26, of Vienna, Va. was delivering oil to a building close by when he heard the muffled sounds coming from the battered old trunk on a construction site.

Forcing the lock, Clayton freed the children, who apparently had been playing in the lot. They ran off before he could learn their names.

Chicago School Fire Claims 94th Victim

CHICAGO (UPI) — The 94th victim of the Our Lady of the Angels parochial school fire Dec. 1 died in St. Anne's Hospital.

Hospital officials said the victim was Valerie Toma, 13. Valerie had been in the hospital since the fire. Her death brought the tragedy's toll to 91 children and three nuns.

Authorities at St. Anne's Hospital said four youngsters who had been in the school fire still were being treated. None of the four was considered in as serious a condition as Valerie had been though one "is being very closely watched."

Valerie had suffered burns over 65 per cent of her body.

Impoldering is the practice of extending land by successive dikes in the Netherlands.

Tawes Names Jarman Police Superintendent

STATE POLICE HEAD—Gov. Tawes yesterday appointed Carey Jarman, of Baltimore, as superintendent of state police, a post he held for two years during the administration of Gov. Lane. Jarman was named to succeed Col. Elmer F. Munshower, whose second four-year term expires June 1. (AP Photofax)

ANNAPOLIS (AP)— Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent of State Police during the last two years of the Lane administration, was renamed to the post Thursday by Gov. Tawes.

He was appointed to succeed Col. Elmer F. Munshower, whose second four-year term expires June 1. Munshower had succeeded Jarman in 1951 after Republican Gov. McKeldin took office.

Subject to approval of the Senate, Col. Jarman will resume the post in June after having served as administrative assistant to the state adjutant general the past three years.

The 63-year-old Baltimorean, a native of Chestertown, has had a long career of military and National Guard service. He served on the Mexican Border in 1916 as a member of the National Guard and was a company commander in the 115th Infantry Regiment during World War I.

In World War II he served overseas with the 29th Division and was later transferred to headquarters of the 7th Corps. For the five years immediately following his superintendency of the State Police force he was on active duty in the National Guard Bureau in the Pentagon.

Tawes said Jarman had not sought the superintendency, but agreed to accept the appointment at the governor's request.

The announcement ended weeks of speculation about one of the top jobs in Tawes' list of appointments to go before the Senate. It was the only one, in fact, he delayed announcing when he submitted the Green Bag Feb. 25.

Bill Bars Minors From Obscene Films

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House Judiciary committee Thursday approved a bill which would make it unlawful to show minors obscene or morally corruptive movies.

The vote was 17-12.

Sponsored by Del. Whitmore (D-Anne Arundel) and nine others, the measure was introduced as a counter-move to one which was disapproved by a 13-11 vote in the Judiciary unit Wednesday. That bill would authorize the motion picture censors to designate certain movies as unfit for showing to minors.

Both measures would apply to minors under 18 and are expected to reach the floor for action.

Trucking Companies, ICC Hold Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)— Trucking companies seeking permits to haul cement and other supplies for construction of Washington's Chantilly, Va., airport appeared at an Interstate Commerce Commission conference Thursday to determine just what issues will be considered at hearings on their applications.

Twenty-six applications by 13 companies were under discussion. Many concerned requests for permits to haul cement between various points in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania and had nothing to do with Chantilly.

George M. Martin, city attorney of Leesburg, Va., and Thomas W. de Zerega, special counsel for the city, appeared in opposition to requests of many of the trucking companies that their applications be considered separately. They asked that all be consolidated for review.

Crash Helmet Tests

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The United States Auto Club announced Thursday it has signed contracts with the Purdue University research foundation for a series of tests of automotive safety equipment, starting with crash helmets.

Flames Sweep Chemical Plant At Chestertown

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — Fire swept through a long, one-story chemical plant on the edge of Chestertown Thursday, causing damage estimated at well over $100,000.

David Haacke, vice president of the Lehigh Chemical Co., said a more exact estimate was not possible until a survey had been made of the fire scene.

Some 100 firemen from seven nearby communities battled through dense smoke and intense flames to confine the fire to the company property. The plant produced synthetic chemicals for commercial and industrial use.

Firemen prevented the flames from reaching several nearby fuel tanks owned by Sinclair Oil Co. Also spared was a large trailer filled with oil for delivery which was sitting near the burning plant.

There were no injuries.

Firemen and company officials were unable to determine the cause of the fire.

The fire fighters used gas masks to enter the plant and were able to bring the fire under control in about two hours. Robert Anderson, company officials, said the fire spread through the entire structure because the roof was not fireproof.

The plant employed about 40 persons, but none of them was in the building at the time.

Girls "Rescued" From Ft. M'Henry

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two attractive New York girls, like hundreds of other tourists, decided to visit Fort McHenry

And like the British in 1814, they ran into trouble. They got in but they couldn't get out.

After viewing the famed ramparts Wednesday, Diane Torcivia, 21, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Rose McDonald, 22, of the Bronx, discovered they were locked in with no one around to let them out.

The girls managed to attract the attention of a passing motorist who notified police. After a hectic half hour, a policeman arrived and showed them a spot where the bars of the fence had been pried loose.

The girls are taking Social Security training lessons in Baltimore.

Accused Embezzler Agrees To Transfer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The U.S. attorney's office said Thursday Carl M. Pedderson, charged with embezzling $12,000 from his employer in Maryland, has agreed to have his case transferred to New Orleans.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Anthony Ortega Jr., said Pedderson has indicated he'll plead guilty to the charges after the case is transferred to U.S. District Court here.

Pedderson surrendered to local FBI agents Jan. 23. He is charged with embezzling the $12,000 proceeds of a cattle sale from his employer, Ringgold Hart, in Montgomery County, Md.

Pedderson is being held in the Orleans Parish prison in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Court Death Sentence Review Bill Opposed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House Judiciary committee Thursday voted an unfavorable report on a bill which would let the Court of Appeals review death sentences.

The action was taken on a voice vote in committee and will be reported to the full House.

Del. Acker (D-Balto 3rd) sponsored the measure, which would have set up a buffer between lower courts and the governor on review of death sentences.

At present, Maryland's highest court only has authority to review convictions in capital punishment cases but can not alter the sentence. Most committee members felt it should be left this way.

Society To Sell Easter Baked Goods

The Murley's Branch WSCS discussed plans for delivery of baked goods for the Easter bake sale, which will be March 28, at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Zola Browning. Orders may be given to any member of the society and will be delivered Holy Saturday.

A study course, "Concerns of a Continent," was concluded by Mrs. Martha Robinette, who announced she will begin one on Isaiah at the church March 8 at 7:30. Everyone is welcome. Mrs. Oleta Heavner conducted the business session, when routine reports were given.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Hazel Stonestreet, opening with the group singing, "Break Thou the Bread of Life," and followed by prayer and a Scripture reading by Mrs. Heavner, who also spoke on the meaning of Easter. Two skits were presented, "A New Kind of Sharing," by Mrs. Ruth Weith, Mrs. Helen Yonker, Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Dorothy Yonker; and "Missionaries to the United States of America," by Mrs. Stonestreet and Mrs. Heavner. A reading, "Two Women of Okinawa" was given by Mrs. Sue Kisamore, Mrs. Diana Fletcher and Mrs. Bessie Twigg; and one, "Can We Forgive as We Are Forgiven," by Mrs. Ruth Weiss. Various members spoke on "Who Are the Guilty." The program closed with the group singing, "Deeper and Deeper," and "My Faith Looks Up To Thee."

At the social hour each member read the "Bible Lore" writings on her St. Patrick's Day place card. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Diana Fletcher April 6.

Navy Mothers Appoint Convention Committees

Committee chairmen for Navy Mothers Club 514, to be hostess to State Navy Mothers Club 5, were appointed at a meeting recently. The state convention is to be held here September 18 and 19, at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Mrs. Josephine Hubers of Ferndale will preside.

Mrs. Blanche Lueck was named general chairman. Mrs. Helene Bujac was named in charge of the dinner; Mrs. Sallie Engle and Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, the luncheon; Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, entertainment; Mrs. Lucille Bartlett, state publicity; and the drill team. Mrs. Elizabeth Nave will plan the program. Mrs. Pauline Shaffer is in charge of credentials. Mrs. Elizabeth McLean will conduct the memorial service. Mrs. Pearl Bachman is in charge of ways and means and Mrs. Maude Sutherland will be the convention pianist.

Discussing that the local unit was organized November 15, 1943, it was pointed out that the club "is active in veterans rehabilitation projects, and charity extends in many directions, including cash and gifts sent to veterans' hospitals in Martinsburg, W.Va., Perry Point Hospital; the Navy Family Chapel, Long Beach, Calif.; and Hostess House in Philadelphia, for service men. It also contributes food baskets for needy families for holidays. Members also dress dolls for the Associated Charities and Salvation Army. Money for the projects is raised by bake sales, rummage sales, and selling dish cloths, towels and candy."

It was stressed that the club is open to mothers, wives and sisters of Navy men, Marines, Coast Guardsmen, Seebees, Waves and Spars.

Let's Talk About Gum

There's no place like home — for the gum chewer.

Noisy and obvious gum chewing in public places shows a lack of good manners and breeding. It often can be the one thing that makes the difference between social success — a..d failure.

Check on your gum chewing habits and remember that it's inconsiderate and childish behavior when it is done:

In school
At the office
At social affairs
On the street
In public places—the theater
At any time when you're talking to or with people

My grandmother once told me never to chew gum unless I had enough to share with everyone around me. Since she caught me chewing at church, and another time on the street, this cured me. My bank account could hardly cope with the expense of just one package.

Some people chew gum furiously when they're trying to break the habit of smoking. Remember, if you do do this . . . be most careful how you dispose of the gum. Always save the wrapper for that purpose. Don't leave gum on a plate or throw it on sidewalks. It' amazing how much large cities pay just to clean up the messes of gum!

You should know, also, that gum chewing is listed with such things as eating candy as items that DON'T do your teeth any good. Candy and gum have sugar, and all decay is caused by sugar. Records show that 98 per cent of Americans have tooth decay caused by eating too much sugar.

TOMORROW: Feminine Instinct.

Opening lead: Queen of ♦.

Today's hand brought grief to most of the players who held it in a recent national tournament.

Four spades was reached at most tables on the bidding sequence given above, though in some cases North played three no trump. The latter contract suffered a three trick set when declarer discovered that both black suit finesses failed.

Against four spades, West opened the queen of diamonds, and the ace won in dummy. Several declarers hastened to take the trump finesse and when West took in the queen, a diamond continuation forced South to ruff. After extracting the trumps in two rounds, South proceeded to drive out the ace of hearts. West was in and led another diamond, forcing out declarer's last trump. South then cashed the rest of his hearts and saw that he needed two club tricks to bring home his contract. He had no choice but to finesse, and when East took the king he cashed the setting trick with a diamond.

South could have won the hand by going for clubs first instead of hearts, but no one actually found that play.

One South succeeded in making four spades by the simple expedient of refusing the trump finesse. He was perfectly resigned to losing a spade, a club, and a heart but felt that he could not afford to give up a trump trick to early for fear that repeated diamond leads would play havoc with his trumps. He therefore cashed the ace, king of spades, and then drove out the ace of hearts. West got in, took the queen of spades, and then led a diamond. Declarer ruffed and still had a trump left to give him time to drive out the king of clubs.

Big Savage Refractories Finish Merger Agreement

Mexico Refractories Company of Mexico, Mo., which owns the Big Savage Refractories Division at Frostburg, and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation announced yesterday that they have reached agreement on the terms of a merger.

The Big Savage plant, located at Zihlman, employs 140 persons and will continue operations as in the past.

Subject to ratification by the stockholders of both companies, Mexico Refractories will merge into Kaiser Aluminum and will operate as a division in conjunction with Kaiser Chemicals Division in the production and sales of refractory products for high temperature industrial uses.

Mexico started operations at Mexico, Mo., in 1930. Besides Frostburg, it has plants at Van Dyke, Pa., and Niles, Ohio, and Bronte, Ontario, Canada.

The firm's net sales for 1958 amounted to $17,000,000 with net earnings of more than $1,700,000.

Kaiser entered the basic refractories industry over 15 years ago and has three plants in the Salinas-Moss Landing area in California and another at Columbiana, Ohio.

The Big Savage plant near Frostburg produces high quality bricks for industrial uses, with many of them having aluminum ingredients.

Eckhart Man Gets Jail Term On Auto Counts

David Leonard Green, Eckhart, was sentenced to six months in the Allegany County Jail and fined $253 on four motor vehicle violations yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man after finding him guilty of reckless driving, unlawful use of a motor vehicle, driving without a license and another serious motor vehicle violation.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Baron noted that Green has a long criminal record in Allegany County. He was only recently released from the jail after being sentenced for the theft of a typewriter from the Eckhart Elementary School, the magistrate noted.

Green was arrested by City Officers Harry Iser and Wilbur Shank Tuesday night after the car he was driving rammed into the Model Dairy on Bedford Street, near Decatur Street.

The officers testified yesterday that Green had taken the car, owned by Clyde E. Landis, Springfield, W. Va., while it was parked on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's parking lot.

Landis, who is employed by the B&O in Brunswick, said his wife had parked the car on the lot earlier in the evening.

Police said approximately $500 damage was caused to the vehicle which was not covered by insurance.

FIREPLACE GUSHES WATER

AMPTHILL, England (UPI) — Mrs. Winnie Ashton was sitting in front of the fireplace Tuesday night when clouds of soot and gallons of water spewed down the chimney. The firemen who mopped up said they were called next door but put the hose down the wrong chimney.

From One County Jail To Another

Joseph F. McMannis, 32, of Hyndman, Pa. who ended a 90-day sentence in the Allegany County Jail Wednesday on a motor vehicle violation, is now confined in the Hampshire County Jail in Romney on a charge of grand larceny.

After being released here Wednesday, McMannis was turned over to Hampshire County Sheriff M. R. Mott, who took him to the county jail in Romney.

Last month Maryland Governor J. Millard Tawes signed extradition papers for McMannis who had been arrested on December 5 in LaVale by Trooper R. J. Graham on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license.

The following day he was fined $150 and was confined to the county jail for 90 days in default of the fine.

McMannis was taken before Judge H. Gus Muntzing Wednesday afternoon in Hampshire County Court and was charged with grand larceny. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Sgt. W. Frank Bowley of the State Police at Romney said McMannis has been charged with the theft of batteries and radiators from used cars on a parking lot of a service station operated by George Herriott along Route 28. The larceny took place early last year, Sergeant Bowley said.

It is against the law for Lisbon's famous fishwives to go barefoot. But bare feet are a tradition of centuries, so many Portuguese street vendors carry shoes in their baskets and pop them on only when a police officer comes into view.

Greenland's icecap covers 700,000 square miles, an area nearly a fourth the size of the United States. In some places it is more than 10,000 feet thick.

Big Savage Refractories Finish Merger Agreement

Mexico Refractories Company of Mexico, Mo., which owns the Big Savage Refractories Division at Frostburg, and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation announced yesterday that they have reached agreement on the terms of a merger.

The Big Savage plant, located at Zihlman, employs 140 persons and will continue operations as in the past.

Subject to ratification by the stockholders of both companies, Mexico Refractories will merge into Kaiser Aluminum and will operate as a division in conjunction with Kaiser Chemicals Division in the production and sales of refractory products for high temperature industrial uses.

Mexico started operations at Mexico, Mo., in 1930. Besides Frostburg, it has plants at Van Dyke, Pa., and Niles, Ohio, and Bronte, Ontario, Canada.

The firm's net sales for 1958 amounted to $17,000,000 with net earnings of more than $1,700,000.

Kaiser entered the basic refractories industry over 15 years ago and has three plants in the Salinas-Moss Landing area in California and another at Columbiana, Ohio.

The Big Savage plant near Frostburg produces high quality bricks for industrial uses, with many of them having aluminum ingredients.

Eckhart Man Gets Jail Term On Auto Counts

David Leonard Green, Eckhart, was sentenced to six months in the Allegany County Jail and fined $253 on four motor vehicle violations yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man after finding him guilty of reckless driving, unlawful use of a motor vehicle, driving without a license and another serious motor vehicle violation.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Baron noted that Green has a long criminal record in Allegany County. He was only recently released from the jail after being sentenced for the theft of a typewriter from the Eckhart Elementary School, the magistrate noted.

Green was arrested by City Officers Harry Iser and Wilbur Shank Tuesday night after the car he was driving rammed into the Model Dairy on Bedford Street, near Decatur Street.

The officers testified yesterday that Green had taken the car, owned by Clyde E. Landis, Springfield, W. Va., while it was parked on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's parking lot.

Landis, who is employed by the B&O in Brunswick, said his wife had parked the car on the lot earlier in the evening.

Police said approximately $500 damage was caused to the vehicle which was not covered by insurance.

FIREPLACE GUSHES WATER

AMPTHILL, England (UPI) — Mrs. Winnie Ashton was sitting in front of the fireplace Tuesday night when clouds of soot and gallons of water spewed down the chimney. The firemen who mopped up said they were called next door but put the hose down the wrong chimney.

From One County Jail To Another

Joseph F. McMannis, 32, of Hyndman, Pa. who ended a 90-day sentence in the Allegany County Jail Wednesday on a motor vehicle violation, is now confined in the Hampshire County Jail in Romney on a charge of grand larceny.

After being released here Wednesday, McMannis was turned over to Hampshire County Sheriff M. R. Mott, who took him to the county jail in Romney.

Last month Maryland Governor J. Millard Tawes signed extradition papers for McMannis who had been arrested on December 5 in LaVale by Trooper R. J. Graham on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license.

The following day he was fined $150 and was confined to the county jail for 90 days in default of the fine.

McMannis was taken before Judge H. Gus Muntzing Wednesday afternoon in Hampshire County Court and was charged with grand larceny. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Sgt. W. Frank Bowley of the State Police at Romney said McMannis has been charged with the theft of batteries and radiators from used cars on a parking lot of a service station operated by George Herriott along Route 28. The larceny took place early last year, Sergeant Bowley said.

It is against the law for Lisbon's famous fishwives to go barefoot. But bare feet are a tradition of centuries, so many Portuguese street vendors carry shoes in their baskets and pop them on only when a police officer comes into view.

Greenland's icecap covers 700,000 square miles, an area nearly a fourth the size of the United States. In some places it is more than 10,000 feet thick.

U.S. Must Hold Record For Resolution-Passing

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—In some countries, if you don't like the way things are going, you grow yourself a beard or go throw rocks at an embassy.

In this nation it's usually simpler, though less dramatic.

You pass a resolution.

Statistics aren't available, but we must hold the resolution-passing record. Get a few of us together, and instantly we're in a "Be it further resolved" mood.

This has become so routine that we no longer think much about it. But Wednesday's issue of the "Congressional Record" illustrates the point.

Five pages, mostly in small type, are needed to present the resolutions that tell Congress how it should go about its work.

Although this isn't always true, most of this listing of petitions come from state legislatures. They evidently have a few solutions left over from their own work, and so are happy to pass them on to Congress.

Take Wyoming. Its legislators seem to have been worrying about the federal income tax—as who hasn't?—and have come up with a simple solution: Let's abolish it.

They propose an amendment to the Constitution that would, among other things, repeal the income tax amendment and "thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, or gifts."

No suggestion as to where the money would come from then. But no matter. There's plenty of time for plenty of resolutions if it ever happens.

Alabama wants an amendment to protect states' rights. Idaho would like to protect the cobalt industry; Colorado thinks it's time to start moisture studies in the Great Plains region.

But the nice thing about the petition game is that anybody can play.

So the city of Mayfield Heights, Ohio, gets in its 10 per cents worth. It says Congress should call off the 10 per cent tax on phone calls.

The Houma - Terrebonne, La., Chamber of Commerce believes that two bayous in that neighborhood should be declared nonnavigable.

But no matter how lofty the cause, or how relatively insignificant the complainer, each has a right under the First Amendment to make the pitch.

"Congress shall make no law," the Constitution says, respecting "the right of the people peaceably to assembly, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

We just never seem to run out of grievances.

Satellite Communications Network Seen Year's Job

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A space expert said Wednesday this country could set up within a year a world-wide satellite communications network capable of beaming unjammable broadcasts behind the Iron Curtain.

The witness, R. P. Haviland, a satellite engineer for General Electric Co., told the House Space Committee the proposed system also could be used to transmit much of the nation's airmail.

Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.), a senior committee member, said he hoped the National Space Administration would push ahead with the program on a top priority basis.

Fulton said the big rockets which would be needed to boost the communications satellites into orbit should be borrowed if necessary from other space programs such as the planned effort to shoot two rockets to Venus this June.

Haviland, a director of the American Astronautical Society, said the 16,500-pound satellites could be launched with Atlas missiles. He said the satellites would cost about 50 million dollars plus another 50 million dollars for maintenance.

"The satellites probably would have to be replaced each year making the total cost of the system about 100 million dollars a year," he said.

Sister Speaks With Pride About Hitler In TV Film

LONDON (UPI) — A white-haired old lady spoke to a nationwide television audience with reminiscent pride Wednesday night about her beloved brother. His name was Adolf Hitler.

Frau Paula Wolf, 64, who lives in seclusion in Germany on a four dollar-a-week pension, gave a filmed interview as part of a one-hour assessment of the rise and fall of the German dictator.

To the commentator who introduced the program Hitler was a "monster - genius" whose dozen years of power were years of "destruction . . . degradation . . . violence . . . corruption . . .death."

But to Frau Wolf—she changed her name because Hitler did not want her to be in the limelight—he was still the boy who led all the others when they played cowboys and Indians as children.

Producer Peter Morley, 34, persuaded Frau Wolf to make her first public utterances about Hitler on the promise she would not be asked any political questions.

"What struck me most about him—and the others closely associated with Hitler whom I interviewed for the program—was that they thought and still think he was a normal man in every way and absolutely marvelous," Morley said.

He referred to ex-S. S. Obergruppenfuehrer Julius Schaub, who became Hitler's adjutant in 1920 and was with him till the end; his wife, Frau Wilma Schaub; Erich Kempka, Hitler's chauffeur who was in the bunker in Berlin when the dictator died; and Hans Bauer, Hitler's personal pilot who was also among those who witnessed the final act of the drama in the bunker.

The first adhesive postage stamps were five and 10 cent issues with portraits of Benjamin Franklin and George Washington, respectively.

Two Jackson Family Bodies Are Identified

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (UPI) — A little girl clad in a pinafore and a man with a bullet wound in his head were identified Thursday as two members of a family of four missing nearly eight weeks.

The bodies, discovered late Wednesday in a rotten sawdust pile, were positively identified late Thursday as feed store clerk Carroll V. Jackson, 29, of Mineral, Va., and his 18-month-old daughter, Janet Carol.

The man was bound. The little girl's body bore marks of violence.

Chief State Medical Examiner Dr. Geoffrey T. Mann said after laboratory tests in Richmond that Jackson died from a gunshot wound in the head and also had been beaten with a blunt instrument. He said he could not immediately determine the exact cause of the child's death, but he said she had not been shot or sexually molested.

The grim discovery in a field of scrub oaks and saplings touched off an "inch by inch" search of the area for the mother and daughter, also feared to be victims of the same sadistic killer.

Positive identification wes not made until after completion of the autopsies. However, there was little doubt of the identities.

Celanese Fiber Sales Increase; Arnel Credited

The 1958 fiber sales of the Celanese Corporation of America were reported 20 per cent over the previous year's volume, continuing a five-year growth trend.

The corporation's annual report cites that an important development during the past year was the continuing demand in new markets and end-uses for Arnel triacetate fiber, which was developed at the Amcelle plant. The demand now accounts for a significant part of the company's total fiber sales.

The annual report to stockholders reported net income after taxes for 1958 of $16,685,917, equal to $2.05 per common share, after providing for preferred dividends.

Last year's net income represented a 48 per cent improvement over 1957 before giving effect to a non-recurring federal tax credit in the latter year.

Celanese net sales for 1958 were $223,708,844 — the highest since 1950 and third highest year's volume in the company's history —as compared with 1957 sales of $192,297,353.

Harold Blancke, Celanese president, commented that "Improvement in all major product groups reflects the effectiveness of our closely coordinated efforts to achieve greater market diversification."

Drop In Older Youth Church Activity Noted

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — High school graduates are dropping out of church activities in such large numbers that Methodist Church officials regard the situation as critical.

"The program involving older youth is the weakest link in the church's ministry," said the Rev. Joseph W. Bell, of Nashville, Tenn., director of the Youth Department of the Methodist General Board of Education.

He questioned whether the Methodist Church, the largest single Protestant body in the United States, was meeting the responsibilities to young people, and he called for stepped up church youth programs. Work already has started, he said, on developing more programs for older youth, separate organizations for them and increased guidance for local churches.

He Lists Reasons

"There is a great drop-out of young people following the high school years," Bell told United Press International. "There is considerable feeling that at the end of high school there is not much of a place in the church for young people."

Bell said several reasons have been given for this, some valid and some not. They include:

—In many cases, the church has not made any provision for post-high school youth and, therefore, they feel out of place or unwelcome in existing youth groups or groups for older persons.

—Many of the young people leave for college and do not become associated with a local church while there.

—Many of them leave home for another place to work, and find it difficult to get back into church life.

"There is a degree of independence, or a desire for independence at this age," Bell said, "and this leads many of them to give up habits which are either easier to keep at home or had parental encouragement. Some of the same things could be said about men in the military services."

Decline Is General

The latest complete Methodist Church figures showed that a total of more than 2,800,000 children up to 11 years old attended Sunday school in 1957. The youth division, composed of young people 12 through 23, included nearly 1,300,000. The percentage of attendance by younger children was greatest.

Bell said the decline in church participation by older youth has been general in Methodist churches across the country. There has been an annual increase in the total number of young persons in churches, he said, but the upsurge has come in the junior and senior high groups.

Asked why he regarded the decline in high school graduate church activity as critical, Bell replied:

"I believe it is critical because in the post - high young people there is the future of the church and of the country. In these formative years of establishing themselves in school, professions, homes, they are making decisive decisions and we humbly believe that the ministries of the church can be of service in these important years of development."

Do the young people come back to the church after they settle down in jobs and marriage?

"A great many of the young people come back into the church in a few years after they are married and have established homes of their own," Bell said.

P.O. Dept. Adopting 100-Segment Clocks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department is changing its time clocks to show 100 segments instead of 60 minutes for each hour.

It said Wednesday a four-year-old program is being continued for gradual substitution of the 100-segment clocks for standard 60-minute clocks in larger post offices.

Officials explained that the 100-segment-an-hour clocks on which workers' time cards are punched greatly simplify bookkeeping under machine card systems by permitting use of the decimal system, expressed in tenths.

The department said such clocks are widely used in private industry and are being placed in post office working rooms as the old 60-minute time clocks wear out. Officials said the new clocks now are in use in about 20 per cent of the 4,000 first-class post offices.

Butler Says Demo Race Still Wide Open

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) —Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said Wednesday that no one had the Democratic presidential nomination "sewed up" for 1960 although Sen. John F. Kennedy appeared to be the leading contender now.

Butler revealed that a majority of the party's leaders who were willing to express an opinion during his talks with them throughout the nation indicated they favored the Massachusetts Democrat.

However, he said, "there is not a hardening of opinion in our party to indicate that anyone has the nomination sewed up."

Butler and New Jersey Gov. Robert B. Meyner held a joint news conference after a social call paid by the party chairman on the Democratic governor.

Drop In Older Youth Church Activity Noted

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — High school graduates are dropping out of church activities in such large numbers that Methodist Church officials regard the situation as critical.

"The program involving older youth is the weakest link in the church's ministry," said the Rev. Joseph W. Bell, of Nashville, Tenn., director of the Youth Department of the Methodist General Board of Education.

He questioned whether the Methodist Church, the largest single Protestant body in the United States, was meeting the responsibilities to young people, and he called for stepped up church youth programs. Work already has started, he said, on developing more programs for older youth, separate organizations for them and increased guidance for local churches.

He Lists Reasons

"There is a great drop-out of young people following the high school years," Bell told United Press International. "There is considerable feeling that at the end of high school there is not much of a place in the church for young people."

Bell said several reasons have been given for this, some valid and some not. They include:

—In many cases, the church has not made any provision for post-high school youth and, therefore, they feel out of place or unwelcome in existing youth groups or groups for older persons.

—Many of the young people leave for college and do not become associated with a local church while there.

—Many of them leave home for another place to work, and find it difficult to get back into church life.

"There is a degree of independence, or a desire for independence at this age," Bell said, "and this leads many of them to give up habits which are either easier to keep at home or had parental encouragement. Some of the same things could be said about men in the military services."

Decline Is General

The latest complete Methodist Church figures showed that a total of more than 2,800,000 children up to 11 years old attended Sunday school in 1957. The youth division, composed of young people 12 through 23, included nearly 1,300,000. The percentage of attendance by younger children was greatest.

Bell said the decline in church participation by older youth has been general in Methodist churches across the country. There has been an annual increase in the total number of young persons in churches, he said, but the upsurge has come in the junior and senior high groups.

Asked why he regarded the decline in high school graduate church activity as critical, Bell replied:

"I believe it is critical because in the post - high young people there is the future of the church and of the country. In these formative years of establishing themselves in school, professions, homes, they are making decisive decisions and we humbly believe that the ministries of the church can be of service in these important years of development."

Do the young people come back to the church after they settle down in jobs and marriage?

"A great many of the young people come back into the church in a few years after they are married and have established homes of their own," Bell said.

P.O. Dept. Adopting 100-Segment Clocks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department is changing its time clocks to show 100 segments instead of 60 minutes for each hour.

It said Wednesday a four-year-old program is being continued for gradual substitution of the 100-segment clocks for standard 60-minute clocks in larger post offices.

Officials explained that the 100-segment-an-hour clocks on which workers' time cards are punched greatly simplify bookkeeping under machine card systems by permitting use of the decimal system, expressed in tenths.

The department said such clocks are widely used in private industry and are being placed in post office working rooms as the old 60-minute time clocks wear out. Officials said the new clocks now are in use in about 20 per cent of the 4,000 first-class post offices.

Butler Says Demo Race Still Wide Open

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) —Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said Wednesday that no one had the Democratic presidential nomination "sewed up" for 1960 although Sen. John F. Kennedy appeared to be the leading contender now.

Butler revealed that a majority of the party's leaders who were willing to express an opinion during his talks with them throughout the nation indicated they favored the Massachusetts Democrat.

However, he said, "there is not a hardening of opinion in our party to indicate that anyone has the nomination sewed up."

Butler and New Jersey Gov. Robert B. Meyner held a joint news conference after a social call paid by the party chairman on the Democratic governor.

Special Election To Be Held Today In Mineral County On Higher School Levy To Improve Program

The importance of the special election in Mineral County today for an additional school levy has been stressed by members of the county's Board of Education, who point out that additional money is needed to maintain and improve the education program.

S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral schools, said the county is currently spending approximately $210 a year per student, compared to the national average of $312 per student.

Mineral County students, he continued, go into business, industry, the armed forces and other situations where they are in direct competition with products of other educational systems. If the students of Mineral County are to compete favorably with boys and girls from other areas, the school program must be improved, McGee emphasized.

The proposed levy will raise approximately $208,000 a year, the superintendent stated, explaining that the levy will increase per-pupil expenditure by about $20, if passed. In contrast, McGee said, Maryland spends an average of $410 per student a year.

A major portion of the proposed levy will be utilized to increase the salary scale of Mineral County teachers, it was pointed out. Twenty-three of the approximately 200 teachers in the Mineral County school system are eligible to retire, and an additional 28 are teaching on emergency certificates, McGee said.

The teacher salary scale must be raised, he continued, in order to attract new teachers to fill the normal complement of vacancies who resign to accept better paying positions, or who retire.

The school superintendent also pointed out that if the levy does not receive the necessary 60 per cent of the vote in today's balloting the per pupil expenditure will be cut approximately $18. This would result in a drastic reduction of school services, suspension of a proposed building program and a salary cut for all personnel.

The proposed levy calls for 22.95 cents per $100 of Class 1 property, 45.90 cents on Class 2 property, 91.80 cents on Class 3 property, and 91.80 on Class 4 property.

The assessed valuation of each class of taxable property within Mineral County is $4,831,890, Class 1; $8,988,560, Class 2; $9,849,730, Class 3, and $8,764,300, Class 4.

A. You may be surprised to know that you have been familiar with Genuine Polyethylene for years. It is the same expensive material from which the refrigerator bags are made.

Q. Is it true that the Genuine Polyethylene wrapper used by Schmidt's will keep bread fresh longer?

A. This question can be answered in two ways. First, you already know that the refrigerator bags you use, and which are made of Genuine Polyethylene, do keep foods fresher in your own home. Second, the Schmidt Baking Company believes in truthful advertising. Q. Were these laboratory tests made in a manner comparable to home usage, or were they made on a complete scientific basis?

A. These laboratory tests were made under the same usage as in your home in which a few slices were taken out of the wrapper each day and tested for freshness.

Q. What do these laboratory tests mean to my family?

A. Your Friendly Grocer and Schmidt's Blue Ribbon bread salesman work together to guarantee freshness of Schmidt's Blue Ribbon bread in the store. $2,210 Is Given In Two-County Dystrophy Drive

Allegany and Garrett county residents contributed over $2,200 to the Muscular Dystrophy drive which was held sometime ago in this area.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, president and general chairman of the two-county chapter, said a check for $1,924.61 was sent yesterday to the national headquarters in New York City.

The total of contributions amounted to $2,210.61 and there were $286 campaign expenses, he said. Chief Parker said 25 per cent of the total sent to national headquarters will be earmarked for patient service and the purchase of equipment needed by patients in the two counties.

The remainder is used for research work toward the fight against the crippling disease which affects muscles of both young and old.

If the county funds are inadequate to meet the demands, chapter officials get additional help from national headquarters, Chairman Parker said.

A breakdown of the contributions shows that $1,122.64 was given when workers made a house-to-house canvass in Cumberland and Frostburg; $854.61 in canisters placed in the two counties; $100, commerce and industry; $83 returned by mail in envelopes; $50 special gifts.

Chief Parker pointed out that the generosity of contributors was "exceptionally good." Mrs. Nell Kennedy was in charge of the canvass in Frostburg, while Alvin Rankin was in charge of the volunteer fire companies that took part.

Herman L. Myers is vice president of the two-county chapter; Rudolph Kompanek, treasurer, and Arthur Nave, secretary.

Local Boy Sentenced To Training School

A 14-year-old West Side youth was sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson sentenced the youth after finding him guilty of being a delinquent minor.

Magistrate Anderson said the youth had been in his court three times within the past month for failing to attend school.

Glee Club To Give Concert Monday

The Men's Glee Club of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., will present a public concert of sacred music Monday, March 16, at 7:30 p. m. in First Methodist Church.

Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor of the local church, said the glee club is considered one of the finest organizations of its kind in the nation. It will be making its 24th annual tour.

The glee club will present a varied concert of sacred classics, Negro spirituals and hymns.

The director is Marvin G. Dean, who has been on the faculty of several outstanding schools including the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. He is chairman of the division of fine arts and director of choral groups at Asbury College.

Five Building Permits Issued

Only five building permits were issued during February by the Allegany County assessment department but the total estimated cost of construction of $45,000 was nearly three times the January total of $18,100.

The five February permits included three for dwellings, one for a skating rink and one for a garage. The $19,000 figure for the skating rink was the highest of the five projects.

Five election districts were represented by the five February permits. Districts included Nos. 3, Flintstone area; 7, Cresaptown; 23, East Side suburban; 24, Eckhart, and 29, LaVale.

In February 1958 there were 12 permits for $71,425 estimated construction.

Airliner Delayed

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—Police bomb experts searched a Lufthansa airliner for more than three hours Wednesday night before its scheduled takeoff for Chicago. Police acted on a tip that a bomb would destroy the plane before it could leave Germany. Police found no trace of a bomb and the plane left.

Youth Admits Theft Here

A 16-year-old escapee from the National Training School for Boys, Washington, has admitted to breaking and entering a Cumberland church.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said he has received information from authorities in Stanton, Mich., that the youth admits entering and stealing $7 from Trinity Lutheran Church on February 18.

Chief Flynn said the boy is being held in Michigan in connection with a breaking and entering there. He escaped from the training school on February 17 and broke into the local church at 1 a. m. the following day.

$2,210 Is Given In Two-County Dystrophy Drive

Allegany and Garrett county residents contributed over $2,200 to the Muscular Dystrophy drive which was held sometime ago in this area.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, president and general chairman of the two-county chapter, said a check for $1,924.61 was sent yesterday to the national headquarters in New York City.

The total of contributions amounted to $2,210.61 and there were $286 campaign expenses, he said. Chief Parker said 25 per cent of the total sent to national headquarters will be earmarked for patient service and the purchase of equipment needed by patients in the two counties.

The remainder is used for research work toward the fight against the crippling disease which affects muscles of both young and old.

If the county funds are inadequate to meet the demands, chapter officials get additional help from national headquarters, Chairman Parker said.

A breakdown of the contributions shows that $1,122.64 was given when workers made a house-to-house canvass in Cumberland and Frostburg; $854.61 in canisters placed in the two counties; $100, commerce and industry; $83 returned by mail in envelopes; $50 special gifts.

Chief Parker pointed out that the generosity of contributors was "exceptionally good." Mrs. Nell Kennedy was in charge of the canvass in Frostburg, while Alvin Rankin was in charge of the volunteer fire companies that took part.

Herman L. Myers is vice president of the two-county chapter; Rudolph Kompanek, treasurer, and Arthur Nave, secretary.

Local Boy Sentenced To Training School

A 14-year-old West Side youth was sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson sentenced the youth after finding him guilty of being a delinquent minor.

Magistrate Anderson said the youth had been in his court three times within the past month for failing to attend school.

Glee Club To Give Concert Monday

The Men's Glee Club of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., will present a public concert of sacred music Monday, March 16, at 7:30 p. m. in First Methodist Church.

Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor of the local church, said the glee club is considered one of the finest organizations of its kind in the nation. It will be making its 24th annual tour.

The glee club will present a varied concert of sacred classics, Negro spirituals and hymns.

The director is Marvin G. Dean, who has been on the faculty of several outstanding schools including the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. He is chairman of the division of fine arts and director of choral groups at Asbury College.

Five Building Permits Issued

Only five building permits were issued during February by the Allegany County assessment department but the total estimated cost of construction of $45,000 was nearly three times the January total of $18,100.

The five February permits included three for dwellings, one for a skating rink and one for a garage. The $19,000 figure for the skating rink was the highest of the five projects.

Five election districts were represented by the five February permits. Districts included Nos. 3, Flintstone area; 7, Cresaptown; 23, East Side suburban; 24, Eckhart, and 29, LaVale.

In February 1958 there were 12 permits for $71,425 estimated construction.

Airliner Delayed

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—Police bomb experts searched a Lufthansa airliner for more than three hours Wednesday night before its scheduled takeoff for Chicago. Police acted on a tip that a bomb would destroy the plane before it could leave Germany. Police found no trace of a bomb and the plane left.

Youth Admits Theft Here

A 16-year-old escapee from the National Training School for Boys, Washington, has admitted to breaking and entering a Cumberland church.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said he has received information from authorities in Stanton, Mich., that the youth admits entering and stealing $7 from Trinity Lutheran Church on February 18.

Chief Flynn said the boy is being held in Michigan in connection with a breaking and entering there. He escaped from the training school on February 17 and broke into the local church at 1 a. m. the following day.

Ike, Macmillan Apparently Pulling Apart On Strategy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan appeared Wednesday to be pulling apart on several key points of Western strategy in dealing with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The evidence of differences makes the forthcoming Eisenhower-Macmillan meeting unusually important. The President has invited Macmillan to visit Washington at his convenience. He is expected here about March 15.

One of his purposes will be to report on his just-concluded talks with Khrushchev in Moscow and the discussions he will also have held by that time with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle.

In the policy rift which presently exists in the Western camp, Adenauer and De Gaulle favor a tough line toward the Soviet Union — tougher in some respects than Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have desired. Macmillan, according to available evidence, stands at the other extreme.

Four main differences appear to stand out as a result of Macmillan's comments in connection with his Moscow visit and Eisenhower's discussion at his Wednesday news conference.

1. Summit conference — Macmillan has been keenly interested in promoting a meeting of himself, Eisenhower, Khrushchev and De Gaulle—the four leaders whose countries have had primary responsibility since World War II for determining the fate of Germany. Khrushchev has repeatedly demanded such a session also. Eisenhower said there was no objection to Macmillan going to see Khrushchev. Then the President again assailed the idea of a summit conference in the present circumstances.

"What I keep deploring," he said, "is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it."

2. Disengagement — Macmillan spoke in Parliament Wednesday about the same time that Eisenhower met with reporters. He said the right thing to do is to get negotiations going on such cold war issues as Germany, Berlin, disarmament and suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

Macmillan said he will discuss with German, French and U.S. leaders all major questions, including a study of some form of what has come to be known as disengagement.

"Disengagement" is a term which covers a controlled limiting of forces of each side of the Iron Curtain. A reporter at Eisenhower's conference noted that it had been referred to in a communique issued by Macmillan and Khrushchev.

Eisenhower said such things as troop withdrawal or armament controls in central Europe must come "within a general agreement in which we have confidence." "You have to have a stronger and better evidence of confidence on both sides," he said.

3. Nuclear Tests—Macmillan has some new ideas on how to reach agreement with the Soviets to get a suspension of nuclear tests. Talks under way in Geneva since last October are deadlocked. Macmillan discussed his idea with Khrushchev. Eisenhower made clear he did not think much of these ideas, which he declined to spell out.

4. Trade — Macmillan and Khrushchev joined in plugging the prospects of increased trade between Britain and the Soviet Union. The United States has taken the line that it does not object to increased trade but has refused to give credits to the Soviets and to buy various Soviet products.

Train Kills Three

LONDON (UPI) — Three electricians working on the overhead power line of an electrified railroad line were killed Thursday when a diesel express hit the ladder on which they were standing. The accident occurred at suburban Manor Park during the early morning darkness.

Unemployment Drops

LONDON (UPI) — The government Thursday announced unemployment dropped by 12,000 last month from the 10-year-high of 621,000. The total of unemployed stood at 609,000 at the end of February. The increase was attributed to the return of warm weather.

Big Fleet Of Low-Cost A-Subs Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An atomic submarine skipper urged the government Wednesday to build a big fleet of low-cost nuclear-powered submarines to keep Russia's undersea fleet out of this country's ocean waters.

The proposal was made by Capt. Richard B. Laning, former commander of the atomic sub Seawolf, at a Navy League seapower symposium. Laning now is assigned to the office of Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations.

He said a fleet of small atomic subs, coupled with other antisubmarine warfare developments, might even make Russia lose interest in submarines as an effective weapon against the United States.

Other speakers at the symposium have warned that the Soviet sub menace was growing and that America had to move fast just to keep even.

Laning said it was ironical the United States, as the world's greatest seapower, had thousands of ships exposed to attack by Russia which is essentially a great land power.

He said "if this country could mount a sufficient threat it could keep Russian submarines from leaving their ports."

Experience with the Seawolf convinced him that submarines need not be big and that for antisubmarine work there could be designs "cheaper to build in greater numbers," he said.

Vice Adm. R. B. Pirie, deputy chief of naval operations for air, said the Navy was seeking detection devices which would enable aircraft to spot a submarine 50 to 75 miles away.

He said the detection devices should be able to penetrate 1,500 feet below the surface. He did not indicate that such devices were imminent.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The Lebanese cabinet has issued a legislative decree making life imprisonment the mandatory sentence for convicted kidnapers, it was disclosed Thursday. The decree followed the threat of Education Minister Pierre Gemayel to resign unless action was taken to stiffen the penalty for kidnaping.

U.N. Envoy In Burma

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold arrived here Thursday on a three-day visit to discuss international developments with Burmese leaders. Hammarskjold is on a tour that will take him to 10 nations. His next stop will be Bangkok, Thailand.

A Defiant Iran Ignores Moscow

Adding insult to injury is what Moscow calls Iran's signing of a bilateral military aid agreement with the United States. The "injury" in Russian eyes was Iran's unilateral denunciation, on Monday, of key sections in the 1921 Iranian-Soviet treaty. Those sections gave Iran—which was Persia to our grandparents—the right to send troops into the Shah's country if Russia was threatened with aggression from that area.

The government at Tehran says those sections had become so out-of-date as to be meaningless. Anyhow, the "injury" before the latest one was Iran's refusal to talk turkey with a Soviet mission that had arrived on January 29 only to leave empty-handed on February 11.

Under the 1921 treaty Russia agreed to withdraw its troops from Iran and hand over Russian property there. A note from the Kremlin at the time explained that its right, under the treaty, to re-dispatch troops applied only in case the threatened aggression came from adherents of the old Czarist regime, whether these were (White) Russians or outsiders.

Six years later a section was added whereby each signatory agreed not to join any political alliance aimed at the other. It is this that Russia accuses Iran of violating by joining the Baghdad pact in 1955 and now making a separate military agreement with the United States.

Our new defense agreements with Iran (and with Pakistan and Turkey) are intended to make up for our refusal to join the Baghdad treaty. They are executive agreements which do not have to be submitted to the Senate. At the Karachi meeting of the Baghdad pact, January 26-28, the three Asian members wanted guaranties of U. S. protection from any quarter including an internal one. The United States would not go so far. The new defense agreements are against only outside Communist aggression. They thus, it is claimed, accord with the Eisenhower Doctrine endorsed by Congress in 1957.

So now, for a change, it is the Russians who have been "insulted" and "injured." Interesting.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Great Teacher

A teacher is a person who can convey data, ideas, theories, facts to other persons in such a manner that what is said is clearly understood, is emotionally and intellectually received and is of advantage to the person who learns. Many persons who are teachers do not succeed in teaching. They open their mouths and words come out but the pupil is not receptive.

I was thinking about that as I listened to Leonard Bernstein teach children what music is. This is a program of the New York Philharmonic on the Columbia Broadcasting System. I always listen to this program when it is given because it is one of the most stimulating that is on the air. Also it is not disturbed by sponsors selling cigarets which I do not smoke or detergents which I do not use. It is educational, informative, delightful and unobstructed.

Leonard Bernstein is a truly valued teacher because he has the facility of making what he says understood and receivable. Everybody likes music except the morose and the tone deaf and music is expressed in many forms, from what the laity calls popular to classical. But truth to tell, music is music and for human beings, it is merely another form of expression, of conveying an emotion or a thought or even an ideal. Whether it is "76 Trombones" or the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" which I prefer to the Lohengrin one, it is saying in rhythm and sound what someone else might say in words or in paint or on a drawing-board.

The genius of Bernstein is that he is able to convey to youngsters that the music of Mozart or Bach is not to be disliked because it is called classical any more than high school children must dislike Shakespeare because it is taught in a class room. To make a child realize the why of anything is first rate teaching and when an adult approaches a new subject he is very much the child.

Bernstein is often called a "ham" which he undoubtedly is. So was Richard Mansfield and so was John Barrymore and they could play Hamlet so that one left the theater with a sense of participation.

Today, one often leaves the theater with a feeling that the evening was expensive. The best teacher I have ever known was Professor Charles A. Beard, who taught a gloomy subject nowadays called, government. Beard hammed, of course, but his students left with a bagful of ideas.

Hamming is a theatrical device employed to attract the attention of the listener and to emphasize the significance of the moment. Unquestionably, the greatest speech-writer the United States produced was Abraham Lincoln and his most significant work was the Gettysburg Address. He started it with the words, "Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition, etc., etc." Now suppose he had rejected hamming and said it simply, like politicians prefer today, look what he would have said:

"Eighty-seven years ago, the United States was founded by statesmen who believed in, etc., etc."

I have listened to many of the important orchestras during the past 40 years and have watched most of the great conductors. What is a conductor's function? Is it to keep time for his orchestra? Is it to teach men of the highest qualifications how to play? If that is his job, no first rate symphony orchestra needs a conductor. Quite apart from interpretation, it is the function of the conductor to lead the audience to the music, to stimulate an interest, an appreciation, an excitement over the music.

I recall when Serge Koussevitzky gave a Beethoven series at Tanglewood. The conductor there wears a gray cotton jacket and white trousers. It came to the Ninth. No Koussevitzky. The lights went on; the lights went off. Still no Koussevitzky. The audience became tense and anxious. Finally, he appeared in full dress, white tie, tails and all. The orchestra and audience rose to their feet. What might have been another concert became a tribute. Hamming? Of course. But it conveyed an idea that no words could express. This was the greatest.

When I was much younger, I resented Bernstein's hamming. But watching it on television with children in the audience, I realize that it is a great art, the art of making the mind receptive, the art of teaching.

Reds Busy Making Trouble In Latin America

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — And now it's trouble in Bolivia! Yesterday it was in Cuba, and before that in other Latin American countries where hostility against the United States was artificially intensified by the Communists.

Unfortunately, maneuvers of the Communists in the "cold war" are usually pooh-poohed by too many people in this country, despite bold propaganda operations that are obviously planned with care. When the anti-Nixon incidents occurred on the Vice P esident's tour of South America, it was conceded, of course, that an antagonism such as was manifested against the United States could readily have been brought into the open without the slightest stimulus by the Communists. But this was no reason to ignore the impetus given anti-American sentiment there or anywhere else in the world by the Communists.

It so happens that this week an article reporting an alleged remark by a minor American official was published in a magazine reaching Bolivia from the United States. The idea that a chance comment in a magazine, circulating a relatively small number of copies in that country, could produce a riot against the United States Embassy and cause the evacuation of its personnel is too fantastic to believe. Only an organized conspiracy by those malcontents with a desire to focus international attention on relations between the United States and an important South American country could have brought about the tragic episode.

The Bolivian Minister of the Interior, says a UPI dispatch, told newsmen that the attack on the American Embassy was led by a known Communist named Victor Villegas. He appealed to the Bolivian people for information about Villegas' whereabouts.

The other day in Congress, representative Daniel J. Flood of Pennsylvania, Democrat, declared that Communist influence is back of some of the demands being made by the government of Panama for an extension of its territorial waters which would adversely affect American rights in the Canal Zone. He said:

"Those in charge of the Communist movement in Latin America, and especially in the Caribbean area, have undoubtedly focused their conspiratorial activities on the Panama Canal with the purpose of causing destruction of amicable relations between the United States and Panama, with complete liquidation of United States control over the Canal itself."

Nor is Communist activity confined to any one part of the globe. It is noticeable just now in Africa, where fuel is being added to the flames of nationalism. It is operative also in the Far East. A few days ago a United Press International dispatch dated Manila said:

"The Foreign Office warned yesterday it has received reports pointing to 'growing infiltration' by Communists among the Philippine student population.

"Foreign Secretary Serrano conveyed the warning to Rep. Lenardo Perez, chairman of the House Committee on Anti-Filipino Activities, and told him to put his committee 'on alert.'"

The pattern of students infiltration is worldwide. In Latin America, in particular, many of the anti-American demonstrations have originated in the colleges. To plant young leaders who will use any provocation to work up passionate outbursts is a relatively easy device. It has been revealed in Cuba in the so-called "youth movement." While the top officials there vehemently deny that the Communists have anything to do with the Fidel Castro regime, it is an open secret in Havana that the Communists are busy causing mischief wherever they can in the little republic which is struggling to recover from the ill effects of the Batista dictatorship.

In the Middle East the Communist plotters have been more successful than anywhere else. Everyone who has watched the situation in Egypt is aware that the Communists have played an active part there in anti-Western demonstrations. The Nasser government, which at first welcomed such supporters, now is troubled by them. Iraq is an example of a successful conquest by the Communists of a country which until recently was one of America's staunchest friends.

Despite the denunciations of anything that even remotely resembles an intervention in their own domestic affairs, the Soviets are spending hundreds of millions of dollars fomenting internal trouble inside many of the countries sympathetic with the West.

In the United States, the effects of some of the insidious operations by Communists are more and more noticeable. Having won many a big battle in the courts through the aid of legal technicalities, the Communists have continued to plant their propaganda in important places and among groups which are gullible and naive, thus enlarging the scope of the Soviet propaganda drive.

Sooner or later the American people will come to realize that the Communists are succeeding in their infiltration of many countries and are dangerously impairing the relations between the United States and peoples in different parts of the world who normally would be very friendly to the people of this country. It's a significant type of fighting in what has been misnamed the "cold war."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

A new note of caution is creeping into business forecasts and prospects being made by government and private economists and business leaders.

There is frequent reiteration of the theme that recovery from the recession shows signs of slowing down, and cautionary advice against over-optimistic interpretation of statistics. Some economists emphasize that current indexes of industrial production, corporate earnings and dividend payments are being compared with those of a year ago, near the bottom of the recession. They stress that while these comparisons look good, one must go back to two and three, and even four years ago to get an accurate comparative picture of the economic situation.

Then, others stress, continuing high unemployment is worrisome, and unless this part of the economic picture corrects itself in the next few months, it could become a considerable drag on the pace of the national economy for the balance of 1959.

New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who only a few short months ago looked like the white hope of the Republican Party in 1960, is undergoing a confidence-shaking experience in Albany these days.

Rockefeller, in his effort to build a record as a state administrator in advance of the Presidential conventions in 1960, took the "hard" road of demanding New York state tax increases to balance his budget.

The public backlash has been much more severe than either he or his advisors anticipated. Many who voted for him are openly expressing disillusionment, and this is also being reflected in the Republican-controlled state legislature, where he is having a tough time putting his tax proposals across.

But his advisors insist this is the only course open to him, that this is the bad time, and once the tax increases have been put through and digested, he will rise again as an outstanding contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

Measles Cases Multiply In Three-Year Cycles

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Measles comes in three year cycles and usually there are 60 per cent more cases in a measles year than in a nonmeasles year. Even though 1958 was a peak year, the malady cannot be disregarded until 1961 because outcrops will occur even though the total number of victims will not be great. In 1957, for example, there were 410 deaths from this disease.

Measles is more contagious than any other disease. If any susceptible persons are in the vicinity of the sufferer, it is a good bet they will get it. March, April and May are the favored months.

The incubation period varies from 10 to 14 days. The youngster becomes lethargic and irritable, and has no desire to play. The mother is likely to suspect a cold, especially when the tot's temperature rises and he starts sneezing and coughing.

The eyes become puffy, swollen, and red. On the second day the telltale Koplik's spots appear on the inner cheeks. These lesions look like white sand sprinkled on a red background. If the mother looks and finds them she can predict the appearance of the rash within 36 hours.

Meanwhile, fever may increase to 104 degrees F. On the third day a reddish brown rash breaks out behind the ears or on the forehead and cheeks. It spreads downward slowly to involve the trunk, arms and legs.

The eruption may itch and burn but in general the victim feels better after it breaks out, even though he looks more uncomfortable than Job with his boils. This stage is less contagious than the pre-eruption interval. Cough may continue for a week or two but complete healing usually follows unless complications develop.

The child with measles should be kept in bed, especially when he is coughing hard and his temperature is elevated. The room is darkened only when the eyes are sensitive to light. There is no specific remedy but the physician usually prescribes medicine to ease coughing and itching.

At the time of this writing there is no effective vaccine to protect children against measles but scientists are working at it. Meanwhile, gamma globulin may help a susceptible child who has been exposed.

TOMORROW: After a heart attack.

IS THE I. Q. CONSTANT?

Mrs. R. writes: Does the I. Q. ever change—that is, if tests show a high rating in childhood, will it remain this way for life?

REPLY

The I. Q. measures the capacity for learning. It usually rises until age 15 and remains constant until 25. It then begins to decline, and by age 60 it runs age 12. A different type of test is used with adults.

FATS IN THE DIET

F. G. writes: Is it necessary to use vegetable fats in the meals if animal fats are eliminated?

REPLY

Not necessarily but it is wise if you want to maintain a balanced diet. Much depends upon why animal fats are being restricted.

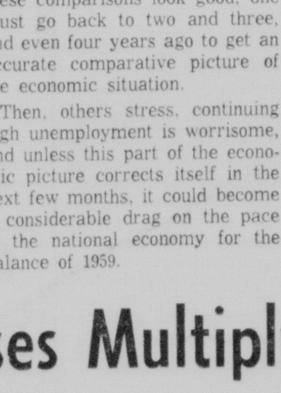
To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A neighbor went to a venerable Turkish landowner one day to ask for the loan of a donkey. The landowner explained he had loaned his donkey to somebody else. The donkey, however, chose that moment to bray loudly in his stall. "You should be ashamed to lie at your age!" exclaimed the neighbor angrily. "Your own donkey testifies against you."

The landowner replied disdainfully, "I refuse to argue with a person who gives greater credence to the braying of a donkey than to the words of a fellow-man!"



Another neighbor approached the same doughty Turk with, "I understand, my friend, that you have vinegar which is 40 years old. Will you please let me have some?"

"Sorry," said the Turk, "you see, it wouldn't be 40 years old if I kept giving it away all the time."

Senator Albert Gore One Of Chief Beneficiaries Of Capitol Nepotism

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It's an ironic twist of fate that the man who replaced the chief enemy of nepotism in Congress is now one of the chief beneficiaries of nepotism on Capitol Hill. He is Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, one of the Democratic hopefuls for President.

Gore, when he first came to Washington twenty years ago, succeeded to the House vacancy left by Congressman John Ridley Mitchell of Tennessee who waged an unrelenting campaign against putting relatives on the public payroll. In 1952 he was elected Senator.

The relatives of Senator Gore are not published, first because the Senate payroll remains secret, second because Gore has placed some of his relatives in jobs outside Congress. To unearth Senatorial relatives The Associated Press has been asking Senators point blank for the names of wives, children, brothers, cousins, and aunts they have appointed to public office. So far this has produced more indignation than information.

However, though he doesn't publicize it, bright-eyed Albert Gore holds the unofficial record for Senate nepotism. He has probably taken care of more relatives at the taxpayers' expense than anyone else in the Senate, possibly than anyone else on Capitol Hill. Here is the roll-call of Gore relatives on the public payroll:

1. Mrs. Betty Gentry, a sister, who works for the Federal Trade Commission.

2. Christine Coggins, a niece, is on the Senator's own office payroll.

3. Joe Marks, a nephew, works in the Senate post office.

4. Mrs. Grace Keyes, another sister, also works in the Senate post office.

This last piece of nepotism took a little arranging. By the time his second sister came along looking for a job, he had run out of patronage except for a job as Senate guard. Ladies can't serve as guards, no matter whose sisters they may be; so the junior Senator from Tennessee arranged with another Senator to trade a guard's job for a post office job. Now he has two of his kinfolk in the Senate post office.

5. Finally the Senator secured a job for his 20-year-old daughter, Nancy, as a guide last year at the U. S. pavilion at the Brussels' Worlds Fair. She saved enough money 'argely out of her earnings, to come home by way of Poland, Greece, Turkey, Pakistan, Hong Kong, Japan and Hawaii.

Mrs. Luce And Bolivia

Bolivian riots against Americans, inspired by Time magazine, will make it extremely difficult for Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, wife of the publisher of Time, to serve effectively in her new post as U. S. Ambassador to Brazil.

The reason is that the Luce family has been so closely tied up to the Eisenhower administration that when Time magazine suggests Bolivia be carved up among its neighbors, the idea is interpreted as having Eisenhower support.

It was Time's report that U. S. authorities believe Bolivia should be divided up between its neighbors, which incited Bolivian mobs to stone the American Embassy and U. S. Information Center in La Paz, and caused Americans to be evacuated to an army camp outside the city.

Mrs. Luce and her husband, Henry, are so close to the Eisenhower administration that John Foster Dulles gave Luce an exclusive article in Life magazine advocating the policy of brinkmanship, and many Latin Americans believe the Luces help to fix foreign policy. Together they contributed $30,875 to Ike's campaign in 1956. Mrs. Luce was the first woman ambassador in history to be appointed to a major ambassadorship—Italy; while C. D. Jackson, a top executive of the Time-Life-Fortune publishing empire, has served for some time on the White House staff. He is still called in by Ike for advice on important public relations matters.

The fact that the Luces have been stanch and consistent supporters of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is believed to be one reason for the five-year Eisenhower policy of supporting Chiang's ambition of retaking the Chinese mainland—a reversal of the Truman policy.

If Mrs. Luce takes her post as Ambassador to Brazil it would be a source of continued resentment to Bolivians. For Brazil has a long border adjacent to Bolivia, and the lowlands of Bolivia actually have much more unity, economically and geographically, with Brazil than with the 12,000-foot plateau of Bolivia.

Brazil and Bolivia have been living in peace for many years and there is no thought on Brazil's part of annexing any part of Bolivia. Nevertheless, the Bolivian population, about 90 per cent Indian, is highly emotional and deeply suspicious.

Actually the United States has done a great deal to unite the lowlands of Bolivia with the upper plateau. Sumner Welles, when Under Secretary of State, started a highway linking upper and lower Bolivia. This engineering miracle was finally finished during the Eisenhower administration, and this writer traveled over the highway with President Paz Estenssoro and Vice President Hernan Siles Zuavo, now President, when first dedicated in 1954.

At that time the crowds that lined the highway and gathered in the public squares of the chief cities were hailing Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, Assistant Secretary of State Henry Holland, and other Americans as heroes.

However, a volatile population can change overnight. And the crowds that once cheered the United States have now endangered the lives of Americans—following the ill-advised article in Time magazine.

Uncle Bert isn't really my uncle. He's an old reprobate from the Murphy side of the family and he has a nose like the taillight on a 1959 Ford. With the brakes on. Years ago, his late lamented spouse Lucy tried to pour Uncle Bert back into the bottle. Everybody said that he would go fast and early, but he's still here, 79 and leering at innocent girls.

He wears loud silk ties, a pink carnation, and white spats over his black shoes. The entire top half of Uncle Bert has sagged toward the middle, but what there is of him is as solid as Jello. He smokes gold-tipped Melachrinos and he lives with one of his daughters, when he can be found.

For three years I've been talking to Uncle Bert about making out a will. I believe in wills, even when there is nothing to leave but one's best regards. Or the widow's curse. He said nothing doing because he didn't want his kids fighting over his remains. The kids are all better than 50 apiece and haven't got enough fight left in them to get to the front of the line in a supermarket.

Still, after much conversation, he agreed that it might be a good idea to settle his estate once and for all and, as a favor to me, he would do it. If he lives to be a hundred — or if he goes tomorrow — I will always remember him working over his last testament as though it were the new.

He handed the document to me in an offhand way — almost throwing it — and said: "Copy this and I'll give it to my lawyer." I didn't know Uncle Bert had a lawyer. The will ran as follows:

"My name is Bertram O. Murphy and I am of sound mind I am sure. I am going into my eightieth (80th) year and, because life is uncertain, this will be my last will.

"There is $170 in the Providence Savings and Loan which I never told to anybody. I leave this, with interest, to Mary my oldest daughter who fed me and kept a roof over my head these last eight years. To her husband, Timothy, who begrudged me every mouthful I ate, I leave the back of my hand.

"The furniture in my bedroom — 1 dble. bed, 1 portable clothes closet, 1 night table, two bedspreads, sheets and etc. I leave to the Salvation Army. Also the family picture album which nobody wants to look at anymore.

"My new shoes — size 11, I leave to my youngest son Barney, who can use them to good advantage if he will look for a job. The white spats (3 prs.) can be thrown out. My insurance in the Foresters can bury me. There is room in the grave beside my dear Lucy. I forbid my daughter Muriel to put up the headstone she insults me with constantly. She says she wants it to read: 'Still Not Talking', but she'll be punished for thinking this way.

"There are some good gramophone records which I leave to the grandchildren to replace that rock stuff they keep playing. You will find a copy of 'Somewhere A Voice is Calling' by John McCormack, the one and only and 'Sorrento' by Enrico Caruso, which are a damn sight better than the Tom Tom stuff the children like.

"In the cellar are some old dishes left in barrels by mother. They will do for the likes of Muriel and she has them with my best wishes, because, when she sees the ones that are cracked, it might make her think.

"To my dear son Michael I would like to leave my gray Banker's worsted, but this will leave me nothing to be buried in except my pelt, so let him be content that I had the proper thought. He is a good boy and should go far in life if he stops listening to that flighty wife of his. Instead of the suit, let Mike have all my ties except a gray one to go with the suit.

"My hearing aid I leave to my son-in-law, who could never understand a blessed word I said, and I hope it does him some good. I'm sorry I haven't got a brain to leave him, because he could use one of them too.

"To all my friends, I leave the sunny mornings and the warm breezes. If there is any money left, please buy a drink for such of them as have the time to attend the funeral. They were all good to me in their own way, especially Bridget Flynn, who consoled me after I was bereaved."

I wish Uncle Bert was my real uncle . . .

A Defiant Iran Ignores Moscow

Adding insult to injury is what Moscow calls Iran's signing of a bilateral military aid agreement with the United States. The "injury" in Russian eyes was Iran's unilateral denunciation, on Monday, of key sections in the 1921 Iranian-Soviet treaty. Those sections gave Iran—which was Persia to our grandparents—the right to send troops into the Shah's country if Russia was threatened with aggression from that area.

The government at Tehran says those sections had become so out-of-date as to be meaningless. Anyhow, the "injury" before the latest one was Iran's refusal to talk turkey with a Soviet mission that had arrived on January 29 only to leave empty-handed on February 11.

Under the 1921 treaty Russia agreed to withdraw its troops from Iran and hand over Russian property there. A note from the Kremlin at the time explained that its right, under the treaty, to re-dispatch troops applied only in case the threatened aggression came from adherents of the old Czarist regime, whether these were (White) Russians or outsiders.

Six years later a section was added whereby each signatory agreed not to join any political alliance aimed at the other. It is this that Russia accuses Iran of violating by joining the Baghdad pact in 1955 and now making a separate military agreement with the United States.

Our new defense agreements with Iran (and with Pakistan and Turkey) are intended to make up for our refusal to join the Baghdad treaty. They are executive agreements which do not have to be submitted to the Senate. At the Karachi meeting of the Baghdad pact, January 26-28, the three Asian members wanted guaranties of U. S. protection from any quarter including an internal one. The United States would not go so far. The new defense agreements are against only outside Communist aggression. They thus, it is claimed, accord with the Eisenhower Doctrine endorsed by Congress in 1957.

So now, for a change, it is the Russians who have been "insulted" and "injured." Interesting.

These Days

A Great Teacher

A teacher is a person who can convey data, ideas, theories, facts to other persons in such a manner that what is said is clearly understood, is emotionally and intellectually received and is of advantage to the person who learns. Many persons who are teachers do not succeed in teaching. They open their mouths and words come out but the pupil is not receptive.

I was thinking about that as I listened to Leonard Bernstein teach children what music is. This is a program of the New York Philharmonic on the Columbia Broadcasting System. I always listen to this program when it is given because it is one of the most stimulating that is on the air. Also it is not disturbed by sponsors selling cigarets which I do not smoke or detergents which I do not use. It is educational, informative, delightful and unobstructed.

Leonard Bernstein is a truly valued teacher because he has the facility of making what he says understood and receivable. Everybody likes music except the morose and the tone deaf and music is expressed in many forms, from what the laity calls popular to classical. But truth to tell, music is music and for human beings, it is merely another form of expression, of conveying an emotion or a thought or even an ideal. Whether it is "76 Trombones" or the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" which I prefer to the Lohengrin one, it is saying in rhythm and sound what someone else might say in words or in paint or on a drawing-board.

The genius of Bernstein is that he is able to convey to youngsters that the music of Mozart or Bach is not to be disliked because it is called classical any more than high school children must dislike Shakespeare because it is taught in a class room. To make a child realize the why of anything is first rate teaching and when an adult approaches a new subject he is very much the child.

Bernstein is often called a "ham" which he undoubtedly is. So was Richard Mansfield and so was John Barrymore and they could play Hamlet so that one left the theater with a sense of participation.

Today, one often leaves the theater with a feeling that the evening was expensive. The best teacher I have ever known was Professor Charles A. Beard, who taught a gloomy subject nowadays called, government. Beard hammed, of course, but his students left with a bagful of ideas.

Hamming is a theatrical device employed to attract the attention of the listener and to emphasize the significance of the moment. Unquestionably, the greatest speech-writer the United States produced was Abraham Lincoln and his most significant work was the Gettysburg Address. He started it with the words, "Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition, etc., etc." Now suppose he had rejected hamming and said it simply, like politicians prefer today, look what he would have said:

"Eighty-seven years ago, the United States was founded by statesmen who believed in, etc., etc."

I have listened to many of the important orchestras during the past 40 years and have watched most of the great conductors. What is a conductor's function? Is it to keep time for his orchestra? Is it to teach men of the highest qualifications how to play? If that is his job, no first rate symphony orchestra needs a conductor. Quite apart from interpretation, it is the function of the conductor to lead the audience to the music, to stimulate an interest, an appreciation, an excitement over the music.

I recall when Serge Koussevitzky gave a Beethoven series at Tanglewood. The conductor there wears a gray cotton jacket and white trousers. It came to the Ninth. No Koussevitzky. The lights went on; the lights went off. Still no Koussevitzky. The audience became tense and anxious. Finally, he appeared in full dress, white tie, tails and all. The orchestra and audience rose to their feet. What might have been another concert became a tribute. Hamming? Of course. But it conveyed an idea that no words could express. This was the greatest.

When I was much younger, I resented Bernstein's hamming. But watching it on television with children in the audience, I realize that it is a great art, the art of making the mind receptive, the art of teaching.

Senator Albert Gore One Of Chief Beneficiaries Of Capitol Nepotism

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It's an ironic twist of fate that the man who replaced the chief enemy of nepotism in Congress is now one of the chief beneficiaries of nepotism on Capitol Hill. He is Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, one of the Democratic hopefuls for President.

Gore, when he first came to Washington twenty years ago, succeeded to the House vacancy left by Congressman John Ridley Mitchell of Tennessee who waged an unrelenting campaign against putting relatives on the public payroll. In 1952 he was elected Senator.

The relatives of Senator Gore are not published, first because the Senate payroll remains secret, second because Gore has placed some of his relatives in jobs outside Congress. To unearth Senatorial relatives The Associated Press has been asking Senators point blank for the names of wives, children, brothers, cousins, and aunts they have appointed to public office. So far this has produced more indignation than information.

However, though he doesn't publicize it, bright-eyed Albert Gore holds the unofficial record for Senate nepotism. He has probably taken care of more relatives at the taxpayers' expense than anyone else in the Senate, possibly than anyone else on Capitol Hill. Here is the roll-call of Gore relatives on the public payroll:

1. Mrs. Betty Gentry, a sister, who works for the Federal Trade Commission.

2. Christine Coggins, a niece, is on the Senator's own office payroll.

3. Joe Marks, a nephew, works in the Senate post office.

4. Mrs. Grace Keyes, another sister, also works in the Senate post office.

This last piece of nepotism took a little arranging. By the time his second sister came along looking for a job, he had run out of patronage except for a job as Senate guard. Ladies can't serve as guards, no matter whose sisters they may be; so the junior Senator from Tennessee arranged with another Senator to trade a guard's job for a post office job. Now he has two of his kinfolk in the Senate post office.

5. Finally the Senator secured a job for his 20-year-old daughter, Nancy, as a guide last year at the U. S. pavilion at the Brussels' Worlds Fair. She saved enough money, largely out of her earnings, to come home by way of Poland, Greece, Turkey, Pakistan, Hong Kong, Japan and Hawaii.

Mrs. Luce And Bolivia

Bolivian riots against Americans, inspired by Time magazine, will make it extremely difficult for Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, wife of the publisher of Time, to serve effectively in her new post as U. S. Ambassador to Brazil.

The reason is that the Luce family has been so closely tied up to the Eisenhower administration that when Time magazine suggests Bolivia be carved up among its neighbors, the idea is interpreted as having Eisenhower support.

It was Time's report that U. S. authorities believe Bolivia should be divided up between its neighbors, which incited Bolivian mobs to stone the American Embassy and U. S. Information Center in La Paz, and caused Americans to be evacuated to an army camp outside the city.

Mrs. Luce and her husband, Henry, are so close to the Eisenhower administration that John Foster Dulles gave Luce an exclusive article in Life magazine advocating the policy of brinkmanship, and many Latin Americans believe the Luces help to fix foreign policy. Together they contributed $30,875 to Ike's campaign in 1956. Mrs. Luce was the first woman ambassador in history to be appointed to a major ambassadorship—Italy; while C. D. Jackson, a top executive of the Time-Life-Fortune publishing empire, has served for some time on the White House staff. He is still called in by Ike for advice on important public relations matters.

The fact that the Luces have been stanch and consistent supporters of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is believed to be one reason for the five-year Eisenhower policy of supporting Chiang's ambition of retaking the Chinese mainland—a reversal of the Truman policy.

If Mrs. Luce takes her post as Ambassador to Brazil it would be a source of continued resentment to Bolivians. For Brazil has a long border adjacent to Bolivia, and the lowlands of Bolivia actually have much more unity, economically and geographically, with Brazil than with the 12,000-foot plateau of Bolivia.

Brazil and Bolivia have been living in peace for many years and there is no thought on Brazil's part of annexing any part of Bolivia. Nevertheless, the Bolivian population, about 90 per cent Indian, is highly emotional and deeply suspicious.

Actually the United States has done a great deal to unite the lowlands of Bolivia with the upper plateau. Sumner Welles, when Under Secretary of State, started a highway linking upper and lower Bolivia. This engineering miracle was finally finished during the Eisenhower administration, and this writer traveled over the highway with President Paz Estenssoro and Vice President Hernan Siles Zuavo, now President, when first dedicated in 1954.

At that time the crowds that lined the highway and gathered in the public squares of the chief cities were hailing Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, Assistant Secretary of State Henry Holland, and other Americans as heroes.

However, a volatile population can change overnight. And the crowds that once cheered the United States have now endangered the lives of Americans—following the ill-advised article in Time magazine.

Reds Busy Making Trouble In Latin America

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — And now it's trouble in Bolivia! Yesterday it was in Cuba, and before that in other Latin American countries where hostility against the United States was artificially intensified by the Communists.

Unfortunately, maneuvers of the Communists in the "cold war" are usually pooh-poohed by too many people in this country, despite bold propaganda operations that are obviously planned with care. When the anti-Nixon incidents occurred on the Vice President's tour of South America, it was conceded, of course, that an antagonism such as was manifested against the United States could readily have been brought into the open without the slightest stimulus by the Communists. But this was no reason to ignore the impetus given anti-American sentiment there or anywhere else in the world by the Communists.

It so happens that this week an article reporting an alleged remark by a minor American official was published in a magazine reaching Bolivia from the United States. The idea that a chance comment in a magazine, circulating a relatively small number of copies in that country, could produce a riot against the United States Embassy and cause the evacuation of its personnel is too fantastic to believe. Only an organized conspiracy by those malcontents with a desire to focus international attention on relations between the United States and an important South American country could have brought about the tragic episode.

The Bolivian Minister of the Interior, says a UPI dispatch, told newsmen that the attack on the American Embassy was led by a known Communist named Victor Villegas. He appealed to the Bolivian people for information about Villegas' whereabouts.

The other day in Congress, representative Daniel J. Flood of Pennsylvania, Democrat, declared that Communist influence is back of some of the demands being made by the government of Panama for an extension of its territorial waters which would adversely affect American rights in the Canal Zone. He said:

"Those in charge of the Communist movement in Latin America, and especially in the Caribbean area, have undoubtedly focused their conspiratorial activities on the Panama Canal with the purpose of causing destruction of amicable relations between the United States and Panama, with complete liquidation of United States control over the Canal itself."

Nor is Communist activity confined to any one part of the globe. It is noticeable just now in Africa, where fuel is being added to the flames of nationalism. It is operative also in the Far East. A few days ago a United Press International dispatch dated Manila said:

"The Foreign Office warned yesterday it has received reports pointing to 'growing infiltration' by Communists among the Philippine student population.

"Foreign Secretary Serrano conveyed the warning to Rep. Lenardo Perez, chairman of the House Committee on Anti-Filipino Activities, and told him to put his committee 'on alert.'"

The pattern of students infiltration is worldwide. In Latin America, in particular, many of the anti-American demonstrations have originated in the colleges. To plant young leaders who will use any provocation to work up passionate outbursts is a relatively easy device. It has been revealed in Cuba in the so-called "youth movement." While the top officials there vehemently deny that the Communists have anything to do with the Fidel Castro regime, it is an open secret in Havana that the Communists are busy causing mischief wherever they can in the little republic which is struggling to recover from the ill effects of the Batista dictatorship.

In the Middle East the Communist plotters have been more successful than anywhere else. Everyone who has watched the situation in Egypt is aware that the Communists have played an active part there in anti-Western demonstrations. The Nasser government, which at first welcomed such supporters, now is troubled by them. Iraq is an example of a successful conquest by the Communists of a country which until recently was one of America's staunchest friends.

Despite the denunciations of anything that even remotely resembles an intervention in their own domestic affairs, the Soviets are spending hundreds of millions of dollars fomenting internal trouble inside many of the countries sympathetic with the West.

In the United States, the effects of some of the insidious operations by Communists are more and more noticeable. Having won many a big battle in the courts through the aid of legal technicalities, the Communists have continued to plant their propaganda in important places and among groups which are gullible and naive, thus enlarging the scope of the Soviet propaganda drive.

Sooner or later the American people will come to realize that the Communists are succeeding in their infiltration of many countries and are dangerously impairing the relations between the United States and peoples in different parts of the world who normally would be very friendly to the people of this country. It's a significant type of fighting in what has been misnamed the "cold war."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

A new note of caution is creeping into business forecasts and prospects being made by government and private economists and business leaders.

There is frequent reiteration of the theme that recovery from the recession shows signs of slowing down, and cautionary advice against over-optimistic interpretation of statistics. Some economists emphasize that current indexes of industrial production, corporate earnings and dividend payments are being compared with those of a year ago, near the bottom of the recession. They stress that while these comparisons look good, one must go back to two and three, and even four years ago to get an accurate comparative picture of the economic situation.

Then, others stress, continuing high unemployment is worrisome, and unless this part of the economic picture corrects itself in the next few months, it could become a considerable drag on the pace of the national economy for the balance of 1959.

New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who only a few short months ago looked like the white hope of the Republican Party in 1960, is undergoing a confidence-shaking experience in Albany these days.

Rockefeller, in his effort to build a record as a state administrator in advance of the Presidential conventions in 1960, took the "hard" road of demanding New York state tax increases to balance his budget.

The public backlash has been much more severe than either he or his advisors anticipated. Many who voted for him are openly expressing disillusionment, and this is also being reflected in the Republican-controlled state legislature, where he is having a tough time putting his tax proposals across.

But his advisors insist this is the only course open to him, that this is the bad time, and once the tax increases have been put through and digested, he will rise again as an outstanding contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

Measles Cases Multiply In Three-Year Cycles

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Measles comes in three year cycles and usually there are 60 per cent more cases in a measles year than in a nonmeasles year. Even though 1958 was a peak year, the malady cannot be disregarded until 1961 because outcrops will occur even though the total number of victims will not be great. In 1957, for example, there were 410 deaths from this disease.

Measles is more contagious than any other disease. If any susceptible persons are in the vicinity of the sufferer, it is a good bet they will get it. March, April and May are the favored months.

The incubation period varies from 10 to 14 days. The youngster becomes lethargic and irritable, and has no desire to play. The mother is likely to suspect a cold, especially when the tot's temperature rises and he starts sneezing and coughing.

The eyes become puffy, swollen, and red. On the second day the telltale Koplik's spots appear on the inner cheeks. These lesions look like white sand sprinkled on a red background. If the mother looks and finds them she can predict the appearance of the rash within 36 hours.

Meanwhile, fever may increase to 104 degrees F. On the third day a reddish brown rash breaks out behind the ears or on the forehead and cheeks. It spreads downward slowly to involve the trunk, arms and legs.

The eruption may itch and burn but in general the victim feels better after it breaks out, even though he looks more uncomfortable than Job with his boils. This stage is less contagious than the pre-eruption interval. Cough may continue for a week or two but complete healing usually follows unless complications develop.

The child with measles should be kept in bed, especially when he is coughing hard and his temperature is elevated. The room is darkened only when the eyes are sensitive to light. There is no specific remedy but the physician usually prescribes medicine to ease coughing and itching.

At the time of this writing there is no effective vaccine to protect children against measles but scientists are working at it. Meanwhile, gamma globulin may help a susceptible child who has been exposed.

IS THE I. Q. CONSTANT?

Mrs. R. writes: Does the I. Q. ever change—that is, if tests show a high rating in childhood, will it remain this way for life?

REPLY

The I. Q. measures the capacity for learning. It usually rises until age 15 and remains constant until 25. It then begins to decline, and by age 60 it runs age 12. A different type of test is used with adults.

FATS IN THE DIET

F. G. writes: Is it necessary to use vegetable fats in the meals if animal fats are eliminated?

REPLY

Not necessarily but it is wise if you want to maintain a balanced diet. Much depends upon why animal fats are being restricted.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A neighbor went to a venerable Turkish landowner one day to ask for the loan of a donkey. The landowner explained he had loaned his donkey to somebody else. The donkey, however, chose that moment to bray loudly in his stall. "You should be ashamed to lie at your age!" exclaimed the neighbor angrily. "Your own donkey testifies against you."

The landowner replied disdainfully, "I refuse to argue with a person who gives greater credence to the braying of a donkey than to the words of a fellow-man!"

Another neighbor approached the same doughty Turk with, "I understand, my friend, that you have vinegar which is 40 years old. Will you please let me have some?"

"Sorry," said the Turk, "you see, it wouldn't be 40 years old if I kept giving it away all the time."

A Waterloo, Ia., squirrel likes doughnuts so well he pilfers them from an outdoor bakery display. So far, we hear, he hasn't developed a taste for coffee.

With four separate expeditions trying to track the Abominable Snowman down in his Himalayan lair, we'd say things are getting pretty warm for this deep-freeze monster.

Potatoes And Ham With Cheese Sauce

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 cup milk
½ cup thinly shaved process cheese
2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 cup diced ham

Melt butter or margarine and blend in flour and seasonings.

Add milk slowly and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and add cheese.

Put alternate layers of potatoes and ham in a greased baking dish. Pour cheese sauce over the top.

Cover and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 30 minutes. Remove cover and bake 10 minutes longer.

Cooking Tip! Add Pickles

Pickles have long been known as the tidbit foods that make simple salads and sandwiches taste so much better. Even Cleopatra is said to have considered them a royal treat.

But using pickles as an ingredient in main dishes is comparatively new. More than 60 million gallons of pickles will be eaten in this country during the year. And a surprising number of these will, no doubt, be used in cooking.

Many otherwise bland dishes take on entirely new character and flavor with the addition of a little chopped pickle.

Consider these possibilities:

Add a half cup of coarsely chopped dills to beef hash or meat loaf when you're mixing the ingredients.

Give bread dressing for fowl or pork roast a lift by adding one fourth cup or so of minced sweet gherkins.

Coarsely chop any tart pickle, or garlic dill and stir into a creamed or buttered vegetable just before serving.

Add finely chopped pickles to butter or cream sauce used on baked or broiled fish. It lends a subtle dash of tang.

Peanut Marguerites — Beat egg white until stiff; sweeten slightly with 1 tablespoon sugar; fold in 1 cup chopped peanuts; spread on saltine crackers and brown in hot oven.

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Dear Friends:

MARYLAND'S SHARE—Whenever I refer to the need for Congress to hold the line on spending, the need for our living within our income as a nation, some meticulous citizen calls my attention to my reporting with obvious pride the Federal expenditures in Maryland. I do not believe there is any conflict here. I am against all unnecessary spending, and, at the same time, I like to reassure my constituents that, whenever Uncle Sam starts handing out funds for projects, Maryland gets her rightful share.

UNCLE SAM, A BUSINESS PARTNER—Numerous bills introduced in the Congress seem aimed at business, notwithstanding the fact that the Government must depend upon business for its livelihood. Apropos is an editorial which appears in the Kent County (Maryland) News:

"What would you think of a senior partner, drawing his living from a business, who did everything he could think of to assure that the business couldn't run at a profit and serve its customers? The United States Government is the senior partner of every large and medium sized business in the land—taking as its share 52 percent of the earnings. That's a good part of Uncle Sam's total income. The rest of the income is derived from the wages and profits others make out of the operations of business, including farming. Yet, rather than encouraging business to produce all this revenue for the Government, . . . business has been subjected to all sorts of hampering legislation, with threats of more to come. Tax laws have been arranged so as to discourage the formation of new businesses and the expansion of existing ones. . . . Business, it has been said, is the people. And government is the people, too. Can it be that we've all been fooled into taking a great roundhouse swing at our own jaw?"

VOLUNTARY WEATHER OBSERVERS — Secretary of Commerce Lewis L. Strauss, whose appointment, incidentally, is now up for confirmation in the Senate, has reported that the Weather Bureau has 21 voluntary observers who have taken observations daily for more than 50 years. This includes two citizens of Maryland, D. Paul Oswald, 73, of Hagerstown, and Ralph E. Weber, 72, of Oakland. The Bureau now has a nationwide corps of 7,000 men and women who take and record weather observations every day of the year, including Sundays and holidays, without any compensation whatsoever.

MARYLAND TOBACCO EXPORTED—The first trade agreement under Public Law 480, recently enacted, provides for the export of 6,100,000 pounds of tobacco valued at $6,750,000.00. There will follow other agreements which will favorably affect the Maryland tobacco market. Under previous arrangements, Maryland tobacco, in sizable quantity, is being sold to Switzerland cigaret manufacturers.

MARYLAND GROWERS VOTE "NO"—Under Congressional authority, a referendum of Maryland tobacco growers was held this past week, and, as a result, marketing quotas and price support will not be in effect during the coming year. The vote was close. Of 4,779 Maryland tobacco growers who took part in the referendum, 3,062, or slightly under the necessary two-thirds, voted for marketing quotas, while 1,717 voted "No."

LET'S SHOW THE RUSSIANS —Under authority deriving from the Congress, and by reciprocal agreement with the U.S.S.R., our Government and private industry are jointly preparing an American Exhibition in Moscow. Several million Soviet citizens will have the opportunity to see with their own eyes some things about the United States. According to plans, the categories of the exhibit will be: America learns (education), America explores (science and research), America creates (art), America travels, and America plays.

Much of this parallels aspects of the Soviet Union, and, it seems to me, there is not enough of what sets life in America apart from life in the U.S.S.R. I believe our display should have one category devoted to how the American people govern themselves —say, an exciting documentary film portraying some of the incidents and events in American history which illustrate the distinguishing aspects of our way of life.

DULLES APPRECIATED BY CRITICS—Despite what two Senators are saying, the illness of John Foster Dulles, a truly great American, has brought out the fact that his services as Secretary of State are appreciated by nearly everyone, including most of his critics. It is ironical that he had to work himself into the hospital to receive recognition as the West's foremost statesman.

Events are proving that Mr. Dulles was right in his stoical resistance to the insidious propaganda of those who would seek peace at any price. That's why there has come, at last, a true appreciation of his services, just as he faces the possibility of tragic months ahead in fighting cancer.

"SECURITY WITHIN OURSELVES"—At a time when nearly all of our legislative thought and effort are affected by the cold war, it is refreshing to read the philosophic words of a wise Russian. Boris Pasternak, the author who was frowned upon in his own country for his novel exposing Communist life in Russia, says that we (the human race) must discover security within ourselves, that we are "the guests of existence."

"We must find our own insights into our relationship with the existence in which we participate so briefly," he says, continuing:

"This means a departure from the materialistic view of the 19th century. It means a reawakening of the spiritual world, of our inner life . . ."

The Family's Favorite Cooky Treat

There are very few that don't occasionally enjoy munching on a cooky treat accompanied by either a glass of milk or hot chocolate. From the lunch box carriers to the busy breadwinner, freshly baked sugar cookies are almost irresistible.

These Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies are actually so taste-tempting, that there are very few — youngsters or oldsters — who won't enjoy this baked specialty.

As in preparing pies or cakes, cookies just don't happen. Careful planning and preparation are needed. A good shortening is always an asset in preparing baked products. In this case, lard is the recommended one. Lard, as you may already know, is advocated because of its great "shortening power."

Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies

3¾ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
1 cup lard
1⅔ cups sugar
3 eggs
3 tablespoons milk

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, nutmeg and cloves. Cream lard and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add 1 cup of sifted ingredients to creamed mixture. Stir in milk. Add remaining sifted ingredients. Roll out dough to ¼ inch thickness. Cut out and sprinkle with sugar. Place on a greased cooky sheet and bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Try Golden Rice Pudding With Hot Cherry Sauce

This golden rice pudding is a special delight when it's served with a red cherry sauce. It's one of the best rice pudding recipes so you'll be having it over and over again.

Make the sauce and pudding early in the day. Then heat the sauce at the last minute so it will be bubbly hot.

Molded Vegetable Salad
Hot Cherry Sauce
on Golden Pudding

INGREDIENTS FOR PUDDING:

⅔ cup uncooked white rice
1⅓ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon beet or cane sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

INGREDIENTS FOR SAUCE:

1, No. 2 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) red, sour pitted cherries
2 tablespoons corn starch
⅓ cup granulated sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt

METHOD FOR PREPARING PUDDING: Put the rice, water and 1 teaspoon of the salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid. Simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

Mix together the rice, milk, eggs, sugar and vanilla. Pour into a greased 1½ quart glass baking dish. Place the baking dish in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a 350° F. oven for about 1 hour or until a silver knife comes out clean when it is inserted into the center of the pudding. Some moisture will be absorbed as the pudding cools.

METHOD FOR PREPARING THE CHERRY SAUCE: Thoroughly drain the juice from the cherries into a saucepan. Add a small amount of this juice to the corn starch. Mix to form a thin paste. Pour this paste into the saucepan. Cook over a low heat, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens. Stir in the sugar and salt. Add the cherries and heat. If desired, add red food coloring to make the sauce a brighter red.

Serve warm over servings of the pudding.

This recipe makes 6 servings.

Bake Your Own White Bread

1 package dry granular yeast
1 cup warm water
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons sugar
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup lukewarm water
6½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ tablespoons shortening, melted and cooled to lukewarm

Add yeast to lukewarm water and let stand. Scald milk and add sugar, salt, and 1 cup warm water. Stir and cool to lukewarm and then add yeast solution. Add half the flour gradually, mix thoroughly, stir in shortening and add remaining flour. Turn out dough on floured board. Knead about ten minutes until dough is smooth. Shape into ball, place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until dough doubles in bulk. After this divide dough into two portions, shape into loaves and place in greased bread pans. Cover and let rise again until double in bulk. Brush loaf tops with melted butter. Bake at 400 degrees F. for approximately 50 minutes.

Cooking Tip! Add Pickles

Pickles have long been known as the tidbit foods that make simple salads and sandwiches taste so much better. Even Cleopatra is said to have considered them a royal treat.

But using pickles as an ingredient in main dishes is comparatively new. More than 60 million gallons of pickles will be eaten in this country during the year. And a surprising number of these will, no doubt, be used in cooking.

Many otherwise bland dishes take on entirely new character and flavor with the addition of a little chopped pickle.

Consider these possibilities:

Add a half cup of coarsely chopped dills to beef hash or meat loaf when you're mixing the ingredients.

Give bread dressing for fowl or pork roast a lift by adding one fourth cup or so of minced sweet gherkins.

Coarsely chop any tart pickle, or garlic dill and stir into a creamed or buttered vegetable just before serving.

Add finely chopped pickles to butter or cream sauce used on baked or broiled fish. It lends a subtle dash of tang.

Peanut Marguerites — Beat egg white until stiff; sweeten slightly with 1 tablespoon sugar; fold in 1 cup chopped peanuts; spread on saltine crackers and brown in hot oven.

Dear Friends:

MARYLAND'S SHARE—Whenever I refer to the need for Congress to hold the line on spending, the need for our living within our income as a nation, some meticulous citizen calls my attention to my reporting with obvious pride the Federal expenditures in Maryland. I do not believe there is any conflict here. I am against all unnecessary spending, and, at the same time, I like to reassure my constituents that, whenever Uncle Sam starts handing out funds for projects, Maryland gets her rightful share.

UNCLE SAM, A BUSINESS PARTNER—Numerous bills introduced in the Congress seem aimed at business, notwithstanding the fact that the Government must depend upon business for its livelihood. Apropos is an editorial which appears in the Kent County (Maryland) News:

"What would you think of a senior partner, drawing his living from a business, who did everything he could think of to assure that the business couldn't run at a profit and serve its customers? The United States Government is the senior partner of every large and medium sized business in the land—taking as its share 52 percent of the earnings. That's a good part of Uncle Sam's total income. The rest of the income is derived from the wages and profits others make out of the operations of business, including farming. The Big Top Is Gone

CHARLESTON, W.Va.

I've been spending the last couple of days with the circus — the new, streamlined, no-tent circus. Well, the smells haven't changed, anyhow. As a matter of fact, a lot of things haven't changed — the camaraderie, the life at close quarters, the backstage card games, the bustle and movement and tinsel, the crowds, the clowns, the animals.

It's a great life — the circus. It must be or why would so many people be so hopelessly committed to it? Certainly not for the money. Those young ladies who dangle from the ropes in the big spectacular numbers and just walk around the ring in feathers and spangles in the parade numbers get a hundred bucks a week. Everything — their hotels and meals and clothes — has got to come out of that. Everything except transportation. Ringling Brothers gives them a mileage allowance and they can go by train or pogo stick for all Ringling Brothers cares.

A far cry from the old days when the circus train carried them all — elephants and high wire girls — from town to town; when they lived in circus wagons and ate circus-cooked meals. The circus was the last of the feudal domains — sufficient unto itself, each man doing his job in return for which was the absolute security of bed and board and companionship. Today, they're in hotels and motorcars — like the rest of us. A great step backwards into the present.

Why do they do it? I think danger has its own lure. Ask a circus man what is the most dangerous act, not only in this circus but in any of them and he will tell you it is the high wire act of Al Alanza. He walks up the wire on his toes doing his act without guy wires or net (except in New York where a net is required by law), and then skips rope. A compact, little Englishman who seems to be one solid muscle, he worked for years on a low wire. The difference between the low and the high — same wire, same everything — is fear and that is a tremendous difference in itself. "The day I moved the wire to thirty feet, I was terrified. It is a different psychology altogether when you are on the high wire and your muscles behave differently." It's a wow of an act built of his fear and the fear of an audience.

Wauhilla La Hay, the Indian maiden down here fronting for Kenyon and Eckhardt, will never miss it. Wherever she is, when Al Alanza is introduced, she dashes to the arena muttering: "I can't miss Alanza." But once he leaves the ground, she buries her head in her arms and refuses to look up during his hazardous maneuvering on that wire. It's a strange, strange attraction both for performer and audience, a communion of fear, not much different from the lure that brings the crowds to the bullfights in Spain.

The word psychology takes quite a kicking around in a circus. I had a chat with Otto Griebling, the sadfaced clown, a veteran of forty-six years of circus life: "I fight the audience. I don't want laughs. When they laugh, I get angry and the angrier I get the more they laugh. It's the psychology of the thing."

Griebling is an adult clown, whose stuff is aimed mostly at grown-ups. "I do a little fine stuff," he'll tell you in his German accent, using the word fine in the sense of finely-spun or small-grained. "You know with expressions. I go pretty deep with clowning."

"We miss the big tent," Jeanne Ferroni, the small chunky trapeze artist told me. Jeanne's been with the circus since babyhood and she's known no other life. "My mother was a flyer. My father was a catcher. My aunt was a leaper. I never thought of being in the act, though. I was scared to death. Then one day I looked up and I don't know what happened. Next thing I knew I was a flyer too."

She and her Spanish husband, also with the circus, now travel from spot to spot in a trailer with their children, a little girl and boy. (The girl already likes to swing on bars.)

"Until we got the trailer we lived in motels. Most of them do. It's not like the old days when we lived under the big top. Then you got to know everyone. Everyone was always practicing and you got to know people. People don't get to know one another like the old days. We don't even get acquainted with the performers from Europe any more. I sure miss the big tent."

An hour of the new circus will be seen on television Monday, March 9 (7:30 to 8:30 p.m.) on ABC-TV.

Spareribs Take Kindly To Glaze

A patio picnic seems out of style at this time of year but there's no reason why you can't keep a few good suggestions filed away for approaching summer festivities.

In fact, this suggestion can be tried now for family approval.

Barbecued spareribs are usually a well-liked pork dish . . . a meal that can be classified as finger food. Instead of the barbecue sauce, however, an apricot glaze is applied to these spareribs.

In some cases . . . Apricot Glazed Spareribs might appeal to more people than the nippy flavor of the barbecue sauce.

Apricot Glazed Spareribs

2 to 3 pounds spareribs
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Have the spareribs sawed across the rib bones so individual servings may be carved easily after cooking. Place ribs, rib ends down, on a rack in a baking pan. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Season with salt and pepper. Continue baking uncovered 45 minutes. Combine apricot preserves and lemon juice. Spread over spareribs and bake 30 minutes longer, or until spareribs are done and glaze is set. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

The Fragrance Of Coffee Has A Way With The Men

John Van Druten once said, "I think if I were a woman, I'd wear coffee as a perfume." And the British dramatist may have had a point! After all, the robust aroma of freshly brewed coffee has tantalized men for centuries.

Of course, women have not been ignorant of the powers of fragrant coffee either. Perhaps they have not seen fit to wear it, but, nonetheless, they have always known its importance. For example, they use the aroma of coffee skillfully to lure the family out of bed on frosty mornings!

However, there are still some things most of us don't know about coffee's fragrance. For instance, the flavor of coffee in the cup depends largely on the aroma in the cup. In other words, if the aroma is lost, the flavor is also lost! The secret of attaining a pleasant aroma is in the way it is brewed. The fact is that coffee must be brewed properly in order to capture the precious fragrance and flavor in the cup, where it counts.

Proper brewing is a simple matter . . . and here are some easy do's and don'ts for making a full-flavored and fragrant brew.

1. Always use at least three-quarters capacity of your coffee maker. If you want fewer cups, use a smaller maker. And be sure that the coffee maker is soap-and-water clean!

2. Use enough coffee. (After all, this is the source of flavor and fragrance!) For each serving of average-strength coffee use this ratio of coffee to water: 1 standard coffee measure (or 2 level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to each ¾ of a measuring cup (6 ounces) of fresh, cold water.

3. Time your coffee accurately—to avoid overbrewing. Use the following directions for each type of coffee maker:

Percolator—percolate over low heat from 6 to 8 minutes, no longer.

Vacuum — hold brewing coffee in upper bowl no more than 3 minutes.

Drip — pour in boiling water; it should go through the coffee in 4 to 6 minutes; stir before serving.

4. Again, do not overbrew your coffee . . . and never let it boil. If you do, it will become bitter.

5. Serve coffee as soon as it's brewed . . . if you must hold it, keep it over a very low heat. Never reheat it.

6. Despite Mr. Van Druten's advice, don't wear coffee as a perfume. Just make it hot and strong for the man of the house. It will have the same effect — he'll come a'running!

Peanut Cream Mix — Put ¼ cup shelled fresh roasted peanuts through grinder; mince ¼ cup seeded olives; add combined olive and nut mixture to 1 pound cream cheese; spread on strips of toast or salty crackers.

Glamour In Cherry-Nut Cake

When a holiday or a special personal day rolls around, treat the family or the honored guest to the most precious of all culinary gifts — a glamorous layer cake delightfully bedecked with a creamy frosting.

For any special March occasions in your home, plan on preparing this Cherry-Nut Cake as the day's culinary wonder.

In the words of an expert in the home economics field a cake just doesn't make itself. There is a bit of talent and culinary know-how that is all part of the project. The shortening (lard) used in this baked product is an important ingredient — probably "the most important."

Cherry-Nut Cake

3 cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 bottle (8 ounces) maraschino cherries
Water
¾ cup lard
1½ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract
¾ cup chopped walnuts
4 egg whites

Line two 9-inch cake pans with waxed paper. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Drain cherries, reserving juice. Add water to cherry juice to make 1 cup liquid. Chop cherries. Cream lard. Add sugar gradually. Add 3 tablespoons cherry liquid and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add sifted ingredients alternately with remaining liquid, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Add vanilla, almond extract, nuts and cherries. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold into cake batter. Pour batter into pans and bake in a moderate oven (350°F) for 25 minutes. Cool and frost with Fluffy White Frosting.

Fluffy White Frosting.

1 cup sugar
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
3 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients except vanilla. Place in top of double boiler over boiling water and beat continuously until light and fluffy. Add vanilla and spread on cake.

Meat Pie

Put hot meat stew in a baking dish. Top with hot or cold mashed potatoes. If cold mashed potatoes are used, moisten potatoes first with hot milk and beat until fluffy.

Bake uncovered in a hot oven (400°F.) until potatoes are lightly browned and heated through.

Irish Treats For Your St. Patrick Day Party

Whether you are Irish as Kilarney or just looking for a good excuse for a bit of festivity, St. Patrick's Day is a good day for a party. And since it's always fun to serve your after-dinner guests something unusual, why not Irish-type coffee and Shamrock Bites? And to round out the Irish theme, use a box of assorted chocolates, shamrock-shaped, for a centerpiece. Pass the candies with the Irish-type coffee for a sweet to balance the tangy flavor of the ham-and-cheese bites.

Irish-Type Rum Coffee
(Makes 4 servings)

4 cups strong coffee
¼ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¾ teaspoon rum extract

Combine coffee and sugar; mix well. Combine cream and rum extract; blend. Serve coffee topped with rum whipped cream.

Shamrock Biscuit Bites
(Makes 2 dozen)

2 cups biscuit mix
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¾ cup heavy cream
1 4½-ounce can deviled ham
6 slices process American Cheese, quartered

Mix biscuit mix, garlic powder and cream thoroughly. Knead gently 8 to 10 times on lightly floured surface. Roll out to ½-inch thickness. Cut into 2 dozen shamrocks with floured 2½-inch cutter. Arrange on greased baking sheets. Bake in hot oven (425°) 12 minutes, or until lightly browned. Spread with deviled ham and top with cheese. Broil 3 inches from source of heat 1 minute, or until cheese melts.

Irish-Type Brandy Coffee
(Makes 4 servings)

4 cups strong hot coffee
¼ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1½ teaspoons brandy extract

Combine coffee and sugar; mix well. Combine cream and brandy extract; blend. Serve coffee topped with brandy whipped cream.

Potatoes And Ham

2 cups thinly sliced raw potatoes
1 tablespoon grated onion
1½ cups hot milk
½ pound thinly sliced ham, cut in serving pieces
Pepper
Salt

Put half of the potatoes into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with half the onion, pepper, and a little salt; use the salt sparingly.

Add ham. Cover with rest of potatoes, seasonings, and onion.

Add milk until it barely shows between the potato slices on top. Save the rest of the milk to add during cooking if needed.

Cover dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour.

Remove the cover the last 15 or 20 minutes to allow potatoes to brown on top.

Cottage Cheese Adds Moistness To Scallop

Cream style cottage cheese gives the nicest results in this delicate scallop. The cheese imparts moistness.

Because it contains noodles, you might serve the scallop in place of potatoes for dinner or make it the main dish at lunch.

Noodle Cottage Cheese Scallop
(Eight servings)

4 cups wide noodles
¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon celery seed
2 cups milk
1 pound cottage cheese
Paprika

Cook noodles until tender in boiling salted water. Drain well. Cook onion and green pepper in butter 5 minutes. Stir in flour, salt, celery seed. Slowly add milk; cook until thickened. Fold in cottage cheese. Combine noodles and sauce; pour into a buttered 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes.

Bake cookies for St. Patrick's Day in the shape of shamrocks, clay pipes and St. Paddy's hat. To decorate, sprinkle unbaked cookies with green sugar or frost after baking with green icing. Another decorating idea calls for green gumdrops. Slice gumdrops and arrange slices to form a shamrock on each cookie.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

More On Dawdling

The fashion these days, in some quarters, is to ridicule as pure absurdity the importance of sound fiscal policies or a balanced budget on the part of our Government. Those who work for economic stability to check the mad rush toward a national calamity are said to be "dawdling." In these same quarters, Walter Reuther's call for a labor march on Washington to stampede the Congress into enacting doubtful spending and welfare programs without regard for the consequential impact upon the steadily mounting federal debt is given much notoriety.

To these economic quacksalvers, several latter-day developments are deserving of special emphasis. It is a matter of unfortunate public record that our government was recently unable to borrow money on long-term bonds, that to meet current commitments it was obliged to resort to short-term, expensive and inflationary borrowing. What say these self-appointed economic saviors to this sad situation in which the most powerful country in the world finds itself?

And what say they to the deplorable financial condition confronting Michigan and New York? While New York woefully seeks new avenues of tax revenue, Michigan, as a result of excessive spending and governmental paternalism, ran out of cash — banks would no longer extend credit to state institutions. A crisis of major proportion was avoided only by private business agreeing to pay its taxes sooner than required. Glaringly, the chief architect of Michigan's fiscal eclipse, Walter Reuther, did not offer any of his AFL-CIO or UAW bounty to save the day.

What say these wastrels of the nation's wealth, stamina and resources to the conditions which exist in the "welfare states" of Northern Europe—Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Finland? As taxes and unemployment increased, many people in these Nordic countries became less and less enchanted with socialistic schemes. Expensive pension plans, allowances for children, food subsidies and other "cradle-to-grave" programs were either abandoned or reduced. Truly a setback for socialism and governmental paternalism!

These economic demagogues who preach that we need not limit governmental spending might take heed. And, Mr. Reuther might offset some of his loud rantings by pointing out to his members and the American people that the situation became so serious last fall in Sweden that a union-owned newspaper carried this unprecedented headline — "We Need Lower Wages," suggesting that, at times, more jobs and greater productivity rather than higher wages are essential to economic recovery and stability.

Scalloped Onions And Peanuts — Cook the onions first, or use canned cooked onions; arrange diced, or tiny whole cooked, onions in baking dish; add a layer of chopped peanuts; add 1 cup cream of mushroom soup, condensed and undiluted; top with guttered crumbs and bake in moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Kessel Says State Income Tax Could Save Money For Mineral Co. Workers

CHARLESTON—(Special)—A controversial House-passed state income tax bill could actually result in a substantial tax reduction for hundreds of Mineral countians, Del. Joe Bill Kessel (R-Mineral) has disclosed.

"Charleston papers have reported, however, that the measure has been killed by a Senate Committee," he commented.

The veteran legislator pointed out that nearly half of Mineral County's working force is employed in the state of Maryland.

They commute daily from their West Virginia homes to large industrial plants across the state line.

"These West Virginians are now subject to a three per cent gross income tax imposed by Maryland," Kessel pointed out.

He said the Maryland tax is "many times larger" than the proposed West Virginia tax, which calls for workers to pay four per cent of the amount they paid in federal income taxes the preceding year.

"I was able, in spite of some opposition, to get an amendment tacked onto the income tax bill that would exclude these West Virginians from paying the Maryland tax," the Keyser High School teacher noted.

"Otherwise many Mineral County residents would have paid two state income taxes which would have been grossly unjust," he continued.

Del. Kessel said according to provisions of the House Bill revenue produced from the tax would be distributed to public schools, higher education, state institutions and hospitals, and public welfare funds.

The delegate had telephoned Maryland's Secretary of State for a copy of the Maryland Act prior to House action on the income tax measure. A study of the Maryland measure revealed a provision for a reciprocal arrangement for the two states.

"They will exempt West Virginians from paying the Maryland tax if our act would exempt Marylanders from paying the West Virginia tax."

The reciprocity clause was included in the Mineral County delegate's amendment.

"A number of Mineral countians would be in the unusual position of standing to save money through the passage of a state income tax," he observed.

315 Mineral County Members Observe National 4-H Week

KEYSER—This is National 4-H Club Week—February 28-March 7, according to James E. Miller, county agent. There are 315 young people in Mineral County observing this week with nearly 32,000 other West Virginia 4-H'ers and over 2,201,500 Four-H Club members in the United States.

As in the democracy in which they live, 4-H'ers themselves largely run their clubs, elect their officers, help plan and hold their meetings, and select their projects. Each club drafts its own programs to suit its members and their localities.

To guide these 4-H'ers, thousands of public-spirited men and women, mostly parents, serve as unpaid volunteer local leaders. Some of these are older club members or youths who assist as junior leaders. These leaders are trained, counseled, and assisted by county agricultural agents, who have available the vast stores of scientific knowledge in the state land-grant colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Leaders advise and encourage 4-H'ers in planning and carrying out projects, attend meetings, visit members to see how projects are getting along, offer suggestions where needed, and accompany members to club events outside their community.

Date Is Set For Centennial At Harpers Ferry

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—The centennial observance of the famous John Brown raid has been set for Oct. 12-18.

The date was set Thursday by Mayor William F. Ramey and the Harpers Ferry Area Foundation.

It will be just 100 years since the bearded John Brown, a Kansas abolitionist who believed he was an "instrument of God to liberate all slaves," seized the government arsenal here. He later was driven out, tried, convicted of treason and hanged.

This town, where the Shenandoah and Potomac meet, was established in 1747, when Robert Harper set up a ferry service. George Washington, when he was president, selected the site for a government arsenal. President Thomas Jefferson, on a visit here, called the view from one of the overhanging rocks a view worth a trip across the Atlantic.

Much of the town is being developed as a national park.

Mineral Education Association Urges Vote FOR School Levy

KEYSER—Every three years the voters of Mineral County have been going to the polls to vote on a special levy. Through this levy the county has been receiving $97,000 yearly for school purposes. Citizens vote again on this levy today. This time the amount to be voted on is $208,000. The increase is for school purposes in Mineral County and will be used for removing fire hazards, building improvements, building construction and teachers salaries.

The Mineral County Teachers Association, yesterday, urged all citizens to go to the polls and vote for this school levy so that needs can be met. Other groups interested in a better school system and better educational opportunities have also urged a favorable referendum.

The teachers association yesterday said in part :

"If this levy should fail, our schools will not only lose the proposed increase of $111,000, but will also lose the $97,000 which we are receiving at the present time through the levy passed three years ago.

"If this happens, building improvements and building construction will have to stop and teachers will leave Mineral County to teach in other states where they can earn a living wage.

"Ho ware our schools to be improved and maintained unless we are willing to pay for them? Remember, this money is to be used for the benefit of your children. A vote FOR the levy is a vote, not only for our schools and the community, but a vote for the boys and girls who are to be tomorrow's citizens."

Kessel Says State Income Tax Could Save Money For Mineral Co. Workers

CHARLESTON—(Special)—A controversial House-passed state income tax bill could actually result in a substantial tax reduction for hundreds of Mineral countians, Del. Joe Bill Kessel (R-Mineral) has disclosed.

"Charleston papers have reported, however, that the measure has been killed by a Senate Committee," he commented.

The veteran legislator pointed out that nearly half of Mineral County's working force is employed in the state of Maryland.

They commute daily from their West Virginia homes to large industrial plants across the state line.

"These West Virginians are now subject to a three per cent gross income tax imposed by Maryland," Kessel pointed out.

He said the Maryland tax is "many times larger" than the proposed West Virginia tax, which calls for workers to pay four per cent of the amount they paid in federal income taxes the preceding year.

"I was able, in spite of some opposition, to get an amendment tacked onto the income tax bill that would exclude these West Virginians from paying the Maryland tax," the Keyser High School teacher noted.

"Otherwise many Mineral County residents would have paid two state income taxes which would have been grossly unjust," he continued.

Del. Kessel said according to provisions of the House Bill revenue produced from the tax would be distributed to public schools, higher education, state institutions and hospitals, and public welfare funds.

The delegate had telephoned Maryland's Secretary of State for a copy of the Maryland Act prior to House action on the income tax measure. A study of the Maryland measure revealed a provision for a reciprocal arrangement for the two states.

"They will exempt West Virginians from paying the Maryland tax if our act would exempt Marylanders from paying the West Virginia tax."

The reciprocity clause was included in the Mineral County delegate's amendment.

"A number of Mineral countians would be in the unusual position of standing to save money through the passage of a state income tax," he observed.

315 Mineral County Members Observe National 4-H Week

KEYSER—This is National 4-H Club Week—February 28-March 7, according to James E. Miller, county agent. There are 315 young people in Mineral County observing this week with nearly 32,000 other West Virginia 4-H'ers and over 2,201,500 Four-H Club members in the United States.

As in the democracy in which they live, 4-H'ers themselves largely run their clubs, elect their officers, help plan and hold their meetings, and select their projects. Each club drafts its own programs to suit its members and their localities.

To guide these 4-H'ers, thousands of public-spirited men and women, mostly parents, serve as unpaid volunteer local leaders. Some of these are older club members or youths who assist as junior leaders. These leaders are trained, counseled, and assisted by county agricultural agents, who have available the vast stores of scientific knowledge in the state land-grant colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Leaders advise and encourage 4-H'ers in planning and carrying out projects, attend meetings, visit members to see how projects are getting along, offer suggestions where needed, and accompany members to club events outside their community.

Mineral County has fourteen 4-H clubs with 27 leaders and 18 junior leaders. They are as follows:

AGRICOLAE: Miss Dorothy Tichnell and Thomas Bosley Jr., leaders. Junior leaders are Bill Lyon, Patricia Flint, James Bosley, Rupert Bosley, Dottie Lyon, and Bonita Ours.

Date Is Set For Centennial At Harpers Ferry

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—The centennial observance of the famous John Brown raid has been set for Oct. 12-18.

The date was set Thursday by Mayor William F. Ramey and the Harpers Ferry Area Foundation.

It will be just 100 years since the bearded John Brown, a Kansas abolitionist who believed he was an "instrument of God to liberate all slaves," seized the government arsenal here. He later was driven out, tried, convicted of treason and hanged.

This town, where the Shenandoah and Potomac meet, was established in 1747, when Robert Harper set up a ferry service. George Washington, when he was president, selected the site for a government arsenal. President Thomas Jefferson, on a visit here, called the view from one of the overhanging rocks a view worth a trip across the Atlantic.

Mineral Education Association Urges Vote FOR School Levy

KEYSER—Every three years the voters of Mineral County have been going to the polls to vote on a special levy. Through this levy the county has been receiving $97,000 yearly for school purposes. Citizens vote again on this levy today. This time the amount to be voted on is $208,000. The increase is for school purposes in Mineral County and will be used for removing fire hazards, building improvements, building construction and teachers salaries.

The Mineral County Teachers Association, yesterday, urged all citizens to go to the polls and vote for this school levy so that needs can be met. Other groups interested in a better school system and better educational opportunities have also urged a favorable referendum.

The teachers association yesterday said in part :

"If this levy should fail, our schools will not only lose the proposed increase of $111,000, but will also lose the $97,000 which we are receiving at the present time through the levy passed three years ago.

"If this happens, building improvements and building construction will have to stop and teachers will leave Mineral County to teach in other states where they can earn a living wage.

"Ho ware our schools to be improved and maintained unless we are willing to pay for them? Remember, this money is to be used for the benefit of your children. A vote FOR the levy is a vote, not only for our schools and the community, but a vote for the boys and girls who are to be tomorrow's citizens."

KEYSER — Judge Ernest A. See has denied a defense attorneys' motion for a new trial in a $12,500 verdict awarded Mrs. Edith Flanagan of McMullen Highway against the Osgood Bus Lines and the estate of the late Lonnie Dayton.

Mrs. Flanagan was awarded the money for injuries she claimed she received the night of October 29, 1957, when an Osgood bus on which she was a passenger was rammed from the rear when it stopped on Memorial Bridge by a car driven by Dayton. Dayton was killed in the accident.

Juvenile Court To Decide Fate Of Nancy Sedlock

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Marion County Juvenile Court Judge Charles E. Miller will decide next week on the disposition of the case of Nancy Jean Sedlock, 16, of Erie, Mich., who was with her boy friend last Saturday when he shot and killed Mannington Police Chief Amos Morris.

A coroner's inquest to formally assign the cause of Morris' death will be held here Monday night. Miller is expected to withhold his decision on the girl until after the inquest.

Marion County Prosecutor Paul E. Parker Jr., said Thursday he would not press criminal charges against the girl because questioning of her had convinced him she wes clear of blame in Morris' death.

Nancy is being held at a children's detention home here as a delinquent. Miller could hold her under West Virginia delinquency laws as a runaway or allow her to return home with her parents.

Her boy friend, Douglas David Barker, 21, Lynchburg, Va., committed suicide Monday night when trapped by police near Lakesville, N.C.

Parker said the girl was told of Barker's death Wednesday and said the "only emotion that could be ascribed to her was an indication of great relief."

She had turned herself into police Sunday at Frederick, Md., and told them Barker had killed Morris. She said Barker had told her that if she left him, he would "get" her. The couple had run away together Jan. 29.

Frostburg Will Observe Red Cross Day

FROSTBURG — Mrs. J. C. Cobey, chairman of the Frostburg branch of the American Red Cross, has announced that March 15 has been designated as "Red Cross Sunday" by the County Red Cross Chapter.

Although no drives will be made on that day for funds, due to the group being affiliated with the County United Fund, residents are being reminded of the many services performed daily by the organization.

Mrs. Cobey pointed out that the main project for the Red Cross at this time in the county is the "blood bank." She has pointed out that this is a 24-hour service in case of an emergency need for blood by any resident of the county.

Another service given by the group is contacting servicemen and their families in cases of emergency. Many families have used this service in Frostburg alone during the past few years, she said, whether it means informing a serviceman of sickness or death at home, or contacting the family and giving aid in case of sickness or death of the serviceman.

Also, Mrs. Cobey said, many families of the area have been aided when sickness or disaster has struck in their homes. Medicine has been provided or clothing and food. These are the things that citizens are asked to remember and tell others of on "Red Cross Sunday."

Mt. Savage Grad With Airborne Unit

MT. SAVAGE—Army Specialist Carl E. Winebrenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winebrenner, Mt. Savage, participated with the 101st Airborne Division's 187th Infantry in a mass parachute drop and mock attack at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

Shortly after the initial alert, the infantry was airlifted from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Camp Breckenridge where men, arms, equipment and food were parachuted to meet a simulated enemy.

The 101st Airborne Division, a major Strategic Army Corps unit, constantly maintains an immediate readiness force for airborne deployment to any area in the world. Within six hours, a reinforcement battle group of 1700 men can be airborne.

After the conclusion of the exercise, Specialist Winebrenner returned to Ft. Campbell where he is squad leader. He entered the army in November, 1956.

Winebrenner is a 1955 graduate of the Mt. Savage High School.

Frostburg Will Observe Red Cross Day

FROSTBURG — Mrs. J. C. Cobey, chairman of the Frostburg branch of the American Red Cross, has announced that March 15 has been designated as "Red Cross Sunday" by the County Red Cross Chapter.

Although no drives will be made on that day for funds, due to the group being affiliated with the County United Fund, residents are being reminded of the many services performed daily by the organization.

Mrs. Cobey pointed out that the main project for the Red Cross at this time in the county is the "blood bank." She has pointed out that this is a 24-hour service in case of an emergency need for blood by any resident of the county.

Another service given by the group is contacting servicemen and their families in cases of emergency. Many families have used this service in Frostburg alone during the past few years, she said, whether it means informing a serviceman of sickness or death at home, or contacting the family and giving aid in case of sickness or death of the serviceman.

Also, Mrs. Cobey said, many families of the area have been aided when sickness or disaster has struck in their homes. Medicine has been provided or clothing and food. These are the things that citizens are asked to remember and tell others of on "Red Cross Sunday."

Mt. Savage Grad With Airborne Unit

MT. SAVAGE—Army Specialist Carl E. Winebrenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winebrenner, Mt. Savage, participated with the 101st Airborne Division's 187th Infantry in a mass parachute drop and mock attack at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

Shortly after the initial alert, the infantry was airlifted from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Camp Breckenridge where men, arms, equipment and food were parachuted to meet a simulated enemy.

The 101st Airborne Division, a major Strategic Army Corps unit, constantly maintains an immediate readiness force for airborne deployment to any area in the world. Within six hours, a reinforcement battle group of 1700 men can be airborne.

After the conclusion of the exercise, Specialist Winebrenner returned to Ft. Campbell where he is squad leader. He entered the army in November, 1956.

Winebrenner is a 1955 graduate of the Mt. Savage High School.

US Senate Subcommittee Gets Gloomy Picture Of Unemployed In W. Va.

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Crime, family desertion and near-starvation are the fruits of the coal and industrial depression in West Virginia, a Senate committee was told Thursday.

The largest bituminous coal producing state in the union, in the words of Sen. Jennings Randolph D-W. Va., is faced with a "gray spectre of hunger and deprivation."

He said it has been brought on by mechanization of the coal mines and declining coal production due to competing fuels.

A Senate subcommittee heard federal and state officials, United Mine Workers representatives and others tell their story at the second of three hearings set for the distressed state.

Wednesday the subcommittee heard that 50,000 new jobs are needed to get the state's economy in focus.

The subcommittee is considering Senate bills which would relieve the plight of distressed states. Both Sen. Robert Byrd (D-W. Va.) and Randolph are supporting a program which would give distressed states $385,000,000, of which $200,000,000 would be made available to city and rural areas in loans to attract industrial plants. Cities also would be allowed $100,000,000 in loans and $75,000,000 in public improvement grants to urge new industries.

The other $10,000,000 is for a program to train old workers in new trades.

Randolph told the subcommittee:

"We are faced with the same condition of 25 years ago when men stole to get food and clothing for their families."

Sheriff Howard Chambers of Mingo County led a delegation to the hearing. He reported 5,000 of the county's 47,000 residents have no work, and added:

"Women with babies come crying to me because their husbands can't find work. One woman said her family was starving; her husband had traveled to other states, which told them they, too, had troubles, and would hire their own people first.

"Crime in my county is on the increase. They're not stealing money—they're stealing food."

Saying West Virginia has the highest unemployment rate in the union, with 45,000 persons having exhausted all their unemployment benefits, Randolph said:

"I want to make it quite clear that the inventive and self-reliant people of West Virginia are not looking for a place on the dole for federal handouts of any kind."

The committee moves to Morgantown Friday, where the problems of northern West Virginia will be aired.

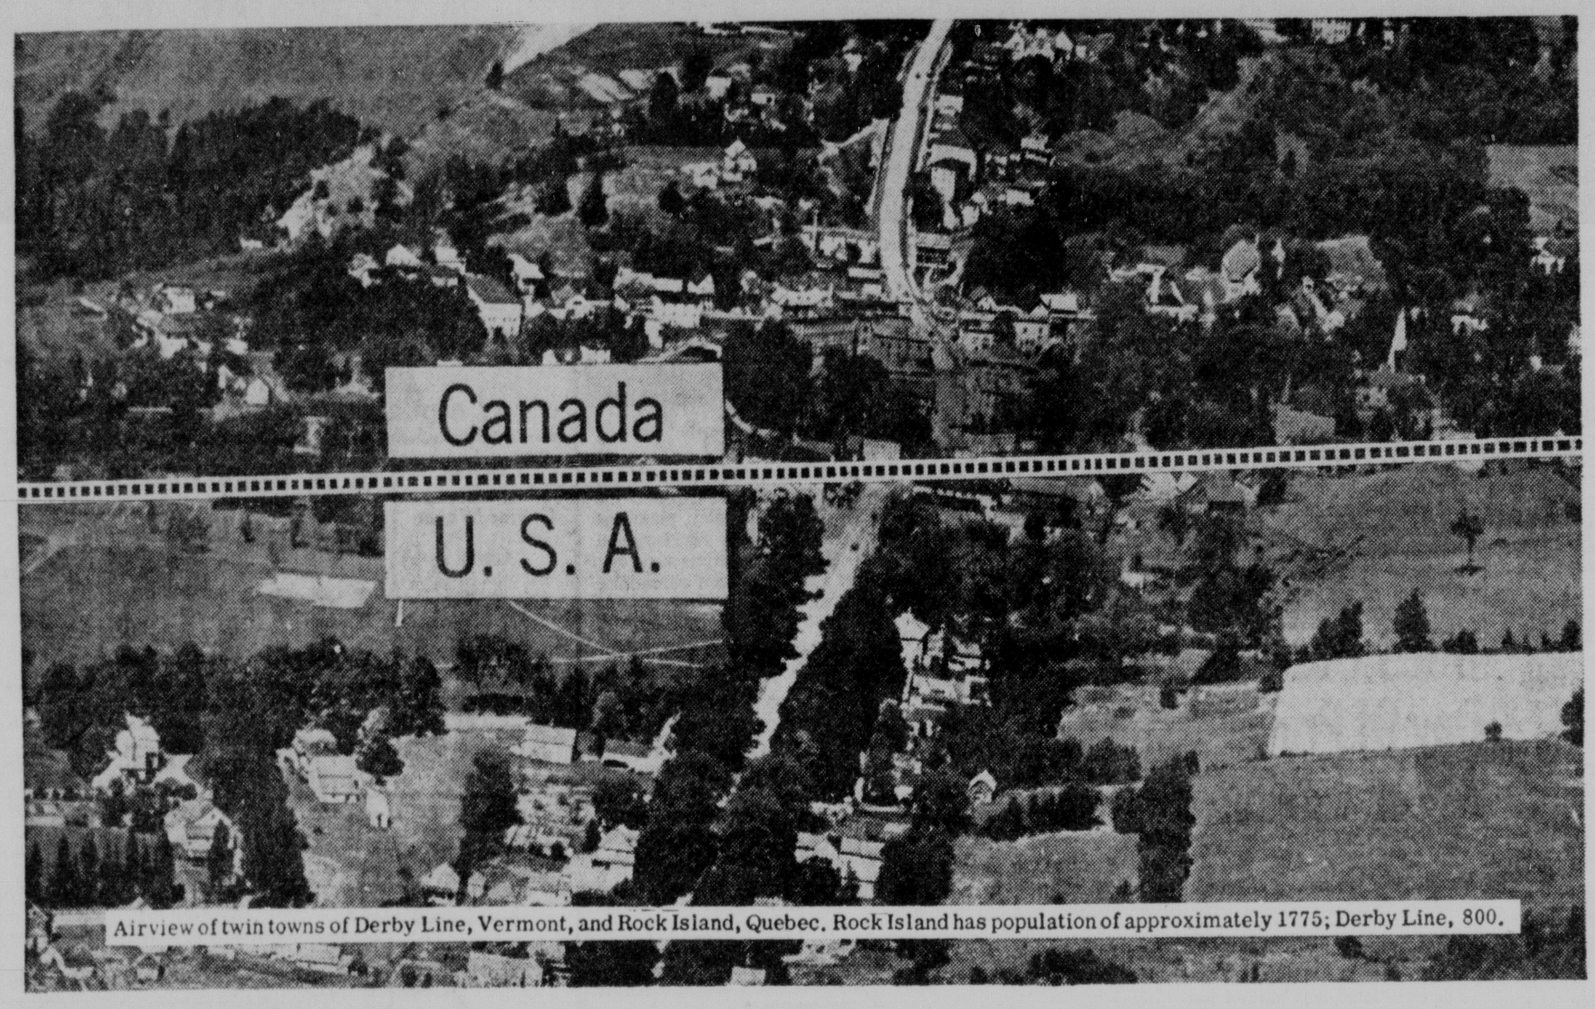
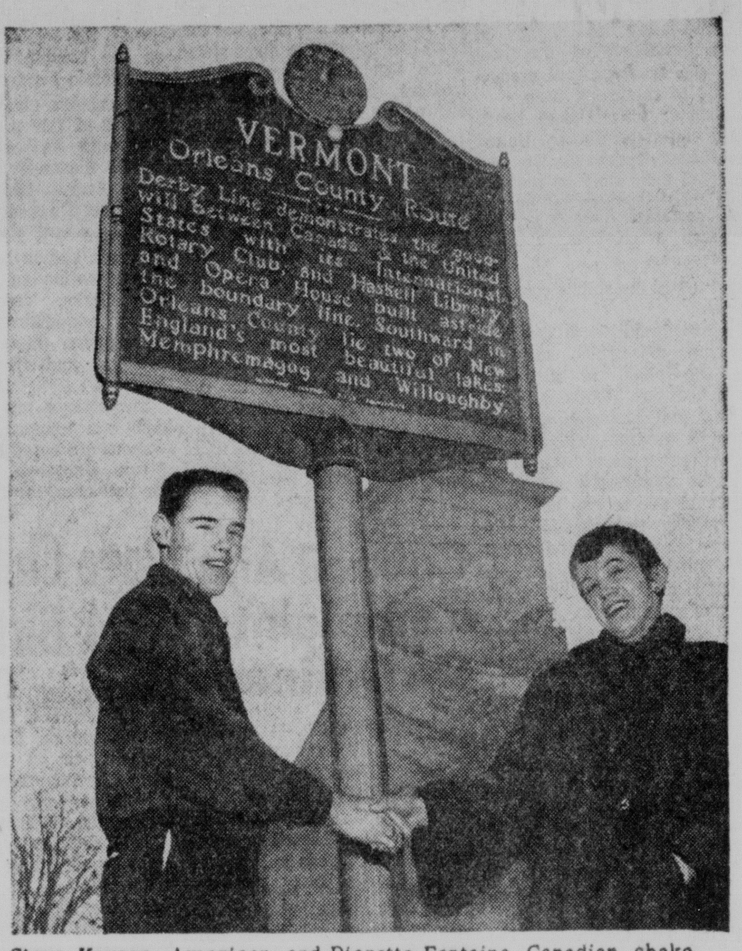
TWIN BORDER TOWNS:

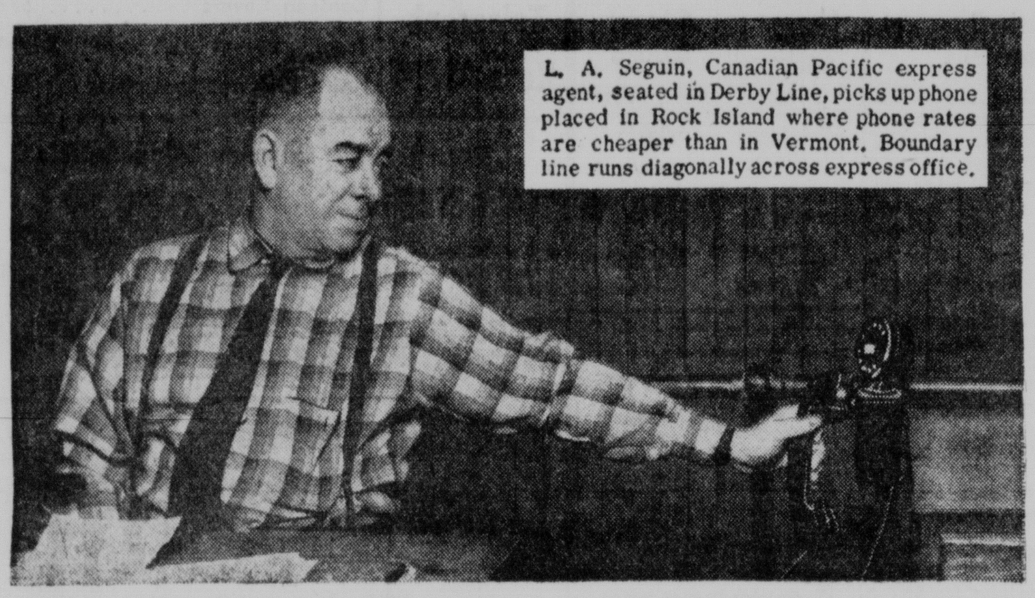
DERBY LINE, VT., AND ROCK ISLAND, QUEBEC, LIE ASTRIDE U.S.-CANADA INTERNATIONAL LINE



Airview of twin towns of Derby Line, Vermont, and Rock Island, Quebec. Rock Island has population of approximately 1775; Derby Line, 800.



Steve Keysas, American, and Pierette Fontaine, Canadian, shake hands under plaque astride the Canadian-U. S. boundary line.



L. A. Seguin, Canadian Pacific express agent, seated in Derby Line, picks up phone placed in Rock Island where phone rates are cheaper than in Vermont. Boundary line runs diagonally across express office.

All towns and villages have their own particular problems, but when an international boundary line cuts through—then some confusing, and, at times, amusing incidents arise.

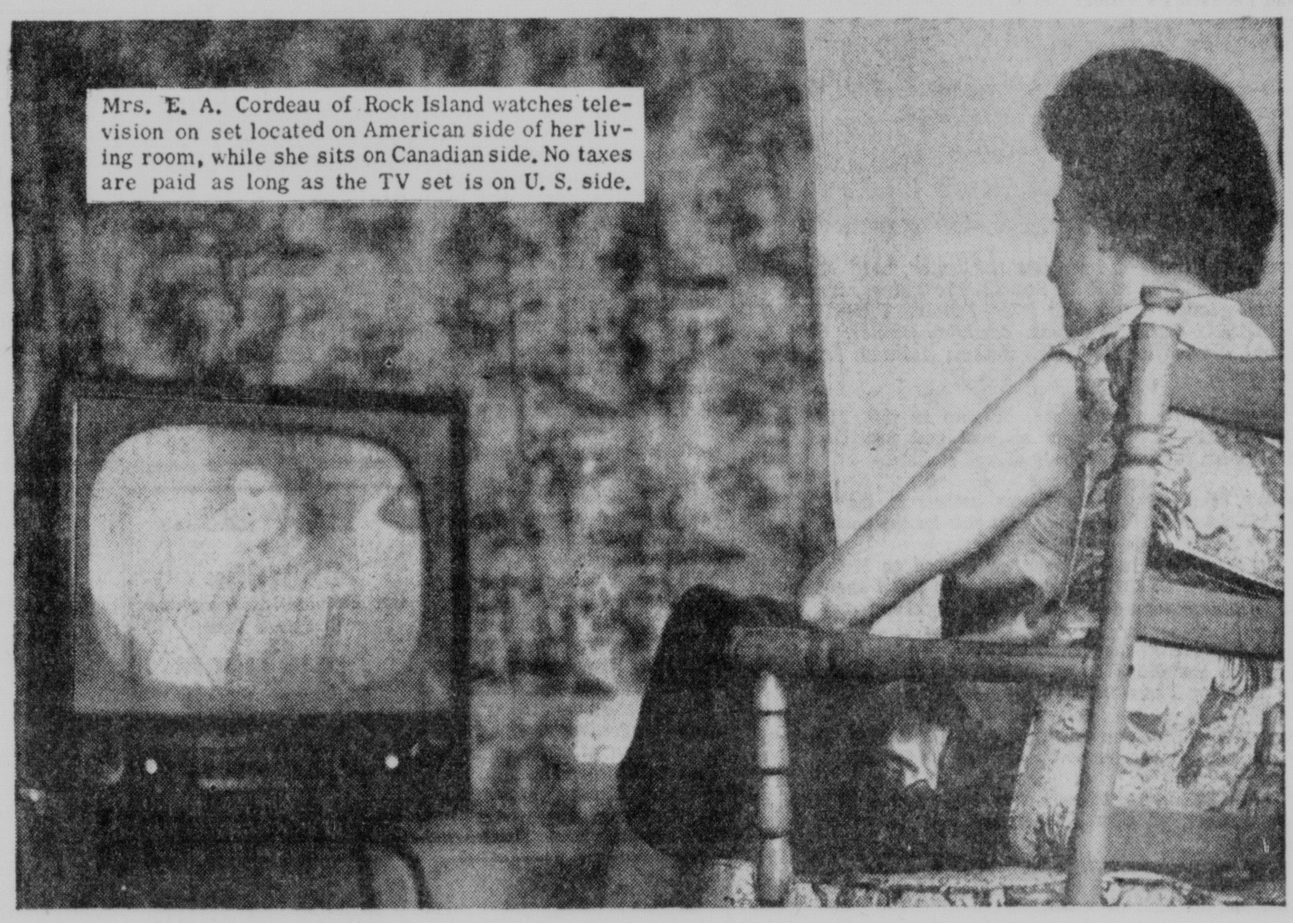
Such a community lies astride the United States-Canada line. Half of it is Rock Island, in Canada, and the other half is Derby Line, in Vermont. The two are separate municipalities. Each has its own mayor, its own police force, its own public schools. Public utilities are evenly divided. An American company supplies the water. A Canadian company furnishes electricity. The main street runs right through both towns.

American and Canadian residents cross and recross the line without any difficulty. They get along wonderfully well, and mingle freely. There is a Rotary Club, with about even membership from the U. S. and from Canada. A joint hockey arena and a movie house serve both towns. Many of the churches have members from both sides of the border.

Several houses lie astride the line. The owner may keep his telephone on the Canadian side of the house to pay lower rates, or his television set on the U. S. side to avoid paying a tax. On a recent occasion, a house was removed from the boundary line, trucked into Canada, and Canadian duties and taxes were assessed on the portion of the house which had rested in the United States.

But there are points where the line is exactly the line. Taxes are paid and are collected right to the line. When a house is repaired or painted, there has to be an accounting to Customs if paint or material is moved over the border. A few restricted items, such as bulbs and plants, have to be accompanied with correct documents.

Canadian and American youngsters square off in hockey game on the international line.



Mrs. E. A. Cordeau of Rock Island watches television on set located on American side of her living room, while she sits on Canadian side. No taxes are paid as long as the TV set is on U. S. side.

Americans leaving Canada are checked at Customs as they pass through the twin towns.

Main Street runs through the twin towns. In foreground is Rock Island, Quebec, and in back, Derby Line, Vermont.

John Bosley Quits West Virginia U. To Enter Service

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Freshman football star John Bosley withdrew from West Virginia University Thursday, further cutting into next fall's fullback prospects.

Bosley, younger brother of former WVU All-American tackle Bruce Bosley, plans to enter the service.

Bosley's father, John Bosley, said his son had been "unsettled" since the recent death of his mother and felt he could not do justice to his schoolwork.

"By fulfilling his military obligation now, he believes he will be better suited to continue his college education later," the elder Bosley said. "We want to thank Coach Lewis for the personal interest he has taken in John and assure him that he will return to West Virginia sometime in the future."

Lewis termed the 230 - pound fullback an excellent prospect and "I hate to see him leave." He emphasized that Bosley withdrew in good standing with no failing grades on his record.

Mountaineers To Play For Stokes' Benefit

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Three members of the West Virginia University basketball team will take part in a benefit game for Maurice Stokes here March 24.

Ronnie Retton and Bucky Bolyard will play for a "midget" team of players six feet or under. The coach of the squad will be WVU's Fred Schaus.

Bob Clousson will be on the "giant" squad, made up of players 6-foot-5 and up. Lasalle Coach Dudey Moore will be in charge of this group.

Stokes, a former St. Francis (Pa.) College and professional basketball star, has been hospitalized for a year with a brain injury.

Terps Beaten By Cavaliers In 66-65 Tilt

Tarheels, Duke, N.C. State Win

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina's pre - tournament favorites opened their bid for the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball championship Thursday by smashing Clemson 93-69.

Duke weathered a late Wake Forest uprising to score a 78-71 victory in the first game and win a semifinals spot.

Terps Nosed Out

Virginia came from 12 points behind to shoot down Maryland's defending champions 66-65 and gain the other semifinal berth on a jump shot by John Haner with nine seconds left. His basket marked only the second time in the game Virginia had the lead. The Cavaliers meet N.C. State in the other semifinal game Friday night.

Maryland, which had lost a draw for third place to Duke, seemed on the way to a routine victory over Virginia. The Terrapins led 33-23 at the half. Thirteen more times thereafter they held 10 point leads. Their biggest margin was 53-41 with about nine minutes left.

Maryland still seemed in good shape, leading 63-56 with 3:30 remaining. Virginia then hit eight points, three baskets and two fouls, taking a 64-63 lead on a jumper by John Siewers with 30 seconds left. After Bill Murphy's jump shot with 17 seconds put Maryland back into the lead, Haner delivered the final basket. Maryland had time for only one shot but it was wide.

Haner Scores 25

Haner's game - winning effort capped a 25-point performance. Paul Adkins added 16 and Bill Mitzger had 12 and as many rebounds. Jerry Bechtle, one of three Maryland starters to foul out, led his club with 18 points.

Baltimore Is Offered Heavy Title Contest

Guarantee Of Half Million Is Sought

BALTIMORE (AP)— Promoter Bill Rosensohn Thursday offered —for a half million dollar guarantee—to give Baltimore the boxing plum of its life—the Patterson-Johansson heavyweight title fight.

But he tacked one condition onto it: He'd reap the take from some 10,000 ringside seats, presumably at $50 each.

Local sports promoters didn't come up with an answer but expect to decide by Sunday whether they can raise the money.

10 Cities On List

Rosensohn, of New York, said he'll decide next Tuesday which of about 10 cities will be the site for the championship bout next summer between champion Floyd Patterson and the undefeated Swedish challenger, Ingemar Johansson.

The promoter engaged in give-and-take with a dozen business men who would have to raise the bulk of the $500,000 it would take to bring the fight to Memorial Stadium.

Jerry Shuger, vice president of a local paint firm who is pushing Baltimore's bid, explained that the city's wealthy sports enthusiasts would have to act fast. He said one acquaintance came up to him and offered, "I'm personally ready to sign my name."

It's figured that at least 50,000 could be jammed into the stands at Memorial Stadium. Another 10,000 or more could be seated on the playing field.

Top Seat At $50

Rosensohn told the group if they agreed to his proposition, it would be up to the promoters to worry about selling the tickets. He'd only be concerned with peddling his ringside ducats, and he said he already has commitments for 4,000 of them at $50 each.

Montgomery Upset, Ansted Is Victor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The tournament grind Thursday night claimed its first major upset victim in Class Triple-A as once-beaten Montgomery fell before East Bank 67-58 in a Section 12 game at nearby Cedar Grove.

Montgomery which had won 19 of 20 games, was ranked second behind Princeton in the final ratings this week by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Meanwhile, the state's only unbeaten club continued to roll. Ansted, defending state Class A champion, trounced Washington High of Kanawha County 75-55 in a Region 7 game at Montgomery. It was Ansted's 23rd in a row this season and 48 in succession over two years for the Highlanders.

John Bosley Quits West Virginia U. To Enter Service

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Freshman football star John Bosley withdrew from West Virginia University Thursday, further cutting into next fall's fullback prospects.

Bosley, younger brother of former WVU All-American tackle Bruce Bosley, plans to enter the service.

Bosley's father, John Bosley, said his son had been "unsettled" since the recent death of his mother and felt he could not do justice to his schoolwork.

"By fulfilling his military obligation now, he believes he will be better suited to continue his college education later," the elder Bosley said. "We want to thank Coach Lewis for the personal interest he has taken in John and assure him that he will return to West Virginia sometime in the future."

Lewis termed the 230 - pound fullback an excellent prospect and "I hate to see him leave." He emphasized that Bosley withdrew in good standing with no failing grades on his record.

Mountaineers To Play For Stokes' Benefit

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Three members of the West Virginia University basketball team will take part in a benefit game for Maurice Stokes here March 24.

Ronnie Retton and Bucky Bolyard will play for a "midget" team of players six feet or under. The coach of the squad will be WVU's Fred Schaus.

Bob Clousson will be on the "giant" squad, made up of players 6-foot-5 and up. Lasalle Coach Dudey Moore will be in charge of this group.

Stokes, a former St. Francis (Pa.) College and professional basketball star, has been hospitalized for a year with a brain injury.

His basket marked only the second time in the game Virginia had the lead. The Cavaliers meet N.C. State in the other semifinal game Friday night.

Maryland still seemed in good shape, leading 63-56 with 3:30 remaining. Baltimore Is Offered Heavy Title Contest

Guarantee Of Half Million Is Sought

BALTIMORE (AP)— Promoter Bill Rosensohn Thursday offered —for a half million dollar guarantee—to give Baltimore the boxing plum of its life—the Patterson-Johansson heavyweight title fight.

But he tacked one condition onto it: He'd reap the take from some 10,000 ringside seats, presumably at $50 each.

Local sports promoters didn't come up with an answer but expect to decide by Sunday whether they can raise the money.

10 Cities On List

Rosensohn, of New York, said he'll decide next Tuesday which of about 10 cities will be the site for the championship bout next summer between champion Floyd Patterson and the undefeated Swedish challenger, Ingemar Johansson.

The promoter engaged in give-and-take with a dozen business men who would have to raise the bulk of the $500,000 it would take to bring the fight to Memorial Stadium.

Jerry Shuger, vice president of a local paint firm who is pushing Baltimore's bid, explained that the city's wealthy sports enthusiasts would have to act fast. He said one acquaintance came up to him and offered, "I'm personally ready to sign my name."

It's figured that at least 50,000 could be jammed into the stands at Memorial Stadium. Another 10,000 or more could be seated on the playing field.

Top Seat At $50

Rosensohn told the group if they agreed to his proposition, it would be up to the promoters to worry about selling the tickets. He'd only be concerned with peddling his ringside ducats, and he said he already has commitments for 4,000 of them at $50 each.

Allegany, Garrett Teams Vie In District Tourney Today

Cadets Play Camper Quint In Hub City

Valley Tackles Huskies; North Faces Southern

Eliminations that eventually advance the winners a step closer to state championship competition a week hence at College Park will get under way tonight at North Hagerstown High School where Class A, B and C school teams of Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Allegany counties will vie in the opening round games of Maryland District One's basketball tournament.

The two-day tourney is of particular interest here as five of the ten quints are representatives of Garrett and Allegany counties and four are slated to see action today.

Allegany County schools have bagged the district Class A crown eight times in 12 years since statewide games were changed from open to class competition in 1947. Class B teams from Allegany County have won district honors ten years in a row and Class C quints have emerged victorious eight times in nine tries. The only exception was last year when Oldtown was quickly eliminated in its tourney debut.

Campers Face Cadets

Today's Class A semi-finals in the Hub City bring together Allegany High (12-9) winner of 7 of its last eight starts and Frederick High School's Cadets (9-11) at 6:30 o'clock while Southern's Highlanders of Oakland (12-8) will tangle with Mel Henry's highly touted North Hagerstown Hubs, at 9:30.

North High appears to be the favorite in Class A because of the fact it has whipped Frederick, 43-29 and 66-46 and Allegany, 60-56 and 59-53, and owns the most impressive record of any team in the tournament—20 wins and one loss, that coming at the hands of St. Maria Goretti, another Hagerstown quint, this week.

Allegany holds two decisions over Frederick, which lost ten consecutive games in the CVAL, but the Campers are not taking the Cadets lightly because "darkhorses" occasionally win tournaments. Coach Homer Brooks' Cadets gave Allegany two interesting battles before losing, 38-34 and 61-51 early in the season and the third meeting might be one of the best games in the tourney.

Campers Flying High

However, if Allegany continues to flash the form it has displayed in the past month Coach Chester Payne's boys could surprise everybody. Since February 6, Allegany has scalped Mt. Savage, Beall, Valley, Bruce, Fort Hill, twice, and LaSalle and lost by only six points to North High and that's almost par for the course.

Coach Carl Schoonover's Southern High floormen will be the underdogs in their engagement with the high flying North High quint but if the Garrett team plays like the night it jolted Valley High out of the unbeaten ranks it could make things interesting for the Henrymen.

Valley Meets Huskies

In today's 8 o'clock game, Coach John C. Meyers' Valley High Black Knights (19-2) will tackle Northern High's Huskies of Garrett county (12-7) for the third time this season. Coach Lilburn Brown's quint dropped a pair of games to Valley, 75-61 and 50-47 but gave the Knights anxious moments in the finale at Accident. Northern held Southern and LaSalle on even terms this season and should give Valley an interesting game on a neutral court. This is the second Class B semi-final of the day. Brunswick of Frederick County and Boonsboro of Washington county tangle in the opener at 3:30.

Coach Ronnie Kellough's Oldtown High quint, which won only two of 21 games this season, both over Flintstone its county Class C rival, gets a crack at Bob Wolford's Hancock High quint of Washington county in the first championship game on the program Saturday at 6:30 o'clock. Hancock has won only four of 19 games this season.

The Class B final is billed for Saturday at 8 p. m., while the A championship tilt is set for 9 o'clock.

Twelve officials from Pennsylvania and Maryland will handle the seven games during the two-day tourney.

Must Play Extra Game

Class A and C winners qualify for the state event at the University of Maryland Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14, but the Class B victor must play an interdistrict game next week in which the victor qualifies to vie at College Park.

U.S. Beats Norway

BRNO, Czechoslovakia (AP) — The United States, scoring three times in each of the first two periods, Thursday defeated Norway 10-3 in its first game in the World Amateur Ice Hockey Championships.

KEYSER'S PVC CHAMPS—Keyser High School won the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference this year with a 13-1 record. Tonight the Golden Tornado, victorious in 17 of 20 games, puts a 10-game winning streak on the line when it faces Charles Town High in the opening game of the Class AA sectional tourney at Petersburg. Romney plays Petersburg in the other contest. The Keyser squad, left to right: Jimmy Edwards and Jimmy Briley, managers; Gary Keedy, Fred Clark, Ronald Smith, Roy Roberts, Robert Keller, Coach John R. Shelton, Scott Brown, Mike Montgomery, Roy Mills, Ronald Sanders, Ralph Wimer, Bill Boor and Eddie Jordan.

Robinson's And PBC Cop Titles

Hafer's, Diamond Lose Series Finals

Two City Recreation Basketball League championships were decided in games played last night on the Carver School court.

Robinson's Plumbers bagged the title in the Men's League by copping the third and deciding game of the series from Hafer House Furniture by the score of 51-48 in overtime. Hafer's won the series opener and Robinson's copped the second and third games.

After the regulation game ended in a 46-46 deadlock, two goals by DeWarren "Junior" O'Neal and a free throw by Doug Metz settled the issue in the extra stanza.

O'Neal sparked the victors with 12 goals and 25 points while "Junie" Perry dumped in 22 points for Hafer's.

In the other half of the twin bill, the Police Boys Club won the championship of the High School Division by downing the Diamond Bowling Alleys quint in the "rubber" game of their series, 56-38. The P.B.C. won the first and final games of this set.

Jay Washington's shooting netted 25 points for the winners. He scored 12 field goals. Green was runner-up with 13 markers.

West Virginia Senate Favors License Boost

Fishing, Hunting Bill Passes 28-1

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A bill to raise an additional $500,000 a year for the State Conservation Commission by increasing the cost of hunting and fishing licenses won approval of the State Senate Thursday.

The measure passed 28-1 with Sen. John E. Carrigan (R-Marshall) casting the only dissenting vote and was sent to the House.

It would increase from $2 to $3 the cost of either a hunting or fishing license, and from $3 to $5 the cost of a combined license.

A new $1 stamp would be required in addition for trout fishing or bear hunting.

The present $1 bow - and-arrow license would be eliminated, with such hunters required to buy a regular $3 hunting license. Out-of-state bow hunters would have to pay $15 for their permits compared with $10 at present.

Also adopted was an amendment by Senate President Ralph J. Bean requiring persons who catch minnows or similar bait for sale to pay a $10 fee plus a $1 annual renewal. He said it would legalize "what is now being done in the Eastern Panhandle" where Bean lives.

Sen. Arch W. Riley (D-Ohio) shot back: "I want the Senate to know that while the Northern Panhandle has bootleg whisky, the Eastern Panhandle has bootleg minnows."

Allegany, Garrett Teams Vie In District Tourney Today

Cadets Play Camper Quint In Hub City

Valley Tackles Huskies; North Faces Southern

Eliminations that eventually advance the winners a step closer to state championship competition a week hence at College Park will get under way tonight at North Hagerstown High School where Class A, B and C school teams of Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Allegany counties will vie in the opening round games of Maryland District One's basketball tournament.

The two-day tourney is of particular interest here as five of the ten quints are representatives of Garrett and Allegany counties and four are slated to see action today.

Allegany County schools have bagged the district Class A crown eight times in 12 years since statewide games were changed from open to class competition in 1947. Campers Face Cadets

Today's Class A semi-finals in the Hub City bring together Allegany High (12-9) winner of 7 of its last eight starts and Frederick High School's Cadets (9-11) at 6:30 o'clock while Southern's Highlanders of Oakland (12-8) will tangle with Mel Henry's highly touted North Hagerstown Hubs, at 9:30.

North High appears to be the favorite in Class A because of the fact it has whipped Frederick, 43-29 and 66-46 and Allegany, 60-56 and 59-53, and owns the most impressive record of any team in the tournament—20 wins and one loss, that coming at the hands of St. Maria Goretti, another Hagerstown quint, this week.

However, if Allegany continues to flash the form it has displayed in the past month Coach Chester Payne's boys could surprise everybody. Since February 6, Allegany has scalped Mt. Savage, Beall, Valley, Bruce, Fort Hill, twice, and LaSalle and lost by only six points to North High and that's almost par for the course.

Coach Carl Schoonover's Southern High floormen will be the underdogs in their engagement with the high flying North High quint but if the Garrett team plays like the night it jolted Valley High out of the unbeaten ranks it could make things interesting for the Henrymen.

Valley Meets Huskies

In today's 8 o'clock game, Coach John C. Meyers' Valley High Black Knights (19-2) will tackle Northern High's Huskies of Garrett county (12-7) for the third time this season. Coach Lilburn Brown's quint dropped a pair of games to Valley, 75-61 and 50-47 but gave the Knights anxious moments in the finale at Accident. Northern held Southern and LaSalle on even terms this season and should give Valley an interesting game on a neutral court. This is the second Class B semi-final of the day. Brunswick of Frederick County and Boonsboro of Washington county tangle in the opener at 3:30.

Coach Ronnie Kellough's Oldtown High quint, which won only two of 21 games this season, both over Flintstone its county Class C rival, gets a crack at Bob Wolford's Hancock High quint of Washington county in the first championship game on the program Saturday at 6:30 o'clock. Hancock has won only four of 19 games this season.

The Class B final is billed for Saturday at 8 p. m., while the A championship tilt is set for 9 o'clock.

Twelve officials from Pennsylvania and Maryland will handle the seven games during the two-day tourney.

Must Play Extra Game

Class A and C winners qualify for the state event at the University of Maryland Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14, but the Class B victor must play an interdistrict game next week in which the victor qualifies to vie at College Park.

U.S. Beats Norway

BRNO, Czechoslovakia (AP) — The United States, scoring three times in each of the first two periods, Thursday defeated Norway 10-3 in its first game in the World Amateur Ice Hockey Championships.

KEYSER'S PVC CHAMPS—Keyser High School won the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference this year with a 13-1 record. Tonight the Golden Tornado, victorious in 17 of 20 games, puts a 10-game winning streak on the line when it faces Charles Town High in the opening game of the Class AA sectional tourney at Petersburg. Romney plays Petersburg in the other contest. The Keyser squad, left to right: Jimmy Edwards and Jimmy Briley, managers; Gary Keedy, Fred Clark, Ronald Smith, Roy Roberts, Robert Keller, Coach John R. Shelton, Scott Brown, Mike Montgomery, Roy Mills, Ronald Sanders, Ralph Wimer, Bill Boor and Eddie Jordan.

Robinson's And PBC Cop Titles

Hafer's, Diamond Lose Series Finals

Two City Recreation Basketball League championships were decided in games played last night on the Carver School court.

Robinson's Plumbers bagged the title in the Men's League by copping the third and deciding game of the series from Hafer House Furniture by the score of 51-48 in overtime. Hafer's won the series opener and Robinson's copped the second and third games.

After the regulation game ended in a 46-46 deadlock, two goals by DeWarren "Junior" O'Neal and a free throw by Doug Metz settled the issue in the extra stanza.

O'Neal sparked the victors with 12 goals and 25 points while "Junie" Perry dumped in 22 points for Hafer's.

In the other half of the twin bill, the Police Boys Club won the championship of the High School Division by downing the Diamond Bowling Alleys quint in the "rubber" game of their series, 56-38. The P.B.C. won the first and final games of this set.

Jay Washington's shooting netted 25 points for the winners. He scored 12 field goals. Green was runner-up with 13 markers.

Crabtree excelled with his rebounding and slammed in 18 points for the Diamond quint. Box scores:

Hutch Sees Cards In 2nd Division

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Former St. Louis Manager Fred Hutchinson Thursday tabbed the Cardinals as a second division baseball club in 1959.

"I hope I'm wrong," Hutchinson said, "but I think they will have trouble finishing in the first division."

Hutchinson now manages Seattle in the Pacific Coast League.

The Cardinals tied for fifth place last year and Hutchinson was fired in favor of Solly Hemus.

Yanks To Play Dodgers For Campy's Benefit

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday announced that they will play an exhibition game against the New York Yankees, May 7 in the Los Angeles Coliseum, for the benefit of Roy Campanella.

Dodger President Walter F. O'Malley said the game will be the first of a two-game series. The Dodgers will play an exhibition game at Yankee Stadium in 1960.

The Dodgers said their share of the gate would be made available to Campanella, their great former catcher who was paralyzed in an auto accident in January of 1958.

West Virginia Senate Favors License Boost

Fishing, Hunting Bill Passes 28-1

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A bill to raise an additional $500,000 a year for the State Conservation Commission by increasing the cost of hunting and fishing licenses won approval of the State Senate Thursday.

The measure passed 28-1 with Sen. John E. Carrigan (R-Marshall) casting the only dissenting vote and was sent to the House.

It would increase from $2 to $3 the cost of either a hunting or fishing license, and from $3 to $5 the cost of a combined license.

A new $1 stamp would be required in addition for trout fishing or bear hunting.

The present $1 bow - and-arrow license would be eliminated, with such hunters required to buy a regular $3 hunting license. Out-of-state bow hunters would have to pay $15 for their permits compared with $10 at present.

Also adopted was an amendment by Senate President Ralph J. Bean requiring persons who catch minnows or similar bait for sale to pay a $10 fee plus a $1 annual renewal. He said it would legalize "what is now being done in the Eastern Panhandle" where Bean lives.

Sen. Arch W. Riley (D-Ohio) shot back: "I want the Senate to know that while the Northern Panhandle has bootleg whisky, the Eastern Panhandle has bootleg minnows."

Dodgers Strike Comeback Trail Hampered By Inexperience On Mound, Behind Plate

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Association
Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Seventh last year after dominating the National League for most of the post-war years, the Los Angeles Dodgers' collapse still is being diagnosed as the 1959 edition, a hard-working group, prepare for a real try at getting back up the ladder.

The skipper, Walter Alston, says that "you can't blame last year on any one guy. It was a whole team effort. We'll all take the blame and that goes for the players, myself and the coaches. Of course the sore arms that our pitchers came up with didn't help."

Buzzy Bavasi, the general manager who leaves the field managing to Alston but takes an active part in the Dodger production, admitted that "we were a little lax last year in the latter part of the season" but also said that "this isn't a bad ball club. We finished seventh so everything hurts."

Alston, reported in some quarters as cracking down on the Dodgers for "horsing around" last year, told this writer that "I haven't made any speeches or threats about this. We're working them harder but we have a bigger squad here."

Bavasi, who admits that "we have one or two boys who like a good time—but what ball club hasn't—" doesn't plan to read any riot act to the club but indicated he would ask all to obey the rules laid down by Alston.

"WE'RE FARTHER along this year than last," Alston said in an interview here. "We don't have any particular problems except we don't know how those pitchers who had sore arms last year—Ed Roebuck, Don Bessent and Roger Craig—will come out although Roebuck has been throwing well.

"We don't have any infield problems, particularly because we have so much maneuverability. Men like Don Zimmer, Gil Hodges, Junior Gilliam and Norm Larker can play more than one spot."

"Our pitching is bound to be better," Alston reported cheerfully. "Don Drysdale looks better and he got off to a poor start last year. I said our pitching was good last year at this time and yet I say it again, this could be a very good staff."

Belief in camp on the pitching staff is that it needs more experience because most of the front-line tossers, including Johnny Podres, still are young men.

In Podres, Drysdale and Sandy Koufax the Dodgers have three top pitchers and Bavasi will tell you that no other club in the league can match the three of them.

Among the newcomers liked by Alston are Bob Giallombardo, who was 12-9 at Montreal and then came up to the parent club late last year, and Ralph Maurello, who split last year with Spokane, Victoria and Los Angeles.

Catching may still be a problem although John Roseboro now has had a year of experience. Bavasi said no trade plan is in the wind, that Roseboro had some "tough" pitchers to catch last year.

The infield may require some manipulating. Peewee Reese finally has quit and is a coach. Hodges, the big boy with the bat, played four positions last year and if Jim Gentile, who hit 18 homers for Spokane, can make the grade at first Hodges may be on third. There are seven first basemen in camp, including Steve Bilko, who has dropped 20 pounds.

Charlie Neal is the second sacker and there's a fight at short involving Bob Lillis, the very capable Don Zimmer and a rookie, Gene Wallace.

Dick Gray could be the third sacker, with bonus boy Earl Robinson, Hodges and Zimmer in the picture.

The outfield could be very strong. Two of the big bonus boys on the club, Frank Howard, the 6-foot 6½-inch ex-Ohio State basketball star, and Ron Fairly, who did well at Des Moines and St. Paul and is rated the best prospect in camp, are the rookies, but coming back are Duke Snider and Carl Furillo and two additions, Wally Moon from the Cardinals and Rip Repulski from the Phillies. Moon has always been a top hitter but needs to play every day.

In the pitcure, too, as always, is Junior Gilliam, the all-around guy who played five positions last year and in his five years on the club has played every spot but catch and pitch. Gilliam, according to Bavasi, is not on the market, as reported, and you can be sure that on opening day he will be in the starting lineup.

The Dodgers are awaiting word from the Los Angeles front office on the go-ahead for their ball park. It is expected that it will be ready in 1960 with approximately 32,000 seats with more to be added during the season to bring the complement up to about 65,000.

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Seventh last year after dominating the National League for most of the post-war years, the Los Angeles Dodgers' collapse still is being diagnosed as the 1959 edition, a hard-working group, prepare for a real try at getting back up the ladder.

The skipper, Walter Alston, says that "you can't blame last year on any one guy. It was a whole team effort. We'll all take the blame and that goes for the players, myself and the coaches. Of course the sore arms that our pitchers came up with didn't help."

Buzzy Bavasi, the general manager who leaves the field managing to Alston but takes an active part in the Dodger production, admitted that "we were a little lax last year in the latter part of the season" but also said that "this isn't a bad ball club. We finished seventh so everything hurts."

Alston, reported in some quarters as cracking down on the Dodgers for "horsing around" last year, told this writer that "I haven't made any speeches or threats about this. We're working them harder but we have a bigger squad here."

Bavasi, who admits that "we have one or two boys who like a good time—but what ball club hasn't—" doesn't plan to read any riot act to the club but indicated he would ask all to obey the rules laid down by Alston.

"WE'RE FARTHER along this year than last," Alston said in an interview here. "We don't have any particular problems except we don't know how those pitchers who had sore arms last year—Ed Roebuck, Don Bessent and Roger Craig—will come out although Roebuck has been throwing well.

"We don't have any infield problems, particularly because we have so much maneuverability. Men like Don Zimmer, Gil Hodges, Junior Gilliam and Norm Larker can play more than one spot."

"Our pitching is bound to be better," Alston reported cheerfully. "Don Drysdale looks better and he got off to a poor start last year. I said our pitching was good last year at this time and yet I say it again, this could be a very good staff."

Belief in camp on the pitching staff is that it needs more experience because most of the front-line tossers, including Johnny Podres, still are young men.

In Podres, Drysdale and Sandy Koufax the Dodgers have three top pitchers and Bavasi will tell you that no other club in the league can match the three of them.

Among the newcomers liked by Alston are Bob Giallombardo, who was 12-9 at Montreal and then came up to the parent club late last year, and Ralph Maurillo, who split last year with Spokane, Victoria and Los Angeles.

Catching may still be a problem although John Roseboro now has had a year of experience. Bavasi said no trade plan is in the wind, that Roseboro had some "tough" pitchers to catch last year.

The infield may require some manipulating. Peewee Reese finally has quit and is a coach. Hodges, the big boy with the bat, played four positions last year and if Jim Gentile, who hit 18 homers for Spokane, can make the grade at first Hodges may be on third. There are seven first basemen in camp, including Steve Bilko, who has dropped 20 pounds.

Charlie Neal is the second sacker and there's a fight at short involving Bob Lillis, the very capable Don Zimmer and a rookie, Gene Wallace.

Dick Gray could be the third sacker, with bonus boy Earl Robinson, Hodges and Zimmer in the picture.

The outfield could be very strong. Two of the big bonus boys on the club, Frank Howard, the 6-foot 6½-inch ex-Ohio State basketball star, and Ron Fairly, who did well at Des Moines and St. Paul and is rated the best prospect in camp, are the rookies, but coming back are Duke Snider and Carl Furillo and two additions, Wally Moon from the Cardinals and Rip Repulski from the Phillies. Moon has always been a top hitter but needs to play every day.

In the pitcure, too, as always, is Junior Gilliam, the all-around guy who played five positions last year and in his five years on the club has played every spot but catch and pitch. Gilliam, according to Bavasi, is not on the market, as reported, and you can be sure that on opening day he will be in the starting lineup.

The Dodgers are awaiting word from the Los Angeles front office on the go-ahead for their ball park. It is expected that it will be ready in 1960 with approximately 32,000 seats with more to be added during the season to bring the complement up to about 65,000.

May Invite Royalty

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express said Thursday Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev planned to invite Prince Philip and a number of other members of European royalty to Moscow. The newspaper gave no source for the report.

Among Glacier National Park's 400 bears, only a dozen beg food from visitors. One of the most notorious bear panhandlers was once trapped and taken to a remote area. Three weeks and 60 miles later she was back on her old stand on the Going-to-the-Sun Highway.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—From far away Australia Fred Astaire cabled Bill Perlberg and George Seaton his enthusiastic acceptance of their offer to co-star with Lilli Palmer in "Pleasure of His Company," which they are getting ready for Paramount release. The stage play by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Samuel Taylor was produced by Freddie Brisson and has been a smash hit on Broadway.

Taylor wrote the screenplay and this will be the first of Lilli's three picture deal for Perlberg-Seaton. She and Fred play the estranged parents who disagree on their daughter's marriage.

David Selznick tells me that he will turn over "Tender Is the Night" and "Scarlet Lily," the story of Mary Magdalene, to 20th Century-Fox for Jennifer Jones.

"I will not produce them, nor have any part in their production," he said. "I have worked on the stories, and they are all ready to go."

"What does this mean when you have always been associated in the production of Jennifer's pictures?" I asked.

"Not really," he said, "I have only done two or three pictures with her. The reason now is that I want to get my stage play 'Gone With the Wind' going in New York, and there's nothing more than that back of the fact that I have decided not to produce her next pictures. I have faith in 20th, and know they will turn out well."

The first assignment given Sidney Poitier since he won the Academy Award nomination for "The Defiant Ones" is by Hall Bartlett. Young Poitier, described as the most gifted young Negro actor in America, will be starred in "All the Young Men," a screenplay by Hall Bartlett, who will also produce and direct it.

There are five starring roles and Poitier is the first signed. Negotiations for the other four are under way. Poitier, who plays the title role of Porgy in Samuel Goldwyn's "Porgy and Bess," is currently starring in "Raisin In the Sun" on the stage, due to open on Broadway soon.

Barbara Stanwyck laughed when I told her I had heard that it was all but settled for her to play Jennie Janis, Elsie Janis' dominating, hard-working mother.

"I never know what I'm going to do," Barbara said, "until I read it in your column. Naturally I would love to play that role—who wouldn't?"

Joe Pasternak told me that he favors Barbara and he thinks she'd be just perfect for the part. As long as she lived Jennie was Elsie's shadow, by her side all through her life, urging her on and keeping her at the top.

Discouraged as Bob Hope is over the blood clot in his eye and the necessity for consulting a New York specialist, he still took time out to discuss with Dolores (Mrs. H.) the March 17 premiere of his picture, "Alias Jesse James."

He will give Dolores the receipts for the first night at the Westwood Village Theatre for her favorite charity, the Holy Name Adoption Society.

He also plans to start a picture in July and will do two more TV shows, that is, providing the New York specialist gives him permission. It's so hard for him to rest, which now is important.

Talk about type-casting—Buddy Bregman will play opposite Gale Storm in one of her "Oh Susannah" TV shows. Buddy plays a composer piano-playing character. The song "Break It To Me Gently," lyrics by Stanley Styne, son of Julie Styne, were written especially for Buddy and will be heard all through the picture.

"I try to sell my song, without any success at first," said Buddy, "I play a song-writing sailor, and I am not only at the piano, but I also act and sing."

Fire Routs Thousand

HONG KONG (UPI)—One thousand persons were homeless Thursday as a result of a fire that raced through ramshackle huts in a squatter village. Two persons were injured.

May Invite Royalty

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express said Thursday Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev planned to invite Prince Philip and a number of other members of European royalty to Moscow. The newspaper gave no source for the report.

Among Glacier National Park's 400 bears, only a dozen beg food from visitors. One of the most notorious bear panhandlers was once trapped and taken to a remote area. Three weeks and 60 miles later she was back on her old stand on the Going-to-the-Sun Highway.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—From far away Australia Fred Astaire cabled Bill Perlberg and George Seaton his enthusiastic acceptance of their offer to co-star with Lilli Palmer in "Pleasure of His Company," which they are getting ready for Paramount release. The stage play by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Samuel Taylor was produced by Freddie Brisson and has been a smash hit on Broadway.

Taylor wrote the screenplay and this will be the first of Lilli's three picture deal for Perlberg-Seaton. She and Fred play the estranged parents who disagree on their daughter's marriage.

David Selznick tells me that he will turn over "Tender Is the Night" and "Scarlet Lily," the story of Mary Magdalene, to 20th Century-Fox for Jennifer Jones.

"I will not produce them, nor have any part in their production," he said. "I have worked on the stories, and they are all ready to go."

"What does this mean when you have always been associated in the production of Jennifer's pictures?" I asked.

"Not really," he said, "I have only done two or three pictures with her. The reason now is that I want to get my stage play 'Gone With the Wind' going in New York, and there's nothing more than that back of the fact that I have decided not to produce her next pictures. I have faith in 20th, and know they will turn out well."

The first assignment given Sidney Poitier since he won the Academy Award nomination for "The Defiant Ones" is by Hall Bartlett. Young Poitier, described as the most gifted young Negro actor in America, will be starred in "All the Young Men," a screenplay by Hall Bartlett, who will also produce and direct it.

There are five starring roles and Poitier is the first signed. Negotiations for the other four are under way. Poitier, who plays the title role of Porgy in Samuel Goldwyn's "Porgy and Bess," is currently starring in "Raisin In the Sun" on the stage, due to open on Broadway soon.

Barbara Stanwyck laughed when I told her I had heard that it was all but settled for her to play Jennie Janis, Elsie Janis' dominating, hard-working mother.

"I never know what I'm going to do," Barbara said, "until I read it in your column. Naturally I would love to play that role—who wouldn't?"

Joe Pasternak told me that he favors Barbara and he thinks she'd be just perfect for the part. As long as she lived Jennie was Elsie's shadow, by her side all through her life, urging her on and keeping her at the top.

Discouraged as Bob Hope is over the blood clot in his eye and the necessity for consulting a New York specialist, he still took time out to discuss with Dolores (Mrs. H.) the March 17 premiere of his picture, "Alias Jesse James."

He will give Dolores the receipts for the first night at the Westwood Village Theatre for her favorite charity, the Holy Name Adoption Society.

He also plans to start a picture in July and will do two more TV shows, that is, providing the New York specialist gives him permission. It's so hard for him to rest, which now is important.

Talk about type-casting—Buddy Bregman will play opposite Gale Storm in one of her "Oh Susannah" TV shows. Buddy plays a composer piano-playing character. The song "Break It To Me Gently," lyrics by Stanley Styne, son of Julie Styne, were written especially for Buddy and will be heard all through the picture.

"I try to sell my song, without any success at first," said Buddy, "I play a song-writing sailor, and I am not only at the piano, but I also act and sing."

Fire Routs Thousand

HONG KONG (UPI)—One thousand persons were homeless Thursday as a result of a fire that raced through ramshackle huts in a squatter village. Two persons were injured.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, James C. Trenum, who passed away one year ago, March 4, 1958.
A loving one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still.
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
As years roll on and days pass by,
Deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
Of the one we loved and can never forget.
Sadly missed by his wife,
JOSEPHINE TRENUM and Children.

In loving memory of our Mom, Mrs. Laura Smith, who passed away 1 year ago today, March 6, 1958.
There's an open gate at the end of the road
Through which each must go alone,
And there is a light we cannot see
Our father claims His own.
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest.
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
God knows how much we miss her
Never shall her memory fade,
Loving thoughts will ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.
Sadly missed by her
CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, James C. Trenum, who passed away one year ago, March 4, 1958.
A loving one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still.
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
As years roll on and days pass by,
Deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
Of the one we loved and can never forget.
Sadly missed by his wife,
JOSEPHINE TRENUM and Children.

In loving memory of our Mom, Mrs. Laura Smith, who passed away 1 year ago today, March 6, 1958.
There's an open gate at the end of the road
Through which each must go alone,
And there is a light we cannot see
Our father claims His own.
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest.
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
God knows how much we miss her
Never shall her memory fade.
Loving thoughts will ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.
Sadly missed by her
CHILDREN.

NCI Plan For Krebiozen Test Gains Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An advisory committee has backed up the National Cancer Institute's plan for an impartial committee of scientists to test the controversial anti-cancer drug, Krebiozen, it was disclosed Wednesday night.

An institute spokesman said the 12-man National Advisory Cancer Council endorsed the institute's approach over one supported by the drug's chief advocate, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy.

Ivy, medical consultant at the Krebiozen Foundation at Chicago, insists that he be permitted to sit on any "arbitration - type" panel which will run tests of the compound and interpret its results.

Dr. John R. Heller, cancer institute director, contends Ivy's participation would not be scientifically acceptable. He has proposed instead that a committee of nationally-known scientists determine whether a test is needed and how it should be carried out.

Heller and Ivy have exchanged a number of letters on the subject and still are deadlocked.

Ivy and Dr. Stefan Durovic, discoverer of Krebiozen, have held two conferences with Heller and his top aides at the request of Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.).

Krebiozen supporters claim it is an effective treatment for cancer. However, the American Medical Association has labelled the drug as "worthless."

Field Office Destroyed By Fire

Firemen from Central and West Side responded yesterday when a blaze destroyed a field office of the Hazelwood Construction Company on Greene Street.

Chief Virgil A. Parker said the cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Two alarms were reported and firemen from Central sent along the 85-foot hook and ladder truck, since one of the alarms was pulled at the Algonquin Hotel.

Chief Parker said several typewriters and desks, surveying equipment and tools were stored in the small frame shed.

Traffic along Greene Street was halted for a short time when firemen had to run hose lines across the street.

NCI Plan For Krebiozen Test Gains Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An advisory committee has backed up the National Cancer Institute's plan for an impartial committee of scientists to test the controversial anti-cancer drug, Krebiozen, it was disclosed Wednesday night.

An institute spokesman said the 12-man National Advisory Cancer Council endorsed the institute's approach over one supported by the drug's chief advocate, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy.

Ivy, medical consultant at the Krebiozen Foundation at Chicago, insists that he be permitted to sit on any "arbitration - type" panel which will run tests of the compound and interpret its results.

Dr. John R. Heller, cancer institute director, contends Ivy's participation would not be scientifically acceptable. He has proposed instead that a committee of nationally-known scientists determine whether a test is needed and how it should be carried out.

Heller and Ivy have exchanged a number of letters on the subject and still are deadlocked.

Ivy and Dr. Stefan Durovic, discoverer of Krebiozen, have held two conferences with Heller and his top aides at the request of Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.).

Krebiozen supporters claim it is an effective treatment for cancer. However, the American Medical Association has labelled the drug as "worthless."

Field Office Destroyed By Fire

Firemen from Central and West Side responded yesterday when a blaze destroyed a field office of the Hazelwood Construction Company on Greene Street.

Chief Virgil A. Parker said the cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Two alarms were reported and firemen from Central sent along the 85-foot hook and ladder truck, since one of the alarms was pulled at the Algonquin Hotel.

Chief Parker said several typewriters and desks, surveying equipment and tools were stored in the small frame shed.

Traffic along Greene Street was halted for a short time when firemen had to run hose lines across the street.

Stock Market Advances For 6th Session In Row

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed higher once again — the sixth session in a row—capping a day of irregular, less active trading.

Following the market close the federal reserve Banks of New York, Dallas, Philadelphia and Chicago boosted discount rates from 2½ to 3 per cent.

The move—the third increase in seven months in the rate which the reserve charges on loans to member commercial banks—could be expected to have a mixed influence on the market. While tight money as such is not favorable to the market, stock prices can be expected to rise in periods of inflation. The action was considered a sign the reserve board is seriously concerned over inflation despite the relative stability of consumer prices since last summer.

Highlighting the day's activity were profit-taking losses in recent upside leaders such as Thiokol, off nearly 8 points, and Zenith, down 3 points; plus some sharp gains in individual features such as Eversharp, Gabriel Co., Maytag, Philadelphia & Reading, all up around 2 points.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains were irregular Thursday, juggling to a heavy and firm close.

Wheat closed up ⅞s to off 1¼ cents; corn (old) off ¼ cent; (new) unchanged to off 1 cent; oats off ⅜ to up ½ cent; rye unchanged to up ⅝s cent; soybeans unchanged to off 1 cent.

An active market advanced March and May wheat to new seasonal highs. Support came from export covering and light offerings. March finally closed up ⅞s cent but May, after considerable profit-taking on the advance, had only a ⅛ cent gain.

Corn remained in steady ranges during most of the session. March was under much selling pressure, but halted when down only ¼. Locals wanted the May, as did Northwest interests. According to a private survey, corn acreage in Iowa and Illinois this year will be 5 to 10 per cent greater.

Soybeans, easier throughout the day, lost on nearby positions. March went down ⅝s to ½ cent and May ½. Local buying kept distant contracts about steady.

Grains at outside markets were rather steady. The range:

Stock Market Advances For 6th Session In Row

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed higher once again — the sixth session in a row—capping a day of irregular, less active trading.

Following the market close the federal reserve Banks of New York, Dallas, Philadelphia and Chicago boosted discount rates from 2½ to 3 per cent.

The move—the third increase in seven months in the rate which the reserve charges on loans to member commercial banks—could be expected to have a mixed influence on the market. While tight money as such is not favorable to the market, stock prices can be expected to rise in periods of inflation. The action was considered a sign the reserve board is seriously concerned over inflation despite the relative stability of consumer prices since last summer.

Highlighting the day's activity were profit-taking losses in recent upside leaders such as Thiokol, off nearly 8 points, and Zenith, down 3 points; plus some sharp gains in individual features such as Eversharp, Gabriel Co., Maytag, Philadelphia & Reading, all up around 2 points.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains were irregular Thursday, juggling to a heavy and firm close.

Wheat closed up ⅞ to off 1¼ cents; corn (old) off ¼ cent; (new) unchanged to off 1 cent; oats off ⅝ to up ½ cent; rye unchanged to up ⅞ cent; soybeans unchanged to off 1 cent.

An active market advanced March and May wheat to new seasonal highs. Support came from export covering and light offerings. March finally closed up ⅞ cent but May, after considerable profit-taking on the advance, had only a ¼ cent gain.

Corn remained in steady ranges during most of the session. March was under much selling pressure, but halted when down only ¼. Locals wanted the May, as did Northwest interests. According to a private survey, corn acreage in Iowa and Illinois this year will be 5 to 10 per cent greater.

Liquidation in March oats caused a ¼ to ⅝ cent decline. July oats, however, rose ½ on the bushel. September did the same. Cash houses bought some March and increased their demand for new crop deliveries.

Soybeans, easier throughout the day, lost on nearby positions. March went down ⅝ to ¾ cent and May ½. Local buying kept distant contracts about steady.

Grains at outside markets were rather steady. The range:

Clerical Group Against Change In Liquor Law

Wants Referendum On 12 Or 1 Closing

The Cumberland Ministerial Association yesterday told representatives of the Allegany County Liquor Dealers Association it is opposed to any liberalization of this county's liquor laws.

The executive board of the Ministerium reiterated its policy at a meeting with the Liquor Dealers unit, held in Central YMCA at the request of the industry group.

The liquor dealers, a ministerial spokesman said, requested the meeting so they could present their views on the proposal which was introduced as House Bill 352 by Delegates Conlon, Cook, Driscoll and Walsh.

Won't Withdraw

The Ministerial Association, a spokesman said, informed the dealers that it has opposed and will continue to oppose any liberalization of the law.

The dealers, it was reported, had hoped the ministers would withdraw their objections.

The ministers said they feel that the referendum called for is unfair, in that the dealers have nothing to lose and something to gain.

They propose that the people have the chance to vote on whether taverns should close at midnight or at 1 a. m.

To Be Changed

The bill as entered makes no change in the closing hours of taverns but would allow them to sell from midnight until 1 a. m. on weekdays, when they are open anyway.

A clergyman pointed out that most of the difficulty seems to arise over the hour when taverns are open but not permitted to sell, and said the fair solution would be to close taverns when selling stops.

As written, the referendum clause in the bill calls for voting on "For Later Closing" or "Against Later Closing."

The wording is a mistake, legislators report, and will be changed to "For Later Selling" and "Against later selling" after a March 11 hearing on the bill.

Flu Outbreak Seen Leveling Off In County

Four local parochial schools are closed today because of the flu which has caused absenteeism in Allegany County schools during the past two weeks. However the outbreak of flu seems to be leveling off, school officials believe.

SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy will be closed today in hopes that the long weekend will result in clearing up cases of flu.

Earlier this week St. Patrick's and Catholic Girls Central were dismissed for the remainder of the week because absenteeism was running so high.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of the parish, said last night that both schools are expected to be back in operation Monday.

Another county parochial school, St. Michael's in Frostburg, was reopened yesterday after a two-day closing.

Not only have pupils been victims of the flu, but some of the teachers have had to stay home from classes.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for public schools in the county, said it has not been necessary to close any public schools, as it was felt there are enough children attending to operate somewhat normally.

The outbreak of flu among the youngsters seems to be leveling off, with some schools having less absenteeism during the past two days, and several reporting about the same number out of school.

South End Firemen Extinguish Blazes

South Cumberland Fire Department was called to 47 Elder Street yesterday at 5:29 p. m. when a shed at the rear of the home of Frank A. Zahradka caught fire.

The same company rolled at 1:14 p. m. when a grass fire broke out on a vacant lot at Second Street and Memorial Avenue.

62 Seek To Take Civil Service Tests

Some 62 persons filed applications with Mrs. Joan S. Burke, secretary of the Allegany County Civil Service Board, to take civil service tests for positions as orderly and practical nurse at the County Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat.

Exactly 31 applied for each of the two tests. Mrs. Burke said the tests will be given at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday at the West Side Elementary School on Paca Street in Cumberland.

Eleven persons took the Civil Service test for deputy sheriff on February 25 but the tests have not yet been graded. There is a vacancy existing since Paul C. Haberlein, a former deputy sheriff, was appointed sheriff by then Governor Theodore R. McKeldin just a few days before he left office in January.

Youth Candidates Active In Scholastic Programs

Allegany County high school students who will be candidates for state offices in the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y pre-legislative session of the Youth and Government program Saturday at College Park, are quite active in school and extracurricular programs.

Donald Dowell, 17-year-old senior at Allegany High School, who is a candidate for Youth Governor, plans to study pre-theology at Grove City College in Pennsylvania.

He is president of the Allegany School Band, treasurer of the United Nations Club, president of the Allegany County Sportsmanship Commission and a junior assistant scoutmaster of Troop 13. Dowell is a member of First Presbyterian Church and its choir, and is a moderator of the Presbyterian Fellowship.

John McIntyre, 16, a junior at Bruce High School, who is a candidate for Speaker of the House, has been a member of the Hi-Y for two years. He is treasurer of the Youth Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church and a member of the high school band, the all-county chorus and all-county band, and is active in Junior Red Cross work.

Phil Beeman, 18-year-old senior at Beall High, who is a candidate for President of the Senate, is an Eagle Scout, a junior assistant scoutmaster and is active in Junior Red Cross work. President of the Beall Hi-Y for three years, young Beeman is a member of the high school chorus and all-county chorus and is business manager of the yearbook staff.

Bonnie Kooken, 17, a senior at Bruce High, is a member of the senior band, senior girls chorus and select chorus. Listed on the honor roll, she is vice president of the Student Council, president of the Presbyterian Youth Fellowship and church choir. She has also qualified as a home nurse in the Red Cross program.

Leader of the county delegation to Saturday's session is Carolyn Cook, 17-year-old senior at Beall High. Vice president of the Central Atlantic Area Hi-Y—Tri-Hi-Y Council, Miss Cook is a winner of the "I Speak for Democracy" contest and is chaplain of the Beall Tri-Hi-Y. She is secretary of the National Honor Society and a member of the National Thespian Society, and is co-president of the County Hi-Y Council.

She is active in Girl Scout work, having been awarded the five-point pin. Miss Cook is a member of First Methodist Church in Frostburg, and was named "Citizen of the Year" at Beall in 1957-58.

Senator See Will Confirm Melvin Sloan

State Senator Charles M. See reported from Annapolis last night that he will confirm the appointment of Melvin Sloan, Lonaconing trial magistrate, as the minority member of the Allegany County board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners.

He said Governor J. Millard Tawes sent down Mr. Sloan's name during yesterday afternoon's Senate session.

He said the appointment has been referred to the Senate Committee on Executive Nominations, of which Sen. See is a member, and estimated that the committee will ask Senate confirmation sometime next week.

Mr. Sloan's name, he said, will remain with the committee until formal action is taken to seek full Senate confirmation.

Senator See said Mr. Sloan will be confirmed, as confirmation on local appointments is left up to the local senators.

No. 1 Choice

He said he will confirm Mr. Sloan because he is the No. 1 choice of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County.

The Senator said he told the committee, when he was appointed to his Senate seat in 1957, that he would accept its recommendations but that if a name came down that he could not go along with, he would ask the committee for another name.

He said the committee's job is to screen applications and make recommendations, and that he expects the committee to do its job as "I do mine."

He said he will approve the appointment, as he sees no reason to make a change.

Mr. Sloan's name is the second sent down by Governor Tawes.

Is Turned Down

Last week, he nominated Reatus L. Spiker, Uhl Highway, for the post.

Mr. Spiker was nominated by the Democratic State Central Committee here but his name was in third place on the list submitted by the Republican State Central Committee.

The Senate refused to confirm Mr. Spiker. Senator See declined to comment at the time.

Over the weekend, Mr. Spiker, publisher of the South End Messenger and active Republican politician, both in South Cumberland and in the county, said Sen. See's action against him was political.

Mr. Spiker said Sen. See has blamed him since the general election for endangering his (Sen. See's) leadership of the Republican Party in Allegany County.

Stanley Hamilton, the incumbent GOP member of the liquor board, was the No. 2 selection of the state central committee.

Cabin, School Are Entered

George Washington's cabin in Riverside Park was broken into Tuesday night, it was learned last night.

The historical landmark was entered after an intruder smashed the lock on the door. It was reported that nothing was taken.

Also broken into on Tuesday night was the Johnson Heights School on Memorial Avenue.

Lt. James E. Van said entrance was gained by forcing a rear window. Most of the damage was done to door frames and doors as the intruder or intruders toured the building.

Police said the door to the principal's office was broken and file cabinets in the office were ransacked. Nothing was taken.

The cases are among several being investigated by city police.

The Van Motor Sales, 824 North Mechanic Street, told police yesterday morning that four hub caps were taken from a car in the lot.

House Passes Handicapped Survey Bill

Local Bills Get Favorable Reports

The House yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing the County Commissioners to appropriate up to $2,000 to Friends Aware of Handicapped Children for a survey of handicapped children in this county.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, reported the action and said the bill had been amended to read mentally retarded instead of handicapped.

He said Senator Charles M. See, the sponsor, has indicated he will concur in the amendment.

The fund is being asked, he said, for a survey which might indicate the need of a workshop for the mentally retarded.

Are Reported Out

Allegany County's delegates to the General Assembly have given favorable reports on one Senate bill and four House of Delegates bills.

House Bill 421 would increase the salary of the judge of Allegany County Circuit Court by $2,500. This would make his annual salary $19,500.

House Hill 422 would increase the price of Allegany County marriage licenses issued by the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court by $2 to make them $4 each.

Compact Bill Passes

House Bill 456 would allow the judge of Circuit Court to set the fees of the court stenographer.

House Bill 463 provides for the recording of documents in Allegany County Circuit Court by photostat or other similar methods.

The State Senate Wednesday passed Senate Bill 341 sponsored by Sen. Bernard I. Gonder of Garrett County which would authorize Maryland to enter into the interstate compact to conserve gas and oil.

14 Seniors To Take Scholarship Exam

Some 14 seniors in high schools of Allegany County have indicated they will take the senatorial scholarship examination tomorrow at 10 a. m. in Allegany High School.

The test will be given under the supervision of Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, and Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools.

County Unit Begins Study Of Education

Allegany County's participation in a state-wide study of the secondary education of Maryland was discussed here yesterday afternoon during a meeting attended by high school principals, supervisors and parents.

County coordinator for the study is Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, who led the discussion held at the Board of Education on Washington Street.

Search For Goals

Yesterday's topic for consideration was "What Should Be The Goals For Secondary Education?" The meeting was opened by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster who welcomed the group and stated the purpose of the meeting.

Then he turned the meeting over to Mr. Rizer who said that considerable time was spent on reviewing secondary education as presented by educational leaders during the past 100 years.

It was pointed out that during the past 10 years high schools have accepted as goals the all around development of boys and girls, including problems of physical growth and change and academic learning.

Ready For College?

Most of the speakers agreed that while high schools are doing a good job, there could possibly be more emphasis placed on getting ready for college through proper guidance and high standards of achievement.

It was also emphasized that high schools should impress parents and pupils alike with the importance of close cooperation with school authorities in their efforts to have each child achieve the maximum of his ability.

The meeting was part of a state-wide study being conducted in each county and Baltimore City. A summary of yesterday's meeting will be sent to the State Board of Education for consideration in the study. Other such meetings will be held soon.

Hotelmen Urge Promotion Of Tourist Trade

Express Doubt On Consolidation

Fear that the incorporation of Maryland's Department of Information into a new department of wider scope will result in less emphasis on promoting the state for tourist trade has been voiced by the Maryland Hotel Association.

As the result of discussion at a recent meeting of the state hotelmen in Baltimore, J. L. Towler, president, who operates Allegany Hotel Inn here, has written Gov. J. Millard Tawes on the question.

Mr. Towler said last night the hotel association has asked Gov. Tawes for an opportunity for a committee to meet with him or with the head of the new department to make clear their position.

The association president pointed out that the governor stated recently that the proposed new department would be for the purpose of promoting industry, recreation and generally calling attention to Maryland and its advantages.

Mr. Towler said, "We are in full accord with these objectives of generally promoting the resources of the state and attracting new industry. We feel grave concern, however, that the progress in promoting tourism may be lost to the detriment of the state and business generally.

"We feel," he continued, "that it is extremely important that the state of Maryland, with its rich lore of tourist attractions, continue an aggressive and expanding program. We are concerned that the functions of the Department of Information will be overlooked in the new program."

Copies of Mr. Towler's communication to the governor were sent to the President of the Maryland Senate and the Speaker of the House.

Road Traffic Slowed By Snow, Rain

Snow and rain which fell in the Cumberland area last night caused a slowdown in highway traffic.

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported that U.S. 40 west of here became snow-covered, and cindering crews of the State Roads Commission were alerted.

Similar slippery conditions were reported on Route 40 east of here, where it had been snowing hard. Route 220 in the Cresaptown area also was slippery.

Garrett County had high winds and cold rain last night, and snow is expected this morning. The temperature in the Oakland area last night was just above freezing.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said highways along the top of the mountains on U. S. Route 50 were slick with rain. Highways in the vicinity of Bedford were wet and slushy, Pennsylvania police reported.

Additional snow flurries are forecast today in Western Maryland. Cloudy skies with rain and wind and mild temperatures during the early part of the day are expected. The temperature will probably cool this evening and there may be snow flurries.

House Gives Approval To Point Plan

Bill Would Affect Traffic Violators

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A point system for traffic violators received approval Thursday of the House of Delegates which became enmeshed in parliamentary confusion over movie censorship for children.

The delegates moved the point system to passage stage after rejecting an attempt to eliminate a flexibility provision. The commissioner of motor vehicles would be allowed to change the point assessments leading to suspension and revocation of driver licenses if the superintendent of State Police and governor concurred.

Battle Postponed

The real hassle over juvenile film censorship was postponed until Tuesday. The procedure for the delay became so involved that one of two bills on the subject was inadvertently quashed.

The bill which would allow state censors to designate movies obscene only for children was resurrected, however, and will be given another fighting chance next week.

The delegates first will be polled on a bill authorizing local police to direct theater operators to bar anyone under 18 from viewing movies considered obscene, indecent or immoral.

This received a 17-12 favorable vote from the Judiciary Committee. The other was voted down 13-12.

Del. Hess (D-Harford) sought to strike out the discretionary power proposed for the commissioner of motor vehicles to revise the point set-up.

He argued that "we're going into a new field and the Legislature should keep complete control."

Urges Confidence

Del. Silver (D-Balto 5th), chairman of the Motor Vehicles Committee, said the point value was in the field of administration and the Legislature should have confidence in the officials authorized to make changes.

The recommended points range from 2 points for a moving violation up to 12 for the most serious offenses. Licenses of a driver accumulating 8 points would be suspended for 2 to 30 days and revoked for 12.

Special treatment would be accorded those whose livelihood depends on driving. Suspension for them would begin at 15 points and revocation at 18.

The point penalty system is one of the strongest planks in a series recommended by Gov. Tawes to improve highway safety.

City Pigeon Control Fund Is Suggested

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, yesterday asked the Mayor and Council to set aside funds each year to combat the tramp pigeon and starling menace.

He recommended that an amount not to exceed $100 be appropriated annually to exterminate the pests in city-owned buildings.

Dr. van Strien pointed out that in some places it would also be necessary to screen off or close the resting places of the birds.

The pigeon problem, he added, has become a public nuisance, is a potential health hazard and is causing damage to buildings in the city.

Teachers May Get Increase In Pay Scale

Tawes To Announce Verdict Next Week

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes and school officials reportedly have reached agreement on a $400 average pay raise for school teachers to be financed over the next four years.

He is expected to announce the salary plan next week if a revision in estimates of state revenues will provide the estimated $2,500,000 cost of the first year. Tawes as said he expects revenues to be increased over the last estimates given him in December.

The governor met Wednesday with State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen and members of the State Teachers Assn. to discuss the proposal.

Would Raise Guarantee

It is understood to involve acceptance of the teachers' request that their guaranteed minimum salaries be boosted from a present starting point of $3,200 to $4,000. The new maximum level would be raised from a state guaranteed $5,000 to $6,000.

Since all subdivisions of the State except Garrett County are already paying $3,600 or more a year to start, it is not expected to require any further substantial outlay on their part.

Garrett presently pays a starting salary of $3,400. Scales range upward to a beginning level of $4,000 in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Washington counties.

The subdivisions also are paying more than the top scale guaranteed by the state.

Officials of the State Teachers Assn. would not comment on the reported agreement beyond saying they presented to the governor their request for an average $400 increase, which would cost the state more than 12 million dollars.

They said they realized it could not be completely financed this year because of a tight revenue picture.

Workings Explained

It was understood from other sources that the plan would be spread over four years in order to lighten the financial burden on the state. It also was understood the money can be distributed among teachers at the county level as the counties see fit, and will not require that $400 be paid each individual teacher.

Gov. Tawes promised the pay boost during his campaign last fall. He told his first press conference after inauguration he hoped to give teachers some kind of salary adjustment this year within the framework of available revenue.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Thursday the sales tax yield for the current year is expected to be around $1,000,000 above the amount estimated last December. He would not comment on whether 1960 estimates will be scaled upward also.

But with $2,500,000 already earmarked for teacher salary boosts, the governor apparently is expecting a higher revision.

Bill Introduced To Boost Game Wardens' Power

The Allegany County Delegation has introduced a bill to specify that the Game and Inland Fish Commission shall enforce certain sections of the natural resources act.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said the proposal, House Bill 462, was introduced at the request of the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation.

The effect of the legislation would be to empower game wardens to enforce sections of the la on reckless operation of power boats, hunting while intoxicated, and trespassing on state land.

A formal request for the bill was made when the Federation met the delegation and Senator Charles M. See here early in December.

The state-wide bill was reported out by the Delegation and referred to the committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources.

House Bill 456 has been introduced by the Allegany and Garrett delegations. It authorizes the Allegany and Garrett circuit courts to set up a schedule of fees charged by the stenographers.

Clerical Group Against Change In Liquor Law

Wants Referendum On 12 Or 1 Closing

The Cumberland Ministerial Association yesterday told representatives of the Allegany County Liquor Dealers Association it is opposed to any liberalization of this county's liquor laws.

The executive board of the Ministerium reiterated its policy at a meeting with the Liquor Dealers unit, held in Central YMCA at the request of the industry group.

The liquor dealers, a ministerial spokesman said, requested the meeting so they could present their views on the proposal which was introduced as House Bill 352 by Delegates Conlon, Cook, Driscoll and Walsh.

Won't Withdraw

The Ministerial Association, a spokesman said, informed the dealers that it has opposed and will continue to oppose any liberalization of the law.

The dealers, it was reported, had hoped the ministers would withdraw their objections.

Flu Outbreak Seen Leveling Off In County

Four local parochial schools are closed today because of the flu which has caused absenteeism in Allegany County schools during the past two weeks. However the outbreak of flu seems to be leveling off, school officials believe.

SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy will be closed today in hopes that the long weekend will result in clearing up cases of flu.

Earlier this week St. Patrick's and Catholic Girls Central were dismissed for the remainder of the week because absenteeism was running so high.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of the parish, said last night that both schools are expected to be back in operation Monday.

Another county parochial school, St. Michael's in Frostburg, was reopened yesterday after a two-day closing.

Not only have pupils been victims of the flu, but some of the teachers have had to stay home from classes.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for public schools in the county, said it has not been necessary to close any public schools, as it was felt there are enough children attending to operate somewhat normally.

The outbreak of flu among the youngsters seems to be leveling off, with some schools having less absenteeism during the past two days, and several reporting about the same number out of school.

House Passes Handicapped Survey Bill

Local Bills Get Favorable Reports

The House yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing the County Commissioners to appropriate up to $2,000 to Friends Aware of Handicapped Children for a survey of handicapped children in this county.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, reported the action and said the bill had been amended to read mentally retarded instead of handicapped.

He said Senator Charles M. See, the sponsor, has indicated he will concur in the amendment.

The fund is being asked, he said, for a survey which might indicate the need of a workshop for the mentally retarded.

Are Reported Out

Allegany County's delegates to the General Assembly have given favorable reports on one Senate bill and four House of Delegates bills.

House Bill 421 would increase the salary of the judge of Allegany County Circuit Court by $2,500. This would make his annual salary $19,500.

House Hill 422 would increase the price of Allegany County marriage licenses issued by the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court by $2 to make them $4 each.

14 Seniors To Take Scholarship Exam

Some 14 seniors in high schools of Allegany County have indicated they will take the senatorial scholarship examination tomorrow at 10 a. m. in Allegany High School.

The test will be given under the supervision of Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, and Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools.

Cabin, School Are Entered

George Washington's cabin in Riverside Park was broken into Tuesday night, it was learned last night.

The historical landmark was entered after an intruder smashed the lock on the door. It was reported that nothing was taken.

Also broken into on Tuesday night was the Johnson Heights School on Memorial Avenue.

Lt. James E. Van said entrance was gained by forcing a rear window. Most of the damage was done to door frames and doors as the intruder or intruders toured the building.

Police said the door to the principal's office was broken and file cabinets in the office were ransacked. Nothing was taken.

The cases are among several being investigated by city police.

Edward Nave, 500 Davidson Street, yesterday told police a set of fender skirts was taken from his car as it was parked in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company lot.

The Van Motor Sales, 824 North Mechanic Street, told police yesterday morning that four hub caps were taken from a car in the lot.

County Unit Begins Study Of Education

Allegany County's participation in a state-wide study of the secondary education of Maryland was discussed here yesterday afternoon during a meeting attended by high school principals, supervisors and parents.

County coordinator for the study is Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, who led the discussion held at the Board of Education on Washington Street.

Search For Goals

Yesterday's topic for consideration was "What Should Be The Goals For Secondary Education?" The meeting was opened by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster who welcomed the group and stated the purpose of the meeting.

Then he turned the meeting over to Mr. Rizer who said that considerable time was spent on reviewing secondary education as presented by educational leaders during the past 100 years.

It was pointed out that during the past 10 years high schools have accepted as goals the all around development of boys and girls, including problems of physical growth and change and academic learning.

Ready For College?

Most of the speakers agreed that while high schools are doing a good job, there could possibly be more emphasis placed on getting ready for college through proper guidance and high standards of achievement.

It was also emphasized that high schools should impress parents and pupils alike with the importance of close cooperation with school authorities in their efforts to have each child achieve the maximum of his ability.

The meeting was part of a state-wide study being conducted in each county and Baltimore City. A summary of yesterday's meeting will be sent to the State Board of Education for consideration in the study. Other such meetings will be held soon.

Hotelmen Urge Promotion Of Tourist Trade

Express Doubt On Consolidation

Fear that the incorporation of Maryland's Department of Information into a new department of wider scope will result in less emphasis on promoting the state for tourist trade has been voiced by the Maryland Hotel Association.

As the result of discussion at a recent meeting of the state hotelmen in Baltimore, J. L. Towler, president, who operates Allegany Hotel Inn here, has written Gov. J. Millard Tawes on the question.

Mr. Towler said last night the hotel association has asked Gov. Tawes for an opportunity for a committee to meet with him or with the head of the new department to make clear their position.

The association president pointed out that the governor stated recently that the proposed new department would be for the purpose of promoting industry, recreation and generally calling attention to Maryland and its advantages.

Mr. Towler said, "We are in full accord with these objectives of generally promoting the resources of the state and attracting new industry. We feel grave concern, however, that the progress in promoting tourism may be lost to the detriment of the state and business generally.

"We feel," he continued, "that it is extremely important that the state of Maryland, with its rich lore of tourist attractions, continue an aggressive and expanding program. We are concerned that the functions of the Department of Information will be overlooked in the new program."

Copies of Mr. Towler's communication to the governor were sent to the President of the Maryland Senate and the Speaker of the House.

Road Traffic Slowed By Snow, Rain

Snow and rain which fell in the Cumberland area last night caused a slowdown in highway traffic.

Maryland State Police at La Vale reported that U.S. 40 west of here became snow-covered, and cindering crews of the State Roads Commission were alerted.

Similar slippery conditions were reported on Route 40 east of here, where it had been snowing hard. Route 220 in the Cresaptown area also was slippery.

Garrett County had high winds and cold rain last night, and snow is expected this morning. The temperature in the Oakland area last night was just above freezing.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said highways along the top of the mountains on U. S. Route 50 were slick with rain. Highways in the vicinity of Bedford were wet and slushy, Pennsylvania police reported.

Additional snow flurries are forecast today in Western Maryland. Cloudy skies with rain and wind and mild temperatures during the early part of the day are expected. The temperature will probably cool this evening and there may be snow flurries.

House Gives Approval To Point Plan

Bill Would Affect Traffic Violators

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A point system for traffic violators received approval Thursday of the House of Delegates which became enmeshed in parliamentary confusion over movie censorship for children.

The delegates moved the point system to passage stage after rejecting an attempt to eliminate a flexibility provision. The commissioner of motor vehicles would be allowed to change the point assessments leading to suspension and revocation of driver licenses if the superintendent of State Police and governor concurred.

Battle Postponed

The real hassle over juvenile film censorship was postponed until Tuesday. The procedure for the delay became so involved that one of two bills on the subject was inadvertently quashed.

The bill which would allow state censors to designate movies obscene only for children was resurrected, however, and will be given another fighting chance next week.

The delegates first will be polled on a bill authorizing local police to direct theater operators to bar anyone under 18 from viewing movies considered obscene, indecent or immoral.

This received a 17-12 favorable vote from the Judiciary Committee. The other was voted down 13-12.

Del. Hess (D-Harford) sought to strike out the discretionary power proposed for the commissioner of motor vehicles to revise the point set-up.

He argued that "we're going into a new field and the Legislature should keep complete control."

Urges Confidence

Del. Silver (D-Balto 5th), chairman of the Motor Vehicles Committee, said the point value was in the field of administration and the Legislature should have confidence in the officials authorized to make changes.

The recommended points range from 2 points for a moving violation up to 12 for the most serious offenses. Licenses of a driver accumulating 8 points would be suspended for 2 to 30 days and revoked for 12.

Special treatment would be accorded those whose livelihood depends on driving. Suspension for them would begin at 15 points and revocation at 18.

City Pigeon Control Fund Is Suggested

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, yesterday asked the Mayor and Council to set aside funds each year to combat the tramp pigeon and starling menace.

He recommended that an amount not to exceed $100 be appropriated annually to exterminate the pests in city-owned buildings.

Dr. van Strien pointed out that in some places it would also be necessary to screen off or close the resting places of the birds.

The pigeon problem, he added, has become a public nuisance, is a potential health hazard and is causing damage to buildings in the city.

Teachers May Get Increase In Pay Scale

Tawes To Announce Verdict Next Week

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes and school officials reportedly have reached agreement on a $400 average pay raise for school teachers to be financed over the next four years.

He is expected to announce the salary plan next week if a revision in estimates of state revenues will provide the estimated $2,500,000 cost of the first year. Tawes as said he expects revenues to be increased over the last estimates given him in December.

The governor met Wednesday with State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen and members of the State Teachers Assn. to discuss the proposal.

Would Raise Guarantee

It is understood to involve acceptance of the teachers' request that their guaranteed minimum salaries be boosted from a present starting point of $3,200 to $4,000. The new maximum level would be raised from a state guaranteed $5,000 to $6,000.

Since all subdivisions of the State except Garrett County are already paying $3,600 or more a year to start, it is not expected to require any further substantial outlay on their part.

Garrett presently pays a starting salary of $3,400. Scales range upward to a beginning level of $4,000 in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Washington counties.

The subdivisions also are paying more than the top scale guaranteed by the state.

Officials of the State Teachers Assn. would not comment on the reported agreement beyond saying they presented to the governor their request for an average $400 increase, which would cost the state more than 12 million dollars.

They said they realized it could not be completely financed this year because of a tight revenue picture.

Workings Explained

It was understood from other sources that the plan would be spread over four years in order to lighten the financial burden on the state. It also was understood the money can be distributed among teachers at the county level as the counties see fit, and will not require that $400 be paid each individual teacher.

Gov. Tawes promised the pay boost during his campaign last fall. He told his first press conference after inauguration he hoped to give teachers some kind of salary adjustment this year within the framework of available revenue.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Thursday the sales tax yield for the current year is expected to be around $1,000,000 above the amount estimated last December. He would not comment on whether 1960 estimates will be scaled upward also.

But with $2,500,000 already earmarked for teacher salary boosts, the governor apparently is expecting a higher revision.

Bill Introduced To Boost Game Wardens' Power

The Allegany County Delegation has introduced a bill to specify that the Game and Inland Fish Commission shall enforce certain sections of the natural resources act.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said the proposal, House Bill 462, was introduced at the request of the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation.

The effect of the legislation would be to empower game wardens to enforce sections of the la on reckless operation of power boats, hunting while intoxicated, and trespassing on state land.

A formal request for the bill was made when the Federation met the delegation and Senator Charles M. See here early in December.

The state-wide bill was reported out by the Delegation and referred to the committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources.

House Bill 456 has been introduced by the Allegany and Garrett delegations. It authorizes the Allegany and Garrett circuit courts to set up a schedule of fees charged by the stenographers.
